FOR E

SOJOURN AT the University is not merely a period of preparation for the business of living; it is a very real experience in actual living and fine living at that. If one's temporary residence within this microcosm of a world society is employed intelligently, the very novelty, intensity, and unusual quality of the numerous opportunities presented, ensure that it will provide a source of developing power and inspiration in the days to follow—a sort of sinking fund, as it were, for the future. And this fund should be both academic and recreational.

THERE IS a certain sort of fun in pitting mental skill against a knotty problem in mathematics or philosophy; but there is a different sort of pleasure, a happiness that is really an art—the art of enjoying life and the people about one. This art of happiness is a valuable asset in one's personal life; moreover, it is well worth definite study in these days when social relationships within human society are being recognized as constituting one of our most serious problems. Perhaps recreation will be one of the most helpful keys to its solution. Recreation contributes to society's needs in forms to match those needs. Students, for example, are—presumably—engaged primarily in intellectual pursuits, and the strain therefore falls mainly on the nervous rather than the muscular mechanism. Active physical effort is thus indicated as an essential of their recreation programs.

ROYCE HALL FROM THE MEN'S GYMNASIUM

WORD

APPRECIATING THIS fact, students in ever increasing numbers are taking advantage of the outdoor life of California and the gymnasium provisions of the University for student participation in all sports. By these means they secure from recreation what they need as students; and what is much more important to society, namely, a pleasing technique in personal relationships, a breadth of interest that is cognizant of many interests besides their own, and various social skills. All these things count for an increased happiness in living, not only for the individual but for those who must associate with him upon what otherwise might prove "life's dreary main."

SOUND HABITS of recreation are fundamental to sound education. They are certain as well to promote broader and happier living both in a university sojourn and in the workaday world. Ultimately, these habits may even spell the difference between failure and success—worldly or social, or both.

Robert Lyman

DEDICATION

THE COMPLEXITY of the modern university, where thousands of students daily seek intellectual and social intercourse, has developed a definite need for a friendly spirit and a warm heart to help each student in finding his own particular path amid the stress and turmoil of campus life. It is only natural, therefore, that they should turn to one who has nobly met this great need—to Helen Matthewson Laughlin, whose inspiring motto, "Famous for Friendliness," has endeared her to every university man and woman, and whose far-sightedness in the field of education has ensured a sympathetic understanding of student problems. Every woman who enters the University is assured of a loving friend in the person of Dean Laughlin, and she has never hesitated to extend her unerring judgment to aid the individual. It is to her, in recognition of this unselfish devotion which has merited the esteem and admiration of every student, that this book is gratefully dedicated.

INSPIRATION

A SYMBOL OF courage is the intellectual leader who has successfully fought his way through the grim obstacles of intolerance and prejudice, in a world besieged by the petty demagogue, to an enlightened understanding and judgment of humanity. A lover both of man and nature, the true man of wisdom is not content to limit his activities to vaguely theorizing in the narrow confines of his study, but turns to the glory of the outdoor world for intellectual stimulation as well as for physical relaxation. To those wearied by dogmatism and superficiality Charles Henry Rieber, Dean of Letters and Science, stands as the ultimate exemplification of this ideal philosopher and serves as a constant source of inspiration to both the students and faculty of U.C.L.A. Although fundamentally an idealist, Dean Rieber is capable of grasping the student's point of view, and his genial humor and charming personality have created a strong bond of friendship between instructor and scholar.

Faculty, students, buildings—these combine to make up the entity of the University. Not the least important of these three elements is the faculty which makes it possible for the students to become acquainted with a multiplicity of environments and viewpoints. FACULTY
ADMINISTRATION

FRANK F. MERRIAM

HIS EXCELLENCY Frank F. Merriam, Governor of the State of California and consequently President of the Board of Regents of the state university, has already shown great interest in the important work of the institution. Governor Merriam has had a wealth of experience in dealing with the duties of the Board of Regents as he was a member when he was Lieutenant-Governor under the late Governor Rolph's administration. In his official capacity Governor Merriam will undoubtedly have a great influence in the affairs of the university on its eight campi. Although the Governor is originally from Iowa, he has lived at Long Beach for a number of years. Since he comes from a southern community, the southern unit of the university is certain of his interest in its activities. He will most assuredly be an inspiring factor in the solution of future university problems.

CHAIRMAN BOARD OF REGENTS

BOARD OF REGENTSSARTORI
HOTCHKISTEAGUE
DICKSON

SINCE THE UNIVERSITY of California at Los Angeles is a state institution, the governing body consists of some of California's most prominent people. The Board of Regents is made up of twenty-four members, of whom the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, the Speaker of the Assembly, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the President of the University, the President of the Alumni Association, the President of the State Board of Agriculture, and the President of the Mechanics Institution are all ex-officio members. The remaining Regents are appointed for the term of sixteen years. They are all outstanding persons in their respective fields. They are placed on committees which deal with such matters as finance, endowments, and educational relations. The Board as a whole approves contracts, and improvements, and decides on the installation of new courses.

ROBERT GORDON SPROUL

A FITTING LEADER for California's great institutions of learning, Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul has won the acclaim of all who have come in contact with his important work. Though second youngest college president in the United States, he has achieved the esteem of all his colleagues. He has caused his administrative policies to become outstanding factors in State legislation. He has engendered widespread interest in university growth. Prior to becoming President, Dr. Sproul has held a number of university positions. He has been Comptroller and Secretary to the Board of Regents, and in 1925 he became Vice-President of the University of California. The University of California at Los Angeles has been greatly benefited by his enthusiastic leadership.

Dr. Sproul indulges in a bit of recreation.

ERNEST CARROLL MOORE

WITH MANY worthy years of academic service to both the University of California at Los Angeles and the Los Angeles city schools behind him, Dr. Ernest Carroll Moore has once again administered this university through another year most successfully. He has shown himself to be an able and fair judge of all student problems. Since Dr. Moore was largely responsible for the installation of the school as a branch of the University of California in 1919, this university stands a tribute to his untiring endeavor. In 1923 Dr. Moore obtained a four-year curriculum. In 1929 he achieved the transference of the university from the Vermont site to Westwood. For his outstanding work he was made Vice-President of California's state universities, and in 1931 he became Provost of U.C.L.A.

Walking serves as recreation for Dr. Moore

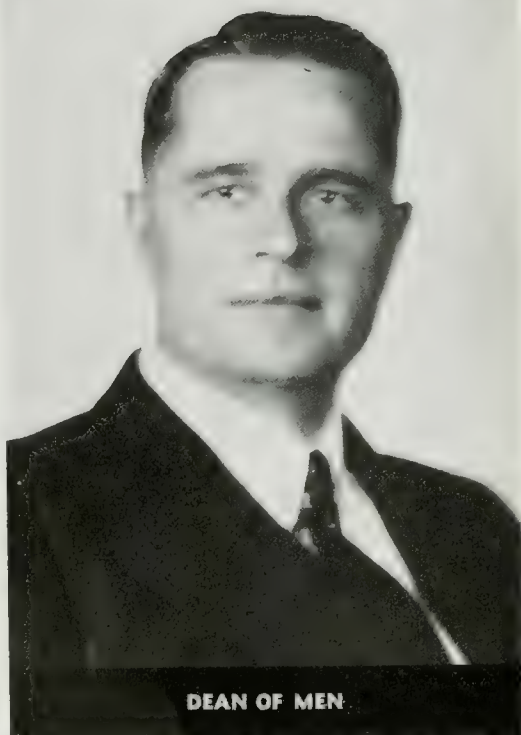

DEAN OF WOMEN

His friendliness and helpfulness to students has made him greatly admired. He has been Dean of the Teachers' College since 1922.

DEAN VERNE OLIVER KNUDSEN has given outstanding contributions to the field of science in his work on physiological and architectural acoustics. Dr. Knudsen was an engineer of the research laboratories of the Western Electric Company in New York in 1918. His success as head of the Physics department culminated in his being appointed in 1934 as Dean of the Graduate School.

DEAN GORDON S. WATKINS has had great influence in causing the University's Summer Session to be successful. TRAINING
DEPARTMENT

YES DEAR children, your professors do engage in other recreations than reading your sickening term papers and handing out "F's."

STARTING AT the top, from left to right let us catch some intimate glimpses of our instructors as we seldom see them. Dr. Alexander Schreiner, the mighty maestro of the organ, derives his recreation from playing with his two sons; while Dr. Buell of the English Department is apparently a man of California's great outdoors. Dr. Brainerd Dyer of the History Department takes to tennis, apparently with the hope that he may give his brother Braven, who scribbles some sport's news for a local daily, something to write about. Our eminent biologist, Dr. Cowles, chooses to spend his leisure time in the humanitarian sport of hunting—with a camera. Back to the History Department again, we find Dr. John Caughey seeking inspiration for his volume on "Pacific Coast History" by giving his young daughter a baptism in the Pacific's briny waters. Many freshmen upon whom Economics 1A and B have been inflicted doubtless wonder how Dr. Stockwell could look so human. Perhaps the bathing attire accounts for this fact. Again we come to a tennis enthusiast. This time it is none other than Mrs. Bruce of the Women's Physical Education Department who apparently believes in mixing business and pleasure; while Dr. Fite of the French Department, who was a Rhodes Scholar in his day, claims that he will make the American Golfing Public forget Bobby Jones. Dr. Simonson of the English Department is evidently another home body who enjoys the recreation of home and family; while Mrs. Howell of the Art Department is holding a Chinese shadow puppet, whatever that may be, for observation. Turning to the Geology Department, we find that Mr. Webb, when seeking the solace and recreation of the out of doors, became caught in nature's maw. As a scientist Dr. Kaplan finds a good deal of relaxation in his laboratory; while Dr. Perigord considers the outdoor life ideal.

PROFESSORS PLAY

FACULTY FROLICS

NO-O-O IT isn't Venus, but it's none other than Mrs. Sooy of the Art Department indulging in the rays of California's sun; while as a study in contrasts, Miss Edith Hyde of the Women's Phys-Ed Department spends a few of her leisure moments in the snow clad mountains. Turning back to the men of the faculty, we find another ardent tennis enthusiast in Dr. Olmsted of the History Department. An interesting semi-domestic scene finds Dr. Charles Titus taking time out to incubate his thoughts in the company of his dog "Poochie" before delivering one of his lectures on the pragmatic approach to Political Science. Yet another group of contrasts finds Dr. Downes, English professor, spraying bugs in his garden. He was apparently smitten by the philosophy of Ruskin in "Sesame and Lilies"; while higher climes find the biologist and student of forms of reptilian life which slip and slide, Dr. Mosauer, waxing his skis preparatory to engaging in a little slipping and sliding on his own account. On the plains below, Dr. Ulysses S. Grant of the Geology Department is apparently looking for a street car. Another biologist, Dr. Beckwith, enjoys spending his leisure time in the environment of a garden, whereas a trifle more strenuous form of recreation finds U.C.L.A.'s behemoths of finance, Dodds, Maclise, Frisbee, and Noble taking time out from a torrid encounter of handball. What's this, another scientist looking for a street car? This time it's none other than Dr. G. Ross Robertson. "Old Faithful, we rode the range together," say Dean Earl Joyce Miller and his two sons; while Malbone Graham, eminent in the field of International Relations, passes pensive moments reading learned treatises on the "League of Notions." Dr. Piatt of the Philosophy Department and his son threaten to challenge the supremacy of Dr. Fite on the golfing green. As a matter of fact Piatt holds the course record on one of the local greens. Dr. Haines avers that there is no more pleasant recreation than taking a stroll after delving into the vagaries of Constitutional Law. And standing proudly with the fish "that didn't get away," is Dr. Pegrum, the "Little Napoleon" of the Economics Department. Dr. Louis Del-Sasso has contributed greatly to the recreation of flying, if one may call flying a recreation, by his discoveries on sound reflection.

BENNET M. ALLEN, Professor of Zoology, whose genial personality brings him many friends, has received the distinction of being named in American Men of Science among the one hundred and fifty outstanding zoologists in the United States. Although Dr. Allen's research work has covered many fields, his interest for the last eighteen years has been devoted to a study of the thyroid and pituitary glands with tadpoles as the subjects of his experimentation. Aside from his laboratory activities, advisory work with pre-medical students, and teaching, Dr. Allen has published several papers on original research which have met with national recognition.

NOT ONLY is Dr. Allen a conscientious scientist, but he is a confirmed stamp collector and thoroughly enjoys outdoor California. Although he has taught ten years at the University of Wisconsin and nine at the University of Kansas where he headed the Department of Zoology, Dr. Allen prefers U.C.L.A., where he has been since 1922. He is impressed with the fine spirit existing among our faculty members and considers the U.C.L.A. student body the best with which he has ever dealt.

C. M. McCLURE, manager of the Associated Students' Cafe, is responsible for the daily menus. He has proved to be excellent in his field as a connoisseur of fine foods.

DOROTHY AYRES, alumnus of U.C.L.A., is secretary to the Graduate Manager. She has given her support to the administration most willingly.

E. S. RICHARDSON, auditor, has handled financial records of the school for the past five years. He has shown a great capacity in dealing with his problems.

LESLIE KALB, Assistant Manager of the Co-operative book-store, and a graduate of U.C.L.A., has served the student body for more than a decade.

JOSEPH FELKER, stock-room manager, has expertly handled his task for four years. All Associated Students' supplies are checked through his office.

A.S.U.C.L.A. ADMINISTRATORS

A. J. STURZENEGGER, as Assistant Manager, aids the Associated Students tremendously. He is very interested in athletics. He has coached the Bruin's backfield and routed Bill Spaulding's foes many times.

BEN PERSON, Publicity Director of the A.S.U.C., makes contacts between the university and city newspapers. He has improved the news facilities greatly.

ELSIE JEFFERY supervises the accounts and money disbursements of the associated students. She has more than proved herself worthy of her position.

STUDENT COUNCIL

MARGARET DUGUID, Vice-President of the A.S.U.C., has proved herself worthy of the responsibility placed upon her by the student body. She has earned the respect of her fellow-students in all of her campus undertakings. Previous to this year she capably handled the position of Vice-President of her class.

JACK EAGAN, energetic Chairman of the Welfare Board, has a year's successful management of the Welfare Board to his credit. In addition to carrying that sense of sportsmanship which he learned as a manager of track into campus activities, he has made the Board a potent factor in the life of the University.

THE BOARD of Control has the whole of the student body expenditures under its supervision. With Dean Miller as chairman, it represents the students, faculty, and alumni and has the power to act independently upon all affairs connected with the Associated Student finances.

THE MEN'S Board is the representative body of the men students of U.C.L.A. It supervises all men's activities, and it is an important unit in the student administration. The board ends its year by presenting the Men's Do. The chairman of the group is Tom Lambert.

THE WOMEN'S Athletic Board, with Dorothy Mason at its head, strives to make more women interested in athletic activities. The organization fosters good sportsmanship and fellowship. Their aim is to work in cooperation with all the other campus organizations.

THE FORENSICS Board under the leadership of Sid Zsagri has scheduled and fostered both intercollegiate debates and those between campus organizations. The U.C.L.A. debate squads for many years have been considered among the best.

THE DRAMATIC Board, whose chairman is Howard Young, has brought the dramatic presentations of the past year up to the present high level of perfection. All performances are reviewed and judged by the board, which also has an interest in production work.

EXECUTIVE BOARDS

EXECUTIVE BOARDS

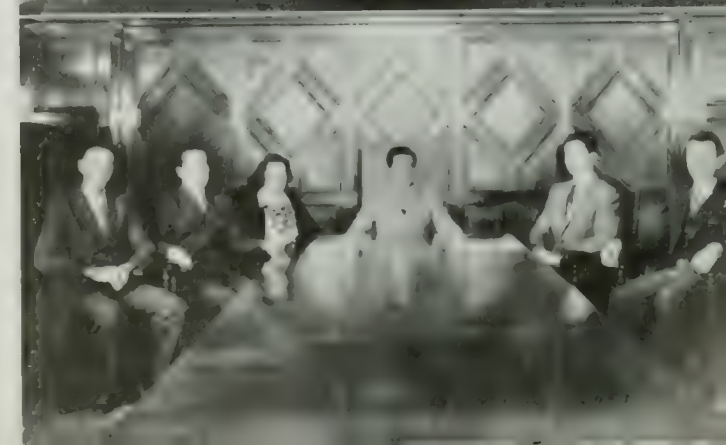

THE WELFARE Board is in charge of organizations and social regulation. Jack Eagan, chairman, and the other board members, investigate and charter new organizations and grant permits for all campus social affairs. The group also administers the Associated Students' Council.

THE PUBLICATIONS Board has the work of supervising the various campus publications, the Daily Bruin, Southern Campus, and News Bureau. Plans and policies for the established publications and ideas for new endeavors are decided on by Chandler Harris, the chairman, and the other members.

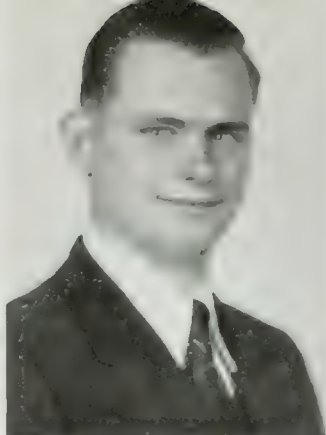

THE SCHOLARSHIP and Activities Board is for the aid of those students who wish to participate in extra-curricular activities in keeping their grades up to the standard set by the constitution of the Associated Students. The board is under the able leadership of Mendel Lieberman.

IF LIGHT is the symbol for learning, those sun-worshippers who seek the warm sands each afternoon are blessed with stores of knowledge. ALUMNI
ASSOCIATIONFREDERICK HOUSER
President

WITH FREDERICK Houser, '27, as executive head of the Alumni Association of the University of California at Los Angeles, old students have felt a closer relationship to each other and to the campus throughout the past few years. By keeping in touch with each member of the organization, the alumni officers have created a stronger bond of friendship within the group, as well as developing a much larger membership in the association. John Canaday, '27, was so efficient as executive secretary of the Alumni Association that he was selected to be editor of the Southern Alumnus, monthly publication of the organization. After having served as editor pro tem for the academic semester from September to February, Canaday was appointed permanent editor of the magazine. He was aided by George Elmendorf, '33, and Monte Harrington, '31.

DAVID YULE
Vice-President

DEMING MACLISE
Finance Advisor

DAVID YULE, '29, was a popular as well as efficient Vice-President of the Alumni Association during the last year. Ever since his graduation from college several years ago, Yule has taken an active interest in the activities on the campus and has showed this interest by his work with the alumni group. Not only did Deming MacLise have the worries of the finances of the Alumni Association to occupy his mind, but he had his regular duties as Assistant Comptroller of the University to which to attend. In spite of all these additional obligations, MacLise was a real credit to the personnel of the alumni organization, lending his ever cheerful smile and good nature to the otherwise comparatively dreary council meetings. In fact, the whole year was marked as particularly successful by everyone in the U.C.L.A. Alumni Association.

ALUMNI HOMECOMING

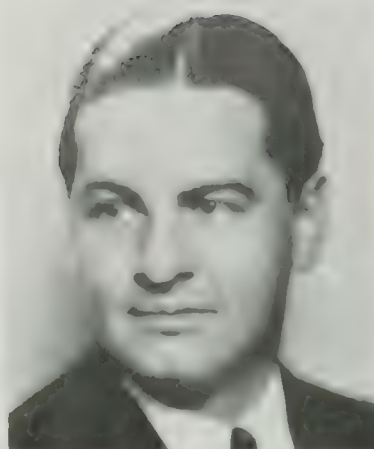

THE ANNUAL fall Homecoming this year was one of outstanding success. The traditional parade of floats from the various sororities and fraternities, as well as other organizations, were colorful and original, carrying out the theme of the Stanford-U.C.L.A. football game the next day. After the bonfire, there was a dance in the Men's Gym. The whole evening was well planned and beautifully executed, all because of Joe Long, '29, and Joe Crail, '26.

JOE E. BROWN has long been one of U.C.L.A.'s best friends and enthusiastic followers. The Homecoming was no exception, for Joe was right there with his famous grin, approving of the different floats as they passed by him in the streets of the Westwood Village, scene of the eventful evening. After the parade had passed through the village on its way up to the Spaulding football field where there were many people in the grandstands, Joe followed along.

ALUMNI
HOMECOMING

NO HOMECOMING would be complete without Ann Sumner, '27. She was the official hostess for the alumni and guests at the 1934 festivities. Along with Miss Sumner, one should mention Fred Jordan, '25, who has long been very prominent in alumni activities. He was the Rally Speaker this year, and talked to the vast assemblage about the so-called "Red" scare on the campus. Strangely enough, Jordan made himself heard, in spite of the crowd present.

ANN SUMNER '27

AND HERE we have the one and only illustrious Don Strain, head yell-leader during the football season in 1934. Strain is shown here leading some yelling at the Homecoming Rally in Spaulding Field. The Rally Committee, of which Strain is a member, was in charge of controlling the traffic of cars as well as of people in the village during the parade and on the football field during the rally. This group of men was really quite indispensable.

JOHN ELOF BOODIN, Professor of Philosophy, has the distinction of being one of the thirty-four contributors to Contemporary American Philosophy. With the creation of a system of philosophy which will aid man in finding his place in the universe as the ultimate purpose of his work, Dr. Boodin has recently completed two books: Three Interpretations of the Universe and God, the latter of which he considers the climax to his previous studies in the fields of metaphysics and philosophy. Aside from his numerous writings, Dr. Boodin is constantly working toward relating his philosophical principles to the community in the hope of bringing about an ideal of culture. In this connection he has directed a series of lectures at the Los Angeles Public Library, and, as President of the Metaphysical Society, conducts fortnightly discussion meetings for teachers of philosophy.

AS A YOUTH in his native Sweden, Dr. Boodin early learned to love nature, and even now he finds time to enjoy the quiet beauty of the woods and mountains at Sequoia National Park. It was in the outdoors that he first turned to the theological day-dreaming which laid the basis of a cosmic idealism which eventually became his philosophy.

CLASS OF 1935

WILLIAM BRAINERD
President

BETTY JANE ROTH
Secretary

THE MIGHTY Class of 1935 has left a record of valiant activities in the archives of the University which will be very hard to excel. With Bill Brainerd as executive chairman and Estelle Fowler as vice-president and social head of the class, many new and unusual features during the traditional Senior Week were effected. Betty Jane Roth was in charge of taking the minutes for Senior Board meetings, which were held every other week at various sorority and fraternity houses. Because Ross Berkes dropped out of school at the end of the first term, Dick Rogan was appointed to balance the books for the class.

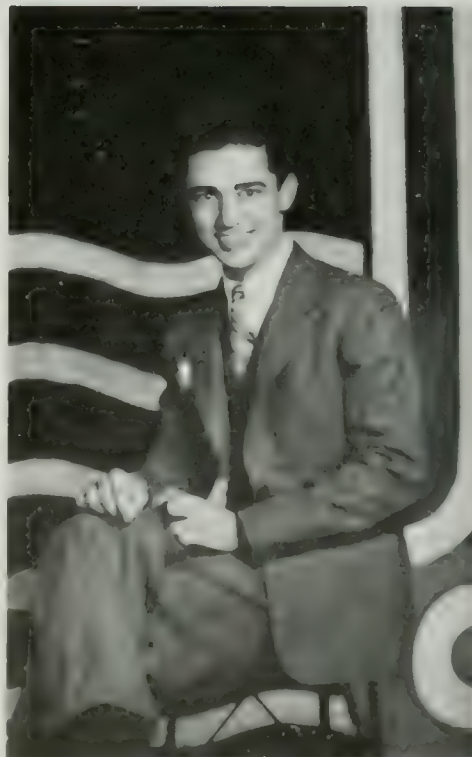

THE FIRST event of the season in the way of social successes was the Informal Senior dance at the Brentwood Country Club on the fifth of October. With Eleanor Day and Chandler Harris in charge of publicity, the first Get-Together of the year on the twenty-first of January was another success.

ESTELLE FOWLER
Vice-President

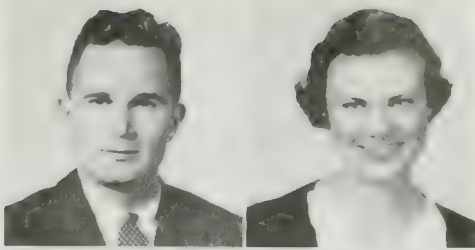

BILL MAXWELL, coach of the Senior football team, although the team was defeated, proved himself very capable as a sports magnate. The class gift was chosen under the direction of Vincent Pence, while Selma Mikels supervised the Baccalaureate Services. Programs and announcements were chosen by Dave Beeman, Class Day was managed by Tom Dyer as well as Kenneth Strom, Mendel Lieberman kept the constitution revised and in perfect working order, Doris Howe worked on the Class Pilgrimage, and Alumni Relations were maintained in good order by Tomlin Edwards.

THE BIG climax of the academic year was the Senior Week, under the direction of four class officers and Jack Eagan. After all of the activities on the campus were duly performed in good order, Stell Fowler made her last formal bow before the class in presenting the Senior Ball, a truly brilliant social affair and one which will long be remembered.

THE HONOR Edition of the Southern Campus is a limited edition of the Year-Book, presented at the end of each school year by the Associated Students to the men and women of the Senior Class who are candidates for a degree at the end of the current academic year or the following summer session or fall semester, and who have best distinguished themselves as Californians in scholarship, loyalty, and service to their Alma Mater. The recipients of the award are determined by a committee composed of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women and three students, not themselves eligible for the award, chosen by the President of the Associated Students with the consent of the two Deans and the A.S.U.C. Council.

HONOR AWARDS

THE THREE requirements for those receiving the Honor Edition of the Southern Campus are: "Best Distinguished"; "As Californians"; and "Scholarship". "Best Distinguished" is not to be interpreted as most distinguished; activity of the most value to the University and to the Associated Students with the proper Californian spirit is to be accepted as fulfillment of this requirement. "As Californians" implies that which a Californian is: honorable, loyal, unselfish, and aggressive. The uninterrupted maintenance of the Associated Students' requirements for participation in activities during their enrollment at the University of California at Los Angeles is the requirement for "Scholarship."

FLOYD F. BURTCHETT, Professor of Economics and investment counselor for many prominent people, including screen stars, is a recognized authority in the field of business finance. His articles on various economic problems have appeared in the Buffalo Evening News, Coast Investor, Insurance Journal, and other financial publications. Although he has just recently completed a book entitled Corporation Finance, Dr. Burtchett is now at work on three new books, one of which deals with urban land economics. In Corporation Finance he sets forth the idea that society should be protected against breaches of trust on the part of managements. Aside from these activities, Dr. Burtchett gives a course on Chartered Life Underwriting for an insurance company, lectures now and then over the radio, and speaks to various groups interested in financial problems.

ALTHOUGH MAKING radios is his most absorbing hobby, Dr. Burtchett says he gets "a kick out of teaching." Kept constantly busy with his many duties, he still manages to go golfing or fishing in his few spare moments. In the past Dr. Burtchett's sports included ice skating, at which he was most proficient.

CLASS OF
1936EDWARD DIXSON
PresidentFRANCINE BECHERAZ
Secretary

THE CLASS of 1936 has more than lived up to the traditional leadership that Juniors always maintain in campus activities. The officers of the class have been an inspiration to the entire group. Ed Dixon has shown his enthusiasm by the way in which he has created many new affairs for Junior students. With the help of Frances Blackman, vice-president, Francine Becheraz, secretary, and Fred Lyman, treasurer, Dixon has really put his class on the social register of the University. This year's Junior Prom, which was held at the Biltmore, was one of the most successful Proms to be held at U.C.L.A.

THE GREATEST single feat of the year in the eyes of the Juniors was their glorious victory over the Seniors on the football field on the afternoon of March fifteenth. Sam Stawisky had trained his men diligently for over a week, making this victory quite a satisfaction to the whole class. Many members of the Junior Council were among the most outstanding students in school

FRANCES BLACKMAN
Vice-President

BOB LEWIS, perhaps the most peppy man in the class, kept himself out of mischief by managing the Frosh-Sophomore Brawl early in the year, while Virginia Russell, an ex-Spur, busied herself with the Welfare Board worries. Another man who was always into everything on campus was Bill Murphy, who really added quite a bit of personality and enthusiasm to the otherwise tedious council meetings.

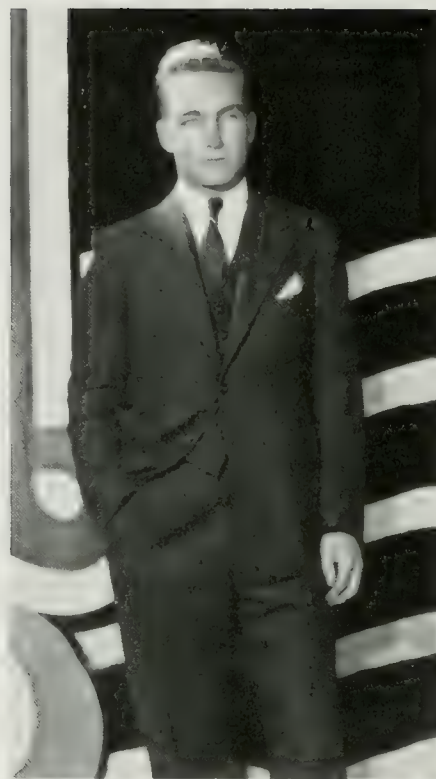

FRANK WILKINSON, one of the most outstanding men in school, was a definite inspiration for much of the work which was done during the year, such as the annual Homecoming Rally and Bonfire. A new idea in honoring the Junior transfers with an afternoon dance was instigated this semester by Kay Hertzog, Mary Blue, Mildred Cooley and Mary Kay Williams. Among the other equally interested and prominent members of the Junior Council were C. L. Brewer, Jimmy Simpson, Johnny Fisher, Mary Elizabeth Leonard, George Sibley, Bill Koontz, Nancy Gail.

AFTER MAKING many desperate attempts to create more traditions on the campus and to rebuild the Sophomore Grove, Dick Variel and some members of the council succeeded in making a name for the class of 1937—a name characterized by enthusiasm. A new Sophomore Activities Board was also appointed by the officers to take care of affairs of the class. With the help of the two class honoraries, Spurs and Sophomore Service, the traditional Brawl with the Frosh was a tremendous success for the second-year students, a not unprecedented event. The Soph Circus Dance was a true novelty.

ALTHOUGH THE personnel of the officers of the Freshman Class was changed between semesters, the youngsters really got along fairly well by themselves. Bob Klein, Kay LeVitt, and Betty Wyatt, first term executives, started things going for George Marx, Catherine Sherman, and June Woodson, their successors. Don Babbidge, treasurer, was the only person who continued his duties throughout the year, keeping the finances of the class in good shape. Green Day was very instructive for the Freshmen, as well as affording an opportunity to occupy important positions in the A.S.U.C.

JOY MAE PARKE as President of the Associated Women Students has worked with cheerful sincerity. She has shown unusual ability as a versatile leader. Supplementing her work, Jean Benson has been as fine a Vice-President as has ever served the A.W.S. She is cordial, capable, and conscientious in the fulfillment of her office. The duties of Secretary of the A.W.S. have been performed by Kathryn Hertzog with a rare efficiency and characteristic energy. Treasurer Andrita Sommers is known to everyone for her charm, her sense of humor, and her real spirit of friendliness. She has capably handled the finances of the A.W.S.

THE ASSOCIATED Women Students is one of the most important organizations in this University. The activities of this organization are so varied and numerous that every woman on campus may take part in its program. Its ultimate purpose is unifying all campus women and forming a spirit of friendliness among them. All university women share in the activities of the A.W.S., but its plans are made and its business conducted through the Council which is composed of the four A.W.S. officers and a representative of each of the women's activities on campus. Such an organization is indeed a credit to U.C.L.A.

A.W.S. COUNCIL

ONE OF the most successful parts of the Orientation program carried on each semester is the A.W.S. Social hour. It is held monthly in the women's lounge of Kerckhoff Hall and all University women are cordially invited to attend. This year these informal get-togethers were under the guidance of Elizabeth McCarthy and the Spurs. It has been found that these social hours afford women an opportunity to meet and become acquainted with one another which no other University function offers. This is especially invaluable to the non-affiliated woman who does not live on campus.

EAGER HEART, the traditional A.W.S.

Christmas play, was received this year with great enthusiasm by both the Student Body and the Faculty. The production of this play has become an annual event. It is sponsored by Zeta Phi Eta, Phi Beta, and Sigma Alpha Iota, honorary dramatic and music sororities, in conjunction with the Women's Glee Club. The cast was chosen from the members of these organizations and, for the second year, was capably directed by Gene Nielson. The title role of Eager Heart was exceptionally well played by Yvonne Gregg, President of Zeta Phi Eta.

Credit goes to Jean Benson who was responsible for it and also acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. High honors were awarded to Delta Zeta, first place, the P.E. Club, second place, and Gamma Phi Beta, third place.

ANOTHER HIGH light of the year was the "A.W.S. Vode Show" in May, under the guidance of Bobby Monks. The theme was "Impressions of Campus Personalities" affording dramatically inclined persons a fine opportunity to impersonate leading campus "lights." A new innovation was started with the introduction of men for the first time in an A.W.S. show.

A. W. S. CHRISTMAS DANCE

One of the interesting side attractions of this year's dance held in the women's gymnasium were the games of chance—for fun. Numeralman Jack Hastings is apparently ready to lose his all on the ponies.

A.W.S. COUNCIL

THE CO-ED Choral is one event that is always looked forward to by the women's organizations on campus. At this time each group strives to out-do each other in the colorful presentation of its songs. Usually some common theme is followed. It is held in the patio of Kerckhoff Hall where afterwards refreshments are served

MAY HOBART

ANOTHER INTERESTING event of the year's program was the Spring Fashion Show in which new styles were displayed by leading campus women. The show was presented twice during the afternoon, once in the auditorium before the Student Body at large and again in the afternoon at the A.W.S. social hour in the women's lounge at Kerckhoff Hall.

A. W. S. SOCIAL HOUR

In addition to the initial social hour held principally for new entrants, the A. W. S. carried out Dean Laughlin's motto "Famous for friendliness" through the medium of monthly social hours.

FÉMININS

Between Phrateres, Bruin, and A.W.S. activities, Ardelle Gratiot and Betty Jacoby, proud Prytaneans, find time to lend their enthusiasm to many a track event.

An excellent marksman is Rebekah Smith, prominent Kappa, whose charm is displayed to equal advantage on the archery range or at social functions.

Sunny weather finds Ruth Tatman and Dorothy Dowds, of Sophomore fame, relaxing in the solar rays after a trying day on the campus.

Ruling the campus is an enjoyable occupation for Honorary Colonel Marjorie Baird and Queens Betty-Jo Bilger and Gerry Cornelius. However, even queens and colonels enjoy a refreshing dip in the Pacific on pleasant days.

Although the A.W.S. demands most their time, Jean Benson and Kay Hertzog turn to the snow clad mountains for a day's respite from responsibility.

PASSE-TEMPS FÉMININS

Frances Blackman, whose charming smile cheers many a Junior Council and A.W.S. meeting, likes to go cycling when campus duties are not too pressing.

When Nancy Gail and Mary-Kay Williams desire diversion from campus social life, they wend their way to the nearest beach resort for rest and relaxation.

Freshman class affairs dominate the many activities of lovely Kay LeVitt and Betty Wyatt, but for recreation they prefer badminton.

W. A. A. OFFICERS

DOROTHY MASON
President

NANCY HUNT
ANNE PADELFORD

DOROTHY MASON proved a capable leader as the President of W. A. A. and won the respect and admiration of all those who worked with her. Nancy Hunt as Secretary kept accurate accounts of the progress of the organization throughout the year; while Anne Padelford managed the finances of the organization in her capacity of Treasurer.

THE WOMEN'S Athletic Association has a decided place in the life of the U. C. L. A. co-ed as it offers those interested in sports not only an opportunity to prove their ability as athletes but an environment that fosters good sportsmanship and a spirit of friendly rivalry. It has always been the policy of this organization to place before the women of the campus an opportunity for rounding out their lives in the University through recreation and service.

JEAN HODGKINS
Vice-President

VICE-PRESIDENT Jean Hodgkins was an able assistant to Dorothy Mason and a charming hostess for the Association. Evelyn Clemens was the Song Leader, and Frances Evans was Eligibility Chairman. These officers were assisted by the Heads of Sports and the Adviser, Miss Cubberly. The activities which were offered this year included archery, tennis, swimming, hockey, natural dancing, volley-ball, fencing, deck-sports, inter-sorority, and inter-sectional.

THE SPRING and fall seasons closed with a banquet. At this time the winners of the various contests were announced and awards were presented to the several winners of the All-University tennis tournament. Perhaps the greatest indication of the increasing interest in women's athletics at U. C. L. A. was the success of the Inter-collegiate Tennis Playday.

EVELYN CLEMENS
FRANCES EVANS

W. A. A. SPORT'S HEADS

Ping pong is only one of the many entertaining games included in deck sports.

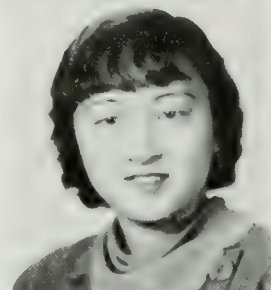

The ancient sport of archery becomes increasingly popular each year at U.C.L.A.

ARCHERY, UNDER the efficient leadership of Stella Wilhelm and advised by Miss Ethel Hyde, has become increasingly popular this year. As a result, plans have been made and practice started for a National Inter-collegiate Archery Tournament to be held on this campus during the coming summer.

BASKETBALL OFFERS fine opportunities for making new friendships, according to Tetsu Sugi, head of this interesting sport. For example, this season a tournament, advised by Miss Cubberly and Miss Allen, was held for all teams of the four classes, there being no distinction made between the teams in order to maintain the interest of all. It was won by the seniors.

DECK SPORTS offered the somewhat less strenuous games of ping pong, badminton, shuffleboard, and handball. They were under the capable leadership of Rosalie Gottfredson and Miss Grunewald assisted in the capacity of faculty sponsor. These sports afford excellent relaxation from academic life and a splendid opportunity to make new friends.

As well as being a thoroughly enjoyable game, basketball affords the co-ed a splendid opportunity to increase her speed and skill.

W. A. A.

SPORT'S HEADS

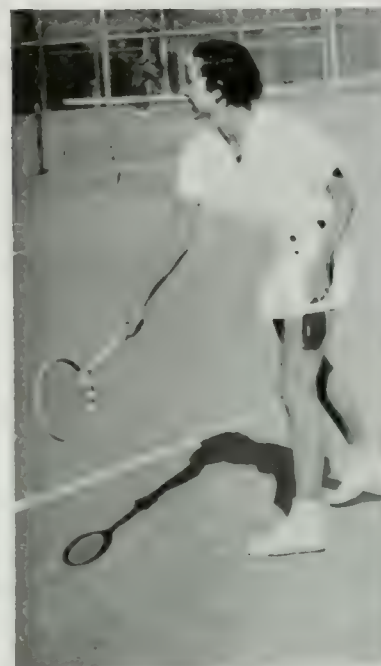

VOLLEYBALL IS one of the favorite games with university women. The volleyball season comes between the major sports seasons; therefore, all women are free to participate. The student director was Lucille Noack and the faculty adviser, Miss Allen. Team games and doubles were played. One of the most interesting contests was the Faculty-Student game in December.

THE OUTDOOR solarium in the Women's gymnasium has proved an ideal setting for fencing. This sport, which was headed by Ellen Jane Potter and sponsored by Miss Hyde, has become one of the most popular individual sports among the women of any of those offered by the University. A round-robin tournament was run off, and a plaque was presented to the winner.

TENNIS IS ever popular among campus women. It is a sport that is enjoyed equally by the expert and the beginner. A witness of its popularity is the fact that fifty-two women competed in the All-U Women's Single Tournament which was won by Peggy Kerr. Hazel Burden was at the head of tennis this year while Mrs. Bruce was the faculty advisor.

Tennis is a sport which challenges one's accuracy as well as dexterity in play.

Because fencing fosters ease of movement as well as deftness and skill in action, it has drawn many new devotees at UCLA.

Attracting new followers each year, volleyball is among the most popular sports.

W. A. A. SPORT'S HEADS

Requiring both poise and grace, diving furnishes excellent physical training.

Artistry and the mastery of technique are essential to the student of dancing.

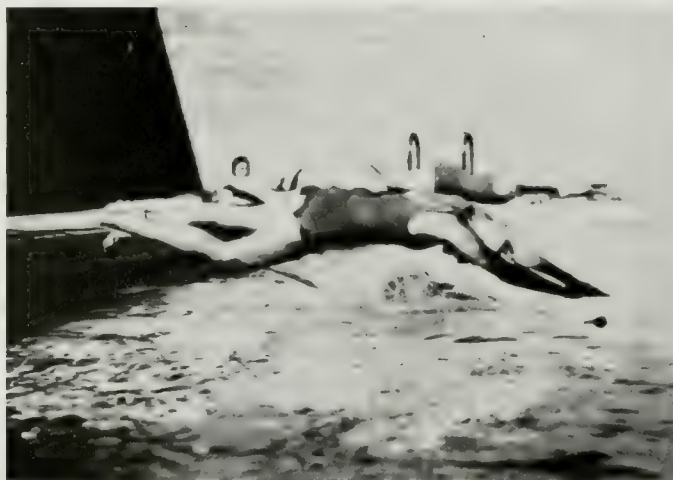

THE SPLENDID open-air pool and California sunshine make swimming a year around sport. It was under the leadership of Betsy Dekker, Miss Mat-tern, and Miss Allen. Several meets were sponsored, such as the Inter-class meet which was won by the Juniors and the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic meet in which U. C. L. A. bowed to the University of Wash-ington.

THE PUBLICITY for the W.A.A. was capably handled by Echo Bennett. Working on the basis of mutual en-joyment, the W.A.A. sponsors a variety of sports which should be of interest to the women of the student body. Publicity was handled in the Women's Sports' Column of the Daily Bruin with special supplementary articles in the Bruin and downtown papers.

DANCING, UNDER the leadership of Nancy Offutt and Miss Deane, was especially popular this year. Part of the season the group was directed by Mme. Larka, an internationally known dancer. Her work was greatly appreciated as her style and presenta-tion were entirely new. Including both men and women in her class for the first time, Miss Shambaugh directed Folk Dancing.

An ideal all year sport, swimming is especially enjoyable in the fine outdoor pool and is a favorite sport with university women.

W. A. A.

SPORT'S HEADS

INTERSORORITY MATCHES were directed this year by Rebekah Smith. The season was opened by a swimming meet in which Kappa Alpha Theta took first place over Kappa Kappa Gamma. The highlight of the season was the volleyball tournament, which was a combination round-robin, elimination tournament. It was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma while Alpha Delta Pi took close second.

HOCKEY AFFORDS a great deal of activity, a chance for highly developed individual skill, and well developed team play. It was led and sponsored by Grace Paxton, Miss Cubberly, and Miss Allen. A very well organized class tournament was held in which the winning class numerals were engraved on a silver loving cup. At the end of the season an honorary varsity team was chosen.

THE INTERSECTIONAL Playday is one of the most interesting events sponsored by the W. A. A. The chairman this year was Edna Robertson. The first semester, a playday for all women enrolled in P.E.4 classes was offered. The second semester, the Thirteenth Annual Field Day was held. All university women, faculty, and alumnae members of W.A.A. were invited to the meet.

Although a very strenuous sport, hockey is enjoyed by a large group of women

The keen competition resulting from intersectional matches makes the meets between classes an interesting part of the W.A.A.

The exciting contests between sororities attract many co-eds each year

CALIFORNIA AT BERKELEY

PRESIDENT SPROUL has said, "The University of California is noted as being the only two-legged university." This has made interlocking activities on the two campi possible, and the California Club on each campus has promoted a spirit of friendship between the two branches, and has been responsible for increased activity in the functions of each. It has been with enthusiasm that the students at Berkeley have entered into the activities of the year. The student body has sponsored assembly dances, and all the classes furthered the campus spirit by their functions. Campus publications progressed rapidly; the Daily Californian pursued a more liberal policy this year; the Occident, literary magazine, raised its standard, while the Pelican, humor magazine, proved very successful. Campus debates and theatricals were also included in the year's activities. The California Club, in sponsoring the activities during the California-U. C. L. A. football game, cooperated with the same organization on our campus in fostering an understanding and friendship unequalled in the history of the University.

THE PROMOTION of at least one combined meeting during the academic year is the basic purpose of the U.C.L.A. California Club, which has successfully carried out the program of its first year's activities. Since its inception on this campus, the California Club, which is solely an administrative group, has been under the guidance and direction of Dean Earl J. Miller, while the combined groups are headed by Dr. Robert G. Sproul. Alvin Davis has served this year as the president of the California Club, and other members of the group were Joy Mae Parke, Margaret Duguid, Jack Eagan, John Burnside, Leon Rouge, Tom Dyer, Betty Seery, Chandler Harris, Faran Whitehorn, and Robert McHargue. These members have carried on a campaign with the purpose of instigating an increase in the budget drawn up for the University. In addition to their direct work in promoting a spirit of friendship, cooperation, and enthusiasm on our own campus, they have drawn up a constitution which outlines the functions, duties, and purposes of the local club, and is at the same time applicable to both groups.

LILY B. CAMPBELL, Professor of English, finds research her most interesting field of endeavor. At present she is a visiting scholar at the Huntington Library, where she is working on a new edition of The Mirror for Magistrates, a sixteenth century work. This edition will be published by the Cambridge University Press which published two of her books, Scenes and Machines in 1923 and Shakespeare's Tragic Heroes in 1930. Next year Dr. Campbell will have the honor of being a research lecturer of the U.C.L.A. campus. Only once has Dr. Campbell departed from her favority study—the drama; in 1930 she completed her "wild oat," a novel entitled, These Are My Jewels.

AFTER RECEIVING her Ph.D. degree from Chicago University, Dr. Campbell began her career as a professor at the University of Wisconsin. In 1922 she came to U.C.L.A. where she has become one of the outstanding members of the English department. Outside of her research work, Dr. Campbell has no special interests, for she has the ability to become vitally concerned with whatever she is working on at the moment. However, she thoroughly enjoys teaching, and is exceedingly fond of music and the theater.

THE NATIONAL recognition and signal success which university publications have achieved in the past is due, to a considerable extent, to the intelligent advice and the able assistance of Joseph Osherenko who, as director of publications, is directly connected with the editor and the business manager of the Daily Bruin, Southern Campus, Student Handbook, and Goal Post. All business matters and financial transactions are capably supervised by Mr. Osherenko who co-operates with the Associated Students in the arrangement of budgets, contracts, and production policies.

THE MOLDING of favorable public opinion is the ultimate end of the functions of the University Athletic News Bureau. This work is accomplished by contacting metropolitan and national newspapers and magazines, and radio broadcasts in order to acquaint them with pertinent information regarding athletic activities and personalities. THE SOUTHERN CAMPUS, an annual student publication, presents a comprehensive, photographic representation of the college, academic, and social year. Superior editorial quality and efficient business management have enabled it to win for eight consecutive years, the All-American Honor Award, which is the highest citation ever given to collegiate publications. The year-book not only depicts the activities and personalities in the spheres of student administration, women's and men's sports, extra-curricular activities, organization work, and social events, but also gives an accurate report of the achievements in the field of faculty and executive administration. Beverley Keim, editor, introduced many innovations in the editing of the book, and much credit is due him and his associate editor, Helen Files, for the success of the book this year.

THE SOUTHERN CAMPUS, besides presenting a review of the entire college year, is to a large extent dependent upon an efficient business management. The functions of the managerial staff include the soliciting of advertising, the securing of representation in the organization and senior sections, and the management of the budget and the contracts for pages. The successful activity of Betsy Pembroke, manager, assisted by Alice Tilden, associate manager, and Charles Leinbach, assistant manager, made the Southern Campus a paying venture. In spite of the financial reverses of the past years, the Southern Campus has maintained its quota of advertising and the financial return has been favorable. Full representation in the organization and senior sections was a factor which made the financial situation promising.

IN A YEARBOOK which includes glimpses of the varied activities which make up a college education, an active and capable staff of workers is a vital necessity. The Southern Campus was fortunate this year in securing the services of a group of capable and hard-working students who contributed their efforts to the success of the book. AS AN ANNUAL student publication which is entirely self-supporting, the Southern Campus requires a managerial staff of the highest capabilities and efficiency in order to finance and maintain its high standard of graphic arts. Managerial duties and functions were performed in an excellent manner by a small but able group of people, including Eloise Lyman, Mary Elizabeth Harris, Louis Turnoff, and Helene Colesie. Managerial responsibilities fall into nine categories, namely, advertising, sales, organization page and photography contracts, senior page reservations, direction of the campus studio and the photographic dark-room, publicity, and distribution of the book. Managerial functions have been performed this year with the greatest of efficiency.

THE DAILY BRUIN has endeavored throughout the year to present interesting and vital news concerning student government, student affairs, and student sports, as well as personal items of interest. News of local and national affairs were presented through the medium of cooperation with the United Press. Never before has the Bruin played such an active part in advocating and securing the adoption of reforms on the campus by a thorough and systematic discussion of vital problems. As a medium for the expression of student opinion, the Grins and Growls department has been especially valuable, and the publication therein of both sides of contested problems has served to broaden and crystallize student sentiments. May Hobart, women's editor, Andrew Hamilton, managing editor, and George Barker, associate editor, have cooperated with Chandler Harris throughout the year in the formation of the policy of the paper, and in the general supervision of the publication.

THE DAILY BRUIN, in its essential functions of serving student needs and moulding undergraduate opinion, must be efficiently financed through local and national advertising. Under the direction of Thomas Rice, the managerial staff was responsible for securing advertising, and for administering all business entailed in the publication of a daily newspaper. In spite of the instability of financial affairs, the Bruin has continued to be entirely subsidized by the many and varied advertisements—national as well as local—an accomplishment which may be credited to the business ability of the advertising solicitors. The efforts of the managerial staff to serve the advertiser and carry his message to the students have been supplemented by cooperation from the editorial staff whereby the student has been led to have confidence in the advertisers, and this sound policy was largely responsible for a very successful year. As always, the Bruin business staff was ably advised by Joseph Osherenko.

ACTUAL TRAINING in journalism is offered to U.C.L.A. students through activity on the editorial staffs of the Daily Bruin which offer training in the writing of news stories, editorials, features, drama, and fashions, as well as valuable experience in publicity and advertising campaigning. This successful year of undergraduate journalism was marked by the participation of over one hundred active students on the various staffs which made possible a daily report of all campus activities. Some of the most valuable experience to be gained from work on a college newspaper is acquired by the night editors and their assistants who are responsible for planning the layout, arranging copy, and writing headlines.

Other persons who have contributed to the efficiency of the managerial activities are Louis Turnoff, assistant advertising manager, Austin Jewell, circulation manager, and Catherine Sacksteder, classified advertising manager. THE FOLIO is an important representation of student intellectual, artistic, and literary activity. It presents literary satire, plays, humor, poetry, essays, and short stories written by undergraduates. Its primary purpose is to explore new forms of literature as important symbols of intellectual activity, and to present them to the campus. Published once each semester in conjunction with the Daily Bruin, the Folio serves a two-fold purpose: first, by presenting to the students examples of the work of their contemporaries; and second, by affording a medium of expression for those whose talents are deserving.

THE GOAL POST, official football program and useful sports magazine, offers to Bruin fans a record of the games played each season, a pictorial and informatory review of the members of each team as well as interesting anecdotes and humorous views of the game. The magazine was compiled and edited by Phil Nordli and John Hicks in conjunction with Joseph Osherenko, director of publications, and constitutes an important part of campus athletic affairs.

THE STUDENT HANDBOOK provides new and old students with essential information regarding all phases of university life. Though it is compiled in the interests of the freshman class, it benefits all classes and there are few students who do not make good use of it. Subjects covered in the "freshman bible" were administration, music, publications, forensics, and dramatics. The sports section included pictures of coaches and athletes, and information as to events, participation, and athletic awards. A section was devoted to campus organizations, social fraternities, and honorary and professional groups.

IN THE PREPARATION of the Handbook, as is the case with all campus publications, the business manager was responsible for financial direction. Thomas Rice capably occupied this position on the "bible" staff, and efficiently discharged his duties. Besides maintaining the budget, the soliciting of advertising was included among his duties, and by securing adequate funds in this field, he succeeded in defraying much of the publication expense.

ULYSSES S. GRANT, Professor of Geology, is constantly adding to the geological picture of the world by his intensive study of the animal life of the Tertiary period of California. Dr. Grant's research work has practical as well as geological importance, for nearly all the petroleum in California is derived from Tertiary rocks. In addition to serving in a consultative capacity for various oil companies, Dr. Grant has published articles in the Bulletin of the Geological Society of America, Transactions of the San Diego Society of Natural History, and other periodicals; at present he is working on A Review of West American Cenozoic Echinoidea. For four years Dr. Grant worked with Dr. Gale in the compilation of a Catalogue of the Marine Pliocene and Pleistocene Mollusca of California, which the former considers quite an achievement as the volume weighs eight pounds.

ASIDE FROM his geological research, Dr. Grant has time to act as Vice-President of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists, a national organization; in his few spare moments he turns to swimming or geological field work. Dr. Grant is also very fond of teaching and finds it very refreshing to meet the new freshmen who enter his classes each year.

Howard Young, Arnita Wallace, and Lloyd Bridges, this year's recipients of the award, have given generously of time and talent.

Gene Nielson has given many artistic performances.

OEDIPUS REX

SINCE 1918 English versions of the dramas of ancient Greece have been presented annually on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. Miss Evalyn Thomas has directed each of these plays and made of them artistic and finished productions. This year the tragedy of "Oedipus Rex" by Sophocles was presented with Lloyd Bridges and Roland Woodruff alternating in the title role. Exceptional interest was evidenced by those who attended.

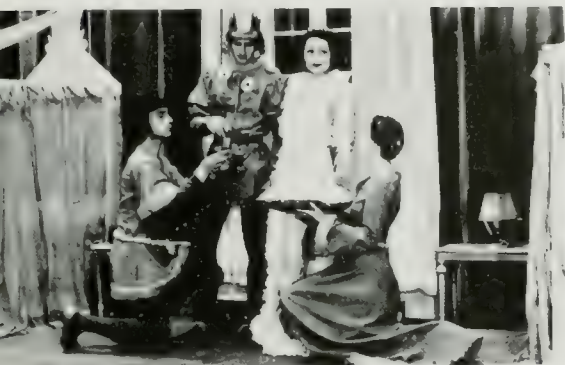

A scene from the Stanford production of "Oedipus Rex," directed by Miss Thomas in 1926 and which was presented here this year.

"The lovely princess and dashing prince."

"We'll come here every night. They have the nicest little lamps!"

"A night in June. One of those spring nights you find in Xanadu."

"Cynthia, do you suppose that any two people ever. . . ."

"That was a dandy conference. Let's have another."

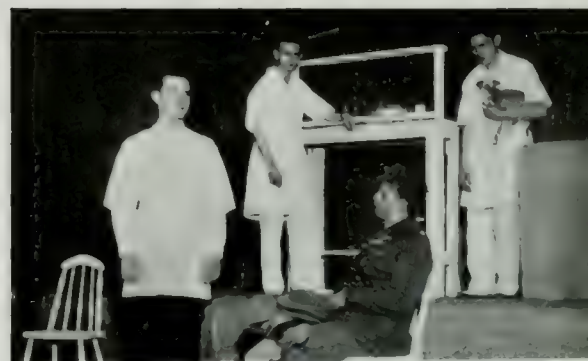

BEGGAR ON HORSEBACK

VARIOUS OPINIONS have been expressed as to the merits of the fall production of the University Dramatics Society, "Beggar on Horseback," by Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufmann, but the play marked an interesting innovation in campus dramatic productions. Individual performances by William Weber, Dorothy Simpson, Kathleen Madden and Grace Coppin were excellently handled and showed the skill of the director, Phil Whiting.

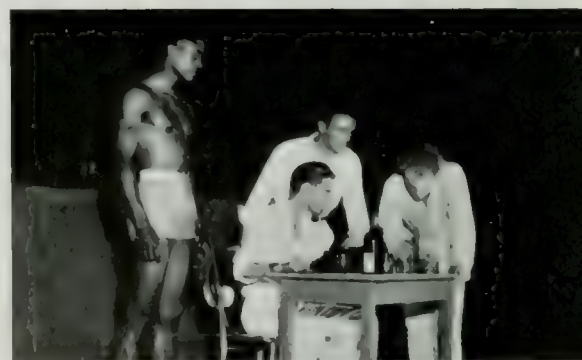

Miss Joan Hathaway, who directed the play.

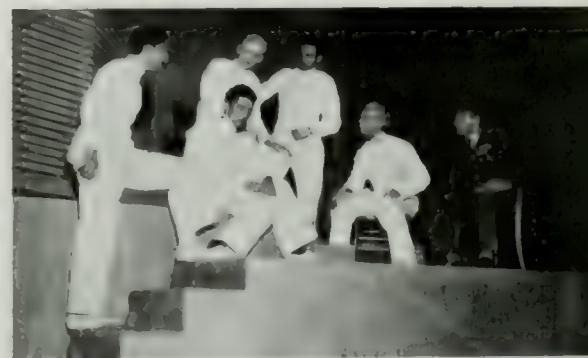

"Pray God that may be the last of them for this day!"

"Experiments establish a principle of vaccination against yellow fever."

"No more human experiment now that Stokes has done it!"

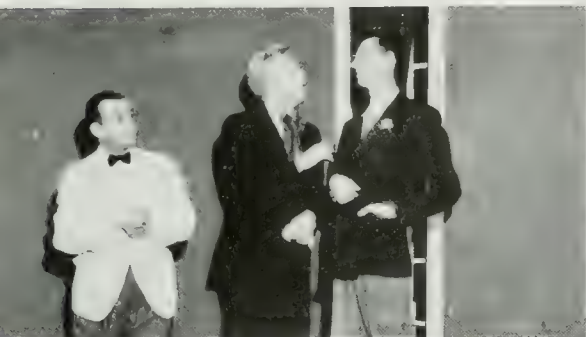

"We haven't yet tried experimenting on men!"

YELLOW JACK

UNDER THE competent direction of Miss Joan Hathaway, who gained the admiration of all with whom she worked, "Yellow Jack," an historical drama by Sidney Howard and Paul de Kruif, was acclaimed as one of the finest productions given by a campus dramatic group. The lighting effects which were directed by Charles Warner, Neil George, and Diana Smith were the most difficult and withal the most successful ever attempted on this campus.

Lloyd Bridges and Yvonne Gregg in a tense scene from "Wind Song," by Jack Holland.

Solomen and Morrison in the hilarious comedy, "99.90."

"The Fifth Soldier," with Jack Morrison in the title role.

OTHER PRODUCTIONS

THE ONE-ACT

presentations of the University Dramatics Society proved more than usually successful this year. Summer session plays were well directed and presented. "99.90" and "The Fifth Soldier" proved particularly outstanding. "Wind Song," an original drama by Jack Holland, showed that there is a great deal of worthy talent on our campus. An elaborate schedule of one-act plays was presented in May under the supervision of Stanley Brown.

Howard Young, one of the better shots!

Betty Jo seems more interested in Weber and Wallace than in dictation!

Charlie, Diana, and Neil: switch pullers and button pushers!

Dottie is helping Bud with his lines or vice versa—or something.

DRAMA PERSONALITIES

IN EVERY DRAMA presentation on campus, there are certain individuals who work behind the scenes and whose service is rarely mentioned. To be sure, they are given credit on the program, but only a few people know and realize how much their work means to the success of every production. We present on this page some of those people who have given their time and talent to the furtherance of University drama. We cannot say enough in recognition and appreciation of their efforts!

Stan pauses for a moment in his whipping about to look over a one-act.

The Campus Trio, lovely to look at and hear!

CAMPUS CAPERS

FEATURING ORIGINAL songs by Jerome Russler and dances directed by Portia Banning, "Tomorrow's Touchdowns" was well received by audiences at both performances. The cast, which was headed by Muriel Beveridge and Remy Olmstead, showed the skill and patience of the director, Jack Holland. Comedy song and dance numbers by Stan Brown and Maurice Solomen were outstanding highlights.

Stan Brown, playing Bashful Boy to Miriam Sloop's "Sirena."

Holland's idea of a leg show! We present Marx, Solomen, Bilger, and Murphy!

Six little Stooges all in a row! The Peace Conference decides to settle all international problems with football games!

Jack Holland, that erratic Campus Capers maestro.

CAMPUS CAPERS

THE SCRIPT, which was written by four U. C. L. A. graduates, Dick Goldstone, Gene Stone, Fred Harris and Jack Rosenbloom, was both original and clever. Diana Smith displayed great originality in her conception of what the well-dressed college student of 1993 will wear. The unusual sets were designed by Neil George. Jack Holland was assisted by Wolf Reade and Jack Ballard.

The "Crooning Fullback" (!) scores with Muriel Beveridge.

The irresponsible Stan Brown and the irrepressible Maurice Solomen.

And finally: What really made Capers a success—Portia Banning, lovely dance director and her ensemble!

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

THE MEN'S Glee Club, under the able supervision and leadership of Clifford Lott, director, and Heath Seapy, president, has become one of the outstanding musical groups of Southern California. The personnel of the club consists of about thirty-two voices. The repertoire includes everything from semi-classical to modern arrangements of popular tunes. A new innovation this year was the inclusion of school songs in the programs. Concerts were given at the Biltmore, the Coconut Grove, the Uplifter's Club, the Riverside Drive Breakfast Club, and at numerous schools and churches. In addition, several concerts were presented over KECA, KHJ, and KFWB, where they were very favorably received.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

THE PRESENT status in musical circles of the Women's Glee

Club is due to the fine efforts of Mrs. Gladys Jolley Rosser, director, combined with the splendid spirit of cooperation among the girls themselves. The Club is composed of about thirty selected, well blended voices. The principal concerts of the year included those at the Los Angeles Fine Arts and Opera Club, and Sunday afternoon programs at the Del Mar Club, and various church broadcasts over KECA and KHJ were presented with gratifying success. The officers for the year were Rose Atkinson, president, Dorothy Sullivan, vice-president and accompanist, and Helen Burge, secretary.

First row: Henry, Burge, McCory, Sullivan, Rosser, Atkinson, Harper, Humphries, Sleeper. Second row: E. Anderson, Beckwith, Sims, Hart, Culver, Vaught, Holmes, French, Daniels. A CAPELLA CHOIR

THE A CAPELLA Choir, under the direction of Squire Coop, is recognized in the critical musical world as the representative of the finest music culture in our University. Their repertoire includes only rare and classical music. The group is composed of about fifty select voices. The principal concerts were given in the University Auditorium, twice over KFI in conjunction with the Berkeley University broadcast, and at the Easter Sunrise Service at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. In addition to this schedule, the choir gave the world premiere of the beautiful work, "Pictures from Baalhamon," composed by Professor Theodore Stearns of the U.C.L.A. music department.

ORCHESTRA

THE ORCHESTRA, under the direction of Squire Coop, is composed of the best orchestral players on the campus. Their repertoire is made up entirely of standard symphonic music. They give few concerts, for they prefer to cover larger fields of music in their rehearsals than to prepare a limited number of selections for public performances. Besides its annual performance at the Greek Drama presentation, the orchestra presented a recital of music by Bach to celebrate the two-hundred and fiftieth anniversary of his birth. The orchestra also played the very difficult orchestral score of Professor Theodore Stearn's work, "Pictures from Baalhamon" in conjunction with the A Capella Choir.

BRUIN BAND

THE BRUIN BAND has established itself! Under the able direction of Leroy Allen, and the untiring efforts of Barry Bertram, manager during the first semester, combined with the able assistance of Clark Lewis, second semester manager and Drum Major, and J. D. Gillespie, assistant manager, the Bruin Band has become one of the best organized and drilled, as well as one of the most colorful bands in Southern California. It appeared with unprecedented success at all major football games, and also at several All-University Rally assemblies and All-University sings; it also represented the University at the Berkeley game, and at the Spring Crew races. For the first time in the history of the University, the band performed at Commencement this year.

The Bruin Band performs at all regular University functions including rallies, parades and football games.

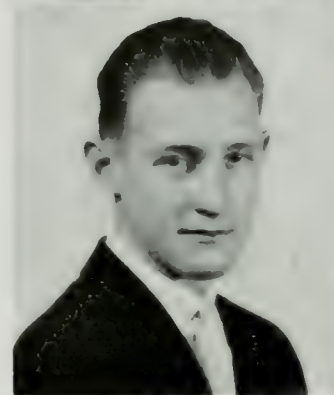

MILITARY BAND

THE MILITARY BAND was organized to provide military music for parades and any ceremonies in which the R.O.T.C. may participate. The organization is under the leadership of John Hughes, director, and Wallace Bonaparte, Drum Major. Besides playing semi-annually at the final review for the R.O.T.C. graduation, and in several parades on campus, the band performed at the review in honor of the Commanding General of the Ninth Corps Area; on Armistice Day they also took part in the R.O.T.C. drill in the Coliseum. The program for the day also included a parade in the morning as well as music during the football game in the afternoon. All in all, the band has succeeded admirably in the accomplishment of its purpose during the past year.

MEN'S DEBATE

SIDNEY ZSAGRI
Manager

CHARLES WELLMAN
Varsity Debater

THOMAS LAMBERT
Varsity Debater

THE U.C.L.A. men's debate squads have established the reputation of producing members who are noted for their forensic ability, and the results of this year's activity insure that this reputation will be maintained in the future. The many victories which were won by the squad are proof of this capability, and of the valuable guidance of Mr. Lewis, coach, and Sid Zsagri, manager, who are to be commended for their efficiency in arranging participation in the various meets. The squad undertook the heaviest program of debates in the history of U.C.L.A. by taking part in twenty-one two-decision debates. Early season debates with U.S.C. did not foretell the complete success which the year was to bring. However, the squad appeared to excellent advantage in the Pi Kappa Delta Tournament, and in the Redlands Tournament in which the University won the honor of being the first to have of its own teams tie for first place. The season closed with the Pacific Coast Forensic Tournament at Walla Walla, Washington, where the team of Horace Hahn and Charles Wellman brought back to the University a debating championship for the third consecutive year.

First row Silver, Lambert, Marsh, Lewis, Burrill, Mosk Second row Lagrave, Kaplan, Sonntag, Leavelle.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

THIS YEAR the women debaters of U.C.L.A., after completing another successful and extensive season, have satisfactorily proven their capability in upholding a fine tradition of excellent debating, and have made a definite stride forward in the progress of women's activities on the campus. The capture of first place in the Stockton debate tournament by the team of Selma Mikels and Judith Rykoff was but one of their many victories. In this contest the team appeared to excellent advantage against some of the finest women debaters in the West, representing thirty-one universities. In the Redlands tournament, the two varsity stars reached the semi-finals though they did not win first place. Wyvette Adam, manager of the squad, supplied capable guidance to the team and arranged the extensive schedule which included debates with the Universities of Stanford, Berkeley, Colorado, Idaho, and Redlands. According to members of the squad, too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Lewis, who coached the squad, for his sympathetic interest and his cooperation in securing necessary funds from the Board of Control.

First row: Saxton, Adam, Mikels, Rykoff. Second row: Marsh, Hallberg, Carlson, Lewis.

ORATORY

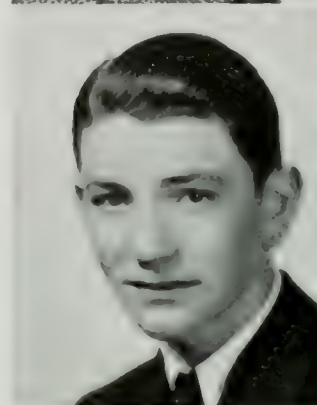

ORATORICAL AND extemporaneous contests were unusually successful this year for both men and women. A large number of capable persons carried on the activities which have brought many victories to U.C.L.A. in the past. Horace Hahn, veteran orator, won first place in the National Peace contest in which he competed with representatives from one hundred and fifty-three universities, and he won third place in the Pi Kappa Delta Province Tournament at Stockton. In this same contest, the first and second places in the Women's Extemporaneous Contest were secured by Judith Rykoff and Selma Mikels, respectively. June Hallberg won first place in the Women's Southern California Extemporaneous contest and in the Southern California Oratorical contest, as well as third place in the Pi Kappa Delta tournament. Thomas Lambert, a member of last year's debate squad, won both the oratorical and extemporaneous speaking titles in the Pacific Coast Forensic tournament held in Walla Walla this year.

FRESHMAN DEBATE

GREAT INTEREST was shown in Freshman Debate this year, and many members of the squad will take their places as recognized varsity debaters in the future. Since the maintenance and furthering of U.C.L.A.'s forensic reputation will depend almost entirely upon these people, systematic training is necessary. In this connection, the efficient coaching and the capable management of Arnude Leavelle are to be commended. Though the major debates are held late in the season, the early contests seemed to insure that the varsity will not suffer a lack of material. The beginners had a fine season of debates with other freshman teams, and competitors from high schools and junior colleges. Members of the squad included Ruth Simon, Walter Eaton, Robert Leavelle, Ralph Winkler, Mark Nadis, George Allison, and Justin Atkinson. The aim of these students is to carry on the fine standards of the past, standards which are the demonstrable evidence of University intellectual life.

MALBONE W. GRAHAM, Professor of Political Science, has served more or less as a trail-blazer in the field of diplomatic and constitutional history. In his first two books, The Governments of Central Europe, 1924, and New Governments of Eastern Europe, 1927, Dr. Graham brought together and interpreted a part of political history which had previously been virtually unknown. At the present time Dr. Graham is compiling the first of a series of studies dealing with the diplomatic recognition of the border states formed from the Russian Empire. The material for this new work has been gathered from original sources such as the diplomatic archives of the nations involved. In 1930 Dr. Graham made an extensive tour of the Danubian and Baltic countries with this purpose in mind; while in Europe he had many interesting conversations with the leaders of these countries.

DR. GRAHAM is so vitally interested in his research that he considers it a part of his recreational activities. Traveling, however, is his chief source of enjoyment, but only when it includes research work such as he undertook in 1930. Despite his many absorbing duties, Dr. Graham has found time to contribute numerous articles to such journals as the American Political Science Review, International Conciliation, and the American Journal of International Law.

BURNSIDE

Genial John Burnside has many outstanding activities to his credit besides the office of President. He has been Head Yell Leader, Captain of the Varsity Gym Team, a member of Scabbard and Blade, Blue C, Blue Circle C, and Blue Key. He is known on campus as an energetic individual who has the future of the University very much at heart. His happy personality has had its effect on the activities of U. C. L. A.

P A R K E

Joy Mae Parke, delightfully charming, has won the admiration of her fellow-students. In her administration as President of the A. W. S., she has proved herself perfectly fitted for the duties of the office. She has been a member of Spurs, Agathai, and Alpha Chi Delta, all honorary organizations. She was one of the three campus women chosen to compete for the title of Queen of the Drake Relays.

DUGUID

Attractive Margaret Duguid has shown that she possesses beauty plus brains in her able management of the position of Vice-President of the A. S. U. C. In her Junior year the class thought enough of her to make her their Vice-President and in her Sophomore year she was made a member of Spurs. The entire student body acclaims her as the personification of what a college girl should be.

L O T T

Versatile Sinclair Lott is quite a noted person on U.C.L.A.'s campus. He has played end on the Bruin football team besides being a member of U. C. L. A.'s 1934 Championship Four Mile Relay Team. In addition to these accomplishments he is lauded for his ability to play the French horn and his excellence as a student. Another of his unusual talents is that of making real life-long friends.

YOUNG

Howard Young has demonstrated his capability for leadership in his presidential positions in three organizations: California Men, Blackstonian, and the Motion Picture Club. He has also been Chairman of the Dramatics Board and fittingly so, since he has had much experience in managing student productions. He is known to his friends as a sincere, noble-minded worker.

PEMBROKE

Efficient Betsy Pembroke is well-known by the students of U. C. L. A. for her numerous activities and gracious manner. Her position as Business Manager of the Southern Campus merely terminates her achievements. She has been a Spur, Prytanean, and Treasurer of Agathai. The Vice-Presidency of Alpha Chi Alpha and Presidency of Upsilon Alpha Sigma have also been hers. The Student Hand Book of 1934-35 claims her as Assistant Editor.

FOWLER

A model co-ed, Estelle Fowler has won many honors from her Alma Mater. In her sophomore year she held the office of Treasurer of her class, and that of Vice-President in her senior year. She has been a member of Spurs, Agathai, the A.W.S. Council, as well as Vice-President of Tic-Toc. Her selection as one of the three Bruin competitors for the Drake Relays Queen was U.C.L.A.'s tribute to her sunny personality and attractiveness.

FRANKOVICH

Debonair Mike Frankovich is one of the University's most outstanding personalities. Being a famous quarterback on the Bruin football team is not all of which he can boast. He ably filled the chairmanship of the Men's Athletic Board in the fall semester of 1934. His worthiness was recognized by Joe E. Brown, and Mike was made his protege. The Mission Reds have persuaded him to join them playing baseball. He is a Bruin who has more than made good.

HARRIS

Enterprising Chandler Harris has been an inspiration to many a Bruin reporter. His capability enabled him to rise from a reporter to Night Editor, Associate Editor, and finally Editor of the Daily Bruin. He is noted for the calm manner with which he confronts the difficult problems of his position. His colleagues consider him one of the most efficient and likable persons ever having filled the Editor's chair.

HOBART

Unassuming May Hobart deserves more recognition than she has received. Being one of those persons who go on their busy way not taking time to discuss the importance of their work, she has not let the campus know of her beneficial contributions to the life of the University. She has been a Spur, a member of Alpha Chi Alpha, and Prytanean, President of Tri-C and both a Night Editor and Women's Editor on the Bruin.

EDWARDS

Gay Tomlin Edwards has been the recipient of many honors which her fellow students have willingly given her. Not only has she been President of Agathai, but this year she held the responsible position of chairman of the Student Counselors. As a member of the Welfare Board, Spurs, Prytanean, and Alpha Chi Delta, Tomlin's cheery personality won her many friends, who will long remember the vigor and enthusiasm she has put into her duties.

B L A U

During his college career, Louis Blau has earned an important place for himself on the campus. As a lower classman he belonged to Sophomore Service, and in his next year he became a member of the Junior Council. Besides being an active member of the Rally, Brawl, and Homecoming committees, Louis has capably handled the position of Vice-President of the California Men, which gave him further opportunity to demonstrate his competence and enthusiasm.

LANDON

Katharine Landon, one of U. C. L. A.'s most popular coeds, has held many prominent positions during her college life. She has been a Spur, a Prytanean, and Agathai. Kitty has had the distinction of serving as President of Tic-Toc. The Pan-Hellenic Council and the A. W. S. Council are only a few executive committees of which she has been a member. As President of Prytanean, Katharine has won the respect and admiration of U.C.L.A.'s faculty and students.

KEIM

Deverley Keim has won, and deserves, the admiration and respect of the faculty and students alike. His diligence as Editor of the Southern Campus has culminated a most successful college career. Some of the organizations which claim him as a member are: Pi Delta Epsilon, Blue Key, Blue Circle C, Blue C, Pi Sigma Alpha, and the Varsity Track Team. Being an excellent student he has received a Flint scholarship and Phi Beta Kappa.

BRIDGES

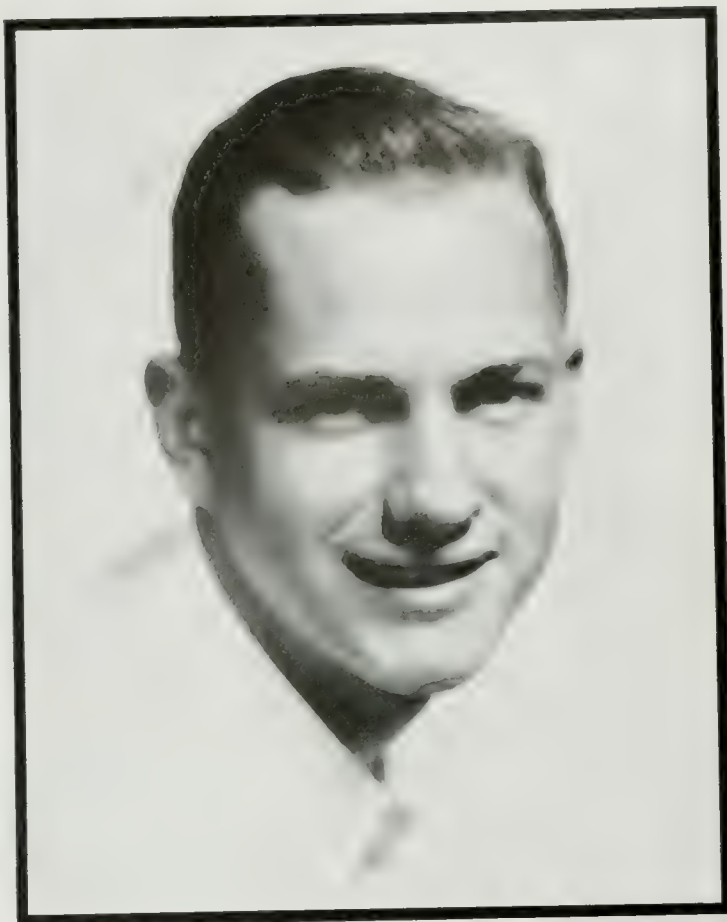

Lloyd Bridges, one of U. C. L. A.'s most successful amateur actors, is well-known for his pleasing personality as well as his outstanding ability. He has belonged to numerous other societies besides dramatic organizations. He has been a member of Sophomore Service, Blackstonian, Blue Key, and Kap and Bells. As President of the U. D. S. he has shown an unusual talent for leadership.

WALLACE

Talented Arnita Wallace takes her place in the Bruin hall of fame most appropriately. Her cheery personality has shown itself over both campus and Los Angeles footlights. The Wallace Sister team has gained much popularity in the current drama, "The Drunkard." Arnita has starred in numerous U. C. L. A. productions, and has been active in Spurs, Zeta Phi Eta, Kap and Bells, and the Dramatics Board.

BRAINERD

William Brainerd, usually known as Bill, has had an outstanding career during his university life. He has been a member of Sophomore Service, a member of the Rally Committee, Blue Key, Blackstonian, and the Senior Board. He was a Yell Leader in his Junior year and President of his class in his senior year. His many offices show that he is well-liked by the students of U.C.L.A.

Amiable Betty Jane Seery has made a name for herself on the university campus. She has served as both Vice-President and President of Phrateres. Alpha Chi Delta, Agathai, and Prytanean have all shown their appreciation of her worth. Her winning manner has gained her numerous admirers. The fact that she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa points out that she can combine scholarship with campus life.

DAY

Eleanor Day, known to the campus as "Daisy," has a reputation for possessing a light-heartedness that is contagious, but her contributions to campus life have not been lacking in gravity. As the Women's Editor and Society Editor of the Bruin she showed both cleverness and spontaneity. She has been a member of Spurs, the A. W. S. Council, the Junior Council, and the Senior Board.

LU VALLE

Gifted Jimmy Lu Valle has brought honor to the University. Besides being Captain of the Bruin Varsity Track Team, a remarkable achievement in itself, he has been an I.C.4A Meet Champion and a member of U.C.L.A.'s championship Four Man Mile Relay, and is an excellent student. He is reputed to be one of the best liked men on the campus; U.C.L.A. will not soon forget his attainments or his agreeable manner.

CHARLES GROVE HAINES, Professor of Political Science, is chiefly concerned with the work of the United States Supreme Court. His special research has dealt with the judicial review of legislation; in this field he has written many articles and in 1914 published his American Doctrine of Judicial Supremacy, which was later revised in 1932. It is interesting to note that this volume was actually begun in 1903 while Dr. Haines was still in college, and he later wrote his Doctor's dissertation upon the same subject. Dr. Haines has been working for several years on a two or three volume work concerning the influence of the United States Supreme Court on the political and economic life and interest of the country. Known abroad as well as at home for his legal theories and philosophy, Dr. Haines has published articles in the Archive de Droit et Sociologie Juridique and the Annuaire de L'Institut International de Droit Publique, and other European law reviews and journals.

SINCE 1925 Dr. Haines has taught at U.C.L.A., and he thoroughly enjoys the California climate which enables him to find recreation and inspiration in the outdoors, where he either goes golfing or mountain climbing.

SUMMER IS just about being whipped into shape and those are boats. Gordie Bell, of the Beta Theta Pi cellar contingent, is working himself into such fine fettle that he will be able to ascend Colonel Janss' major nightmare adjunct to, and just preceding the main quadrangle. Miss Pierre can easily be found, inasmuch as like all of the Pierre family, she is in the center. The A.W.S. outing at Laguna looks as though it were held knee deep in mud, but the only mud there was of the slung variety. The smiling lassies under the umbrella seem to be pretty exclusive, and Joy Mae Parke and Kay Hertzog are apparently glad. The Theta crowd, looking like three chorus girls out of work and arriving on a trans-oceanic liner are smiling for the camera laddie, but they are barking up the wrong tree, if you know what we mean, and also know the camera man. . . . Cliff Bowman and Virginia May, above, and Dobbin and Bettsy, below, looking as comfortable as possible, considering the sores. . . . Miss Barbara Reynolds, of the East Sawtelle Reynolds, just after sitting on a wet fish, Cleora Crawford, giggling, and Marrietta Frieze registering her usual approbation. As evidence of the camera man's appeal, note honey avidly watching him from behind those dark specs.

VACATION IS not as yet over, and it is all work for Machine Gunner Bob Denton who, though he looks busy, is contemplating a visit to Monterey in the evening. A wild afternoon aboard the Sigma Alpha Epsilon pleasure yacht. . . . the drifts and drafts of humanity shown here give a sordid picture of the kind of life students at college lead. More debauchery. . . . note the savage look upon the faces of the college girls, some of them hardly twenty-five years of age or more. . . . and snow with Jimmy Gage, the Fowler sisters, and Jerry O'Brien in it. Those two soldiers next to the pup tent are walking examples of the futility of training men to assume some sort of military bearing. The picture of the private wharf, which has been placed here to demonstrate that Klipstein has one, looks just as well upside down. Now that the morons have turned the book back to its original position a rather lively picture of the Breedens, Dorothy Simpson, Jean Druffle, and Margaret Sherman of the Alpha Chi skirt shack can be seen. . . . next, another picture of vibrant youth in the persons of those inimitable, which is just as well, Kannes. Al Davis and Ed Rydalch didn't know they were having their pictures taken; note the carefree unposed position of the boys.

This collage consists of 15 black and white photographs arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some photos overlapping. The photos depict various social and community events from the 1940s. The top row features three photos: a group of people at a social gathering, a man in a suit, and a group of people sitting on a bench. The second row shows a group of young women in formal attire, a man in a suit, and a group of people sitting on a bench. The third row includes a large greenhouse structure, a group of people sitting on a bench, and a group of people sitting on a bench. The bottom row shows a group of people sitting on a bench, a man in a suit, and a group of people sitting on a bench. The photos are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some photos overlapping.

PRESENTING THE Hilgard honeys—no one has ever been able to figure out a good reason for having presentations. The victims always ruin their formals by having gawky looking military men run their spurs through the hem during dances they didn't want to dance anyway. The military man is always sore because the woman turns out to be what must be the clan's major butch. And the actives are pretty sick of asking how the line looks when they already know they couldn't hide that lass whose old lady was a member back in Sioux City, but whose scholarship might pull up the house's average. Those fourteen the D.G.'s snagged look pretty good, but we prefer the cook. Francine must have been bragging, for the Chi O's seem to have their eyes on her man. . . . the usual informality of the Alpha Phi patio on presentation day, with the usual contingent of male followers. Gamma Phi Beta presents. . . . the photographer did quite well, don't you think? . . . a panorama camera is a great help at presentations. . . . Theta Upsilon seems to be playing patty-cake. . . . the Alpha Phi patio again, with everyone just leaving. The lower set up isn't the Roxy Theatre usherette line-up, but merely the Alpha Chi Omega idea of what makes good Alpha Chi Omega timber.

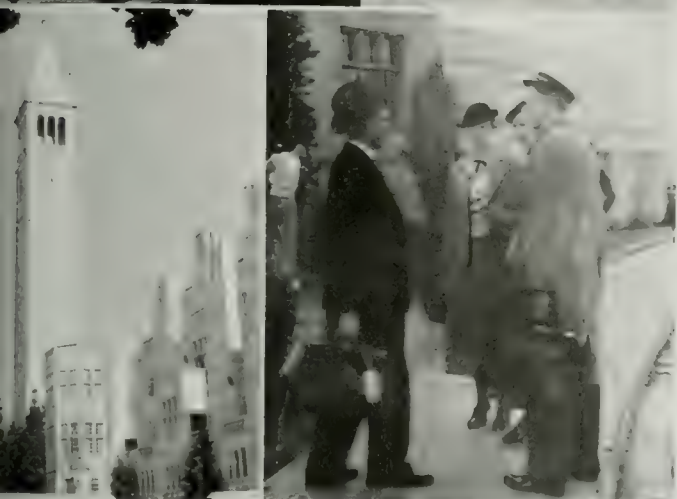

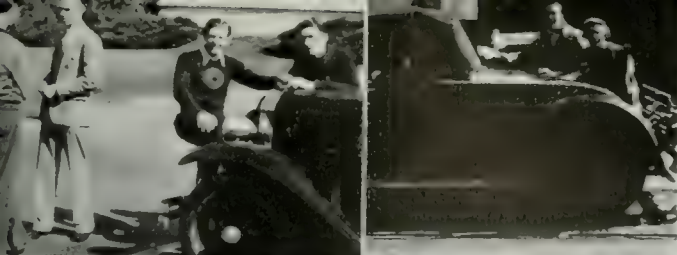

OFF FOR Oregon! It might have been better if all the boys had followed the example of Miss Tomlin Edwards, of the Warner Avenue Edwards! Miss Edwards, who is seen as she entered her automobile on the way to the station, refused to take the trip, figuring that she couldn't win the game anyway. As we say, it might have been better. . . . But in all seriousness, there was a good turnout to send the boys off to the north with the best wishes of the entire student body. The enthusiasm of the crowd soon spread, with the result that Coach Bill Spaulding's face was eventually wreathed in smiles. Unfortunately, the camera man got there before the crowd did, and Bill's smile hadn't come yet. The car which is being decorated is undergoing treatment at the hands of Hugh Foley, whose spirit is very much the same as the left guard whose fourth bite of Oregon right guard's foot was too much for him with the result that he lost three teeth and a piece of almost new chewing gum. And at last is shown a real life picture that approximates those vapid efforts of the near-by Hollywood flicker industry. A real, live kiss by the captain of the team just before the big game! The only rub is, it's not Pant's wife—wonder what she thinks!

GIRLS WILL be gulls, is the name of this chapter in the recreational history of the U. up on the hill. Young Brainerd Lambert Gally is being forced to leave by some six irate lassies who are trying to put on a good Hi-Jinx. . . . note the look of expectancy on the Spur on the right. What would the poor dears do without someone like Gally? Greek drama tryouts with air-cooled petticoats. . . . Mephisto is loose again in the fearful personage of Mary Sue Howard, and her boss, the devil himself, is being handled by Ramona Wentzel. The four frightened people in the middle give ample cause for no men being allowed at this A.W.S. affair. . . . Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, who look pretty silly, but not half as silly as that creature next to them. . . . "Marm, if you don't pay up, I'll cut off your ears," says the wicked soldier to the poor old lady who lived in a shoe and had so many children, she quite ostensibly didn't know what to do There's Brainerd L. Gally again, and to prove the shes are generally in on the stowing away, he is caught with his girl, who probably helped let him in. Witness the angry looks of the Spur women as they catch another crashee. . . . the man in question looks pretty coy, doesn't he?

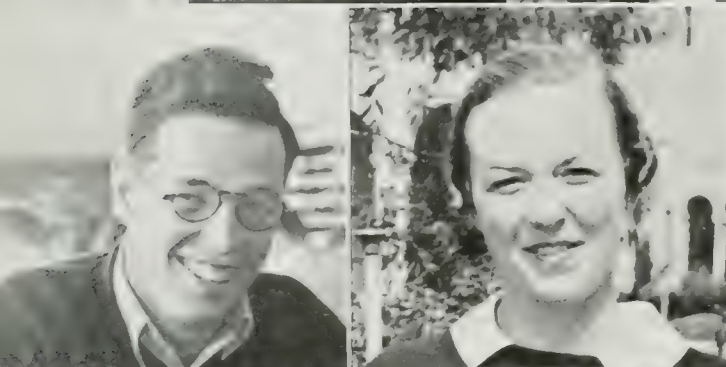

A collage of 15 black and white photographs from the 1940s, showing various scenes of people in military uniforms and civilian attire. The photos are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some showing groups of people, others showing individuals, and some showing people in action. The subjects are mostly young men and women, likely soldiers and nurses, in various settings including outdoors, indoors, and on a ship.

SAFE AND sound, the boys and girls are there. Joe Kaufman having his "pitcher" took, with that horrible Mr. Bercherez again. Come on, Van Buskirk, hit him! In the rumble, just after a binge at one of Frisco's greater restaurant hotels, the Little Arcady, Phil Edwards and Frank Wilkinson. . . . Phil, if Frank's mother happens to be reading this, is of the female gender. The beautiful campanile, but one thing a picture can never show is that drone, proudly referred to by Californians as "ringing." The Bruin, the Herald, and Mad Milton, the son of the Schneiders. . . . May Hobart looks like a long trip. . . . Baus is in good shape, and Milton would like a weed. The Bruin band, rushing up to the stadium to blow the boys to victory. . . . And the Bear band, with Charlie Greene wondering which way to go. A beautiful photograph taken from the Campanile, except for a blur on the plate, which, when analyzed, turns out to be Varian Sloan. The lad in the chair has just been a guest of honor, as was everyone else, at the California Club luncheon. . . . note his musing attitude. . . . he'd have done better without the lunch. Entrance to the library, with hundreds of students seen taking advantage of the facilities of the northern tome shop. Apparently we ran short of good picture material, for here is Baus again. . . . Now we're on the outside, looking in at Berkeley—Cheerio!

CAMPUS PERSONALITIES, and perhaps it would have been better to have left personalities out of this. How sad people look when they don't know they are being photo'ed. . . . which confirms our opinions of the ultimate baboonity of the human race. Exceptions, of course, include Thinking Jane Pope of the Alpha Phi female fraternal family. The next steal is one which has never been seen before, and never will be again—a little job of Jean "College" Teague at the books. At last, at last. . . . an opportunity for the copy writer to take a crack at Joseph Osherenko, but he doesn't need to. . . . Doc Stone and he might be well emulated by those wayward fraternity fellows. Note the piece of sopping bread, and the careful way the knife is placed. Percy Fleming, shortly after consuming a pickle. . . . Mammy! . . . and Mary Elizabeth Jones with the somber specs. . . . Burly Joe O'Flaherty and Marian Hannon, shortly after having been told that they had a good chance for a photo in the year-book. . . . Edie Howe flashing the profile, and the photo man must have a crush on F.B. Someone has just dropped a herring down Una McClelland's back. Arnold Antola, Dorothy Jueneman, Sara Fozzard, and John McElheney fill out the page, which is very important, as otherwise it would be white, and not look nice. On second thought, perhaps it would be just as well.

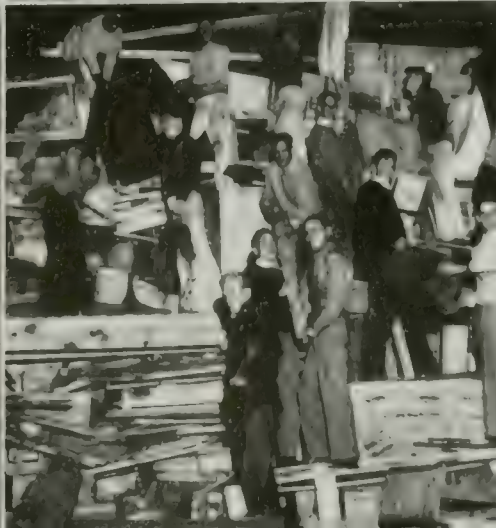

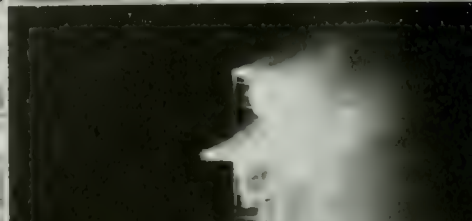

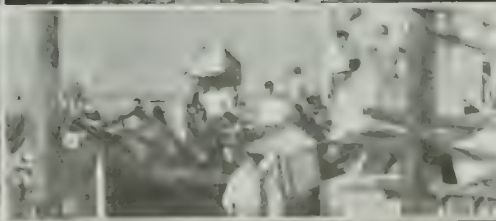

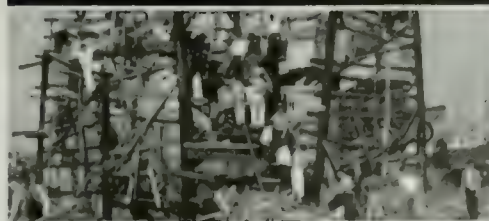

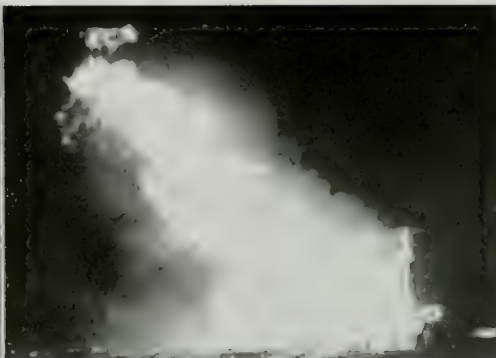

FOOTBALL, A FORM of amusement indulged in by twenty-two husky, musty brutes, generally draws well, as can be seen by the faces of the thousands of avid fans at one of the contests. The crowd in front of the gate is waiting to see one of these contests, and upon getting in, it will see some thousands of sophomores waving cards about to form all sorts of strange figures. One is an 'S', and the other is a Turkey—the 'S' is on the left. The men on the football aggregation, as it is called by the sports scribe, brush their teeth regularly, and frequently gargle between halves. . . . cute, eh? The drum major, with his lunch. . . . the latter is in his woolly hat. He doesn't understand, so you'd better quit trying. Oh, you're waiting for Fred Funk to think of an answer. Well, you had better come back next year because Freddie isn't thinking much this annum. Don Strain, who keeps up a lively chatter throughout the average big game, is telling a throng of howling rooters that we can't lose. The band, with nobody in step but the boy with the collapsible cornet. . . . Frankovich just passed one from his five yard line, according to Joe Brown. Agony, agony, or two hours on a Saturday afternoon with a coach. . . . the A.S.U.C. throwing another goal post party for the rooters, who seem to have just won a game for U.C.L.A.

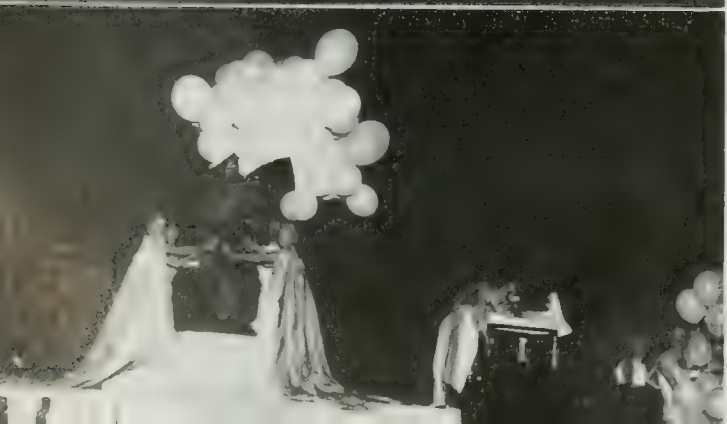

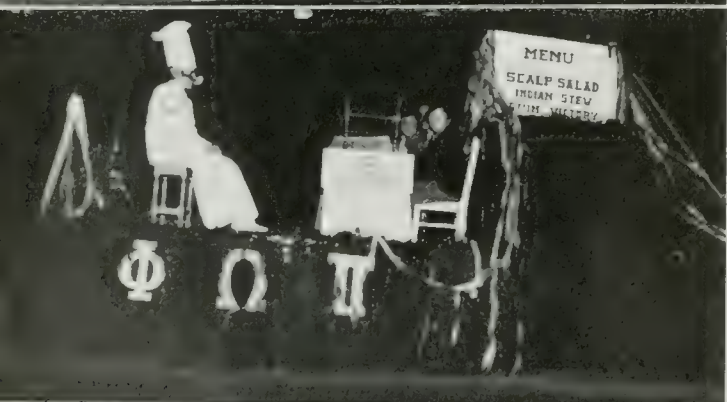

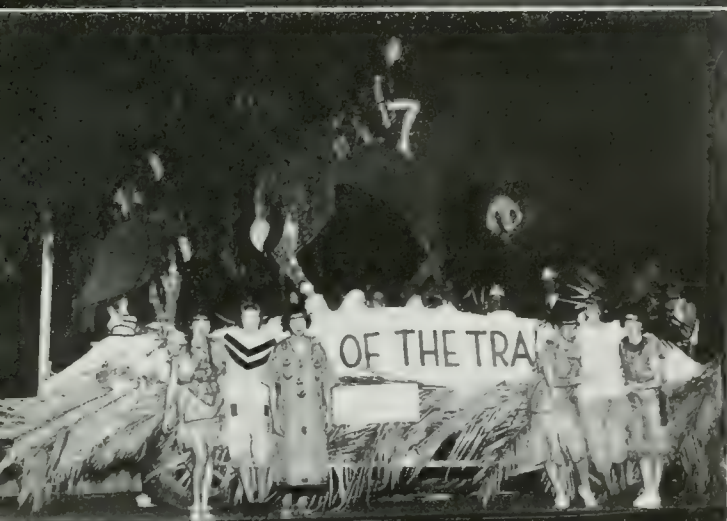

BUILDING THE Homecoming bonfire, and indulging in the frosh-soph brawl are activities enjoyed by all classes. It is a freshman custom to kidnap the Sophomore President, while the sophomores snatch the frosh "leader." In the first "pict", Bob Klein, then the Freshman President, is being brought back by his victorious classmates and Chuck Kanne, whose presence is beyond understanding. Variel is waving his arms as usual. The Kappas have come to see the bonfire and in the next snap are seen with the boxes, with which they filled their house, and then brought down to the pyre. A bit of the knot tying ceremonies, with the fellow in the foreground going savagely at a sophomore's foot . . . Bill Bloom and the back of somebody's head. Kaffee klatsch, and the boys drink it sanitary, with paper cups . . . Howard Smalley, and Don Higgins, whose reputation, as far as it goes, was saved by the fortunate burning of his pitiful pyre early Friday morning. A couple of Phi Psis are carrying a burly victim across the line. It is astounding how these boys are able to put so much energy into these games when they always complain about the size of their text books. Trucking wood is always a chance for exhibitionism. . . . note the proud looks on those heroes who have just stolen some poor movie-star-guide's sign.

THE BONFIRE! One of the happiest days in the life of a freshman at the University is that Friday morning in October when he awakens from a sound sleep in a downy bed, has a tempered shower, a large breakfast, including cereal, eggs, fruit and fresh coffee, and reads in the Daily Bruin that he has spent the evening building a mammoth bonfire to be burned on the evening of homecoming. In the meantime, some fifty or sixty members of the junior class, after having discovered late Thursday night that the frosh have secured several apple crates and a privy for the pyre, are just awakening, if they slept at all, from beds of excelsior and are just discovering that the coffee they have been drinking all night is sawdust. They stretch, yawn, and glance sadly at the mound of wooden thievery, only to pitch in again with box passing. If they fail to build a tall one, they know the juniors will be criticised for inefficiency. If they succeed, the Bruin editorial will proclaim the rebirth of the great freshman tradition. Late that night they will be forced to watch the fireworks and the burning of their noble edifice, but Ackerman will say that Homecoming was a great success, and they can rest easily again—hoping they won't be juniors next year.

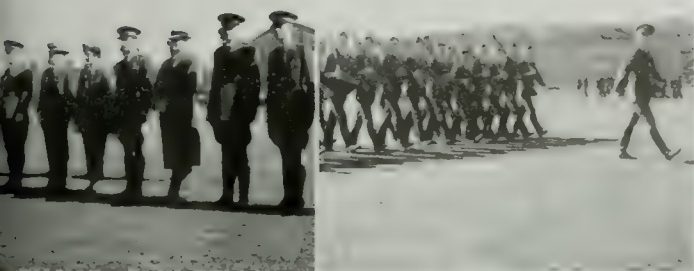

THE PARADE in honor of those who came home is generally a forlorn affair for the figures whose bodies make up the tableau. They're either dressed in filmy gauze, or nothing at all, or huge fur coats, all of which produce excessive heat or cold or itch or stiff necks. But the alumni love it, for they get to see each float several times, depending upon their conditions. As usual, the "lick the Indians" gag produced a lot of original ideas, but practically nothing in the way of a U.C.L.A. victory over Stanford. In the first float, which suggests that past ablutions performed upon the Indians have not been successful, Marvin Lang of the Sigma Nu hat hanging hall is portraying an American aboriginal just after a bath. . . . yes, the soap on his face did itch. A bit of intoxication crept into the otherwise sober celebration when the Helen Mathewson club appeared with a toast to the U.C.L.A. win. The winners of the contest were the Alpha Xi Delts, who with their usual acumen for costumery, were able to convince the judges that it was the end of the trail for the Stanford farmer. The Phi Omega Pis hit upon the idea of serving the Stanford Indian for breakfast. . . . next we see the A D Pis going aesthetic with balloons and things. The climax of the evening was reached when the Kappa Sigs dropped a pledge into the street and broke his jaw.

A collage of nine black and white photographs capturing various winter activities and student portraits. The photos are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some larger and some smaller. The top row features a student sitting on a snow-covered log. The middle section includes a group of students playing a game in a snowy field, a student running through the snow, a student sitting on the snow, and a group of four students standing together. The bottom section shows a student kneeling on the snow, a student lying on the snow, a student sitting on the snow, and a close-up of a student wearing a winter hat. The overall theme is winter recreation and student life.

RAIN, RAIN, go away, it's just like this most every day. All of which probably wouldn't be particularly appreciated by the local chamber of commerce, except that we can say that rain was so rare on the campus that when J. Pluvius wept, we had to barge a photo man out to catch the bathers in the rain. . . . Note their brightly gleaming countenances—cheery? In the upper pict is a babe who must read her Bruin at any cost. (Which publicity for the Daily published here—abouts every day is in return for all the good breaks it has given the Southern Campus in its news columns.) Johnny Cowles is glommed heading for the library—but don't believe it, he's just returning a book for a friend. Note the sissy with the umbrella down there in the middle. Mother probably pushed him off with a crack in the chin and told him he'd get another if he'd forget to bring home the butter. That gentleman down there with the rain coat is carrying—carrying a number of text books. What do you think he'll call it? . . . And then that combination, that duo which can be seen on and around the campus at various functions, is at last snapped in its entirety—the Bridges-Simpson combine . . . and then at the bottom is the sunshine that follows the storm. Ready they are for their classes and things, the jolly little people, all one big happy fam.

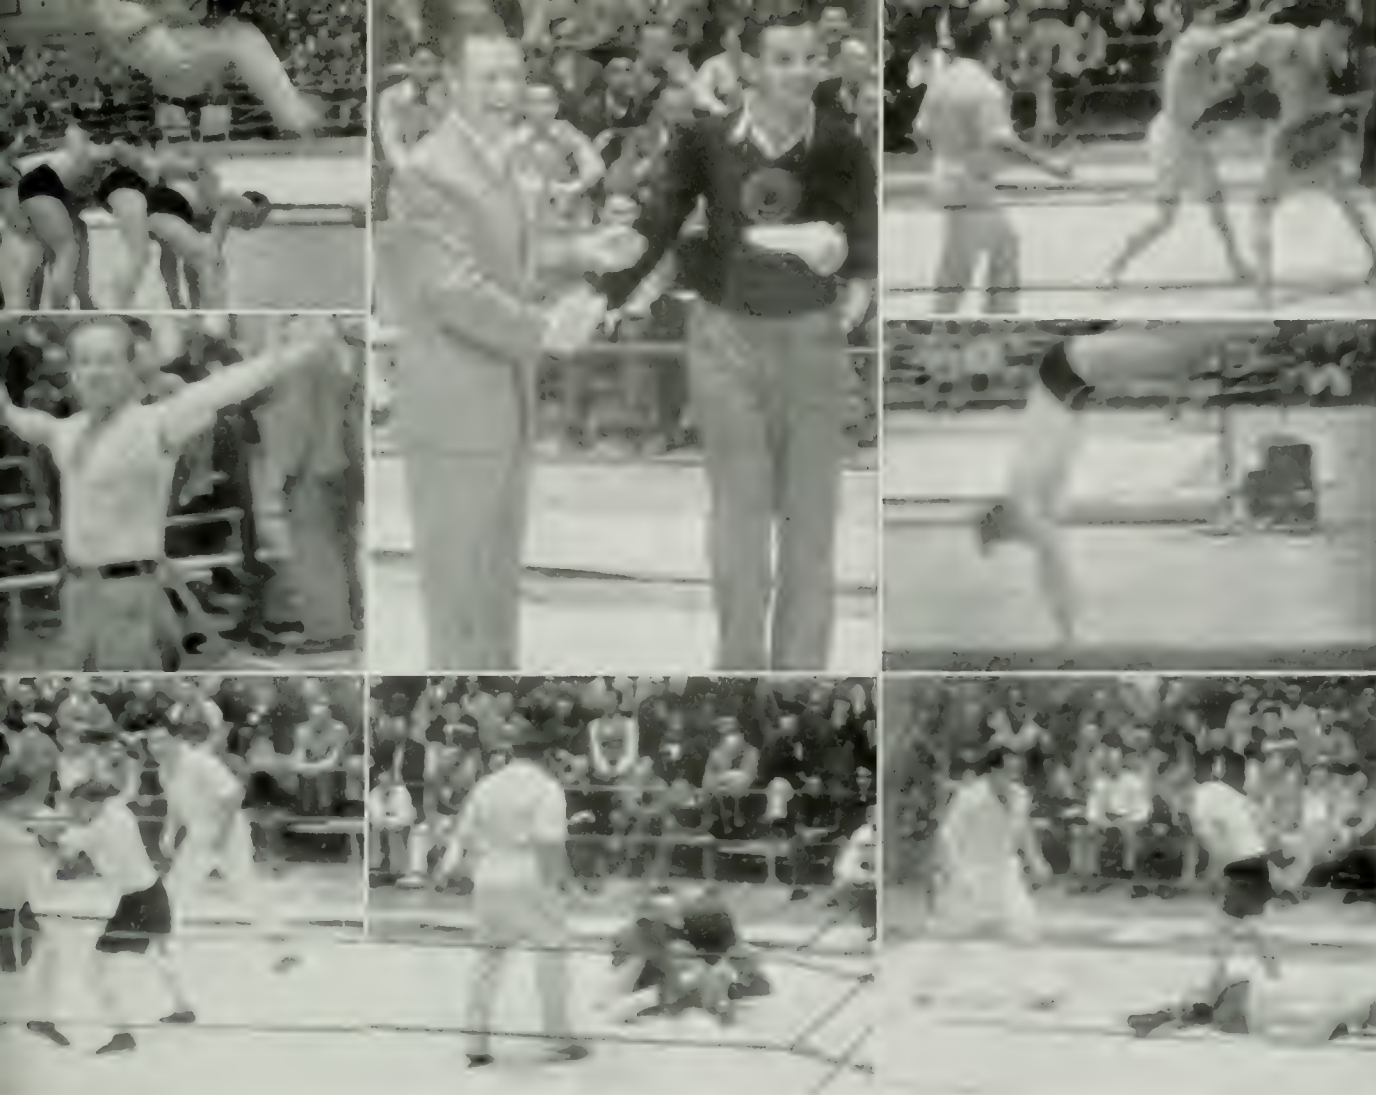

THE ARMY! And to think that those wretched agitators want to do away with it. To think of missing that early morning march through wet grass behind a bleary-eyed gawk who can't keep in step. To think of being able to spend two days every week at one o'clock marching in the warm summer's sun to the tune of the "Stars and Stripes Forever" with a cocky top sergeant, who wants to get into the advanced course, barking invectives at you! And then the parade day, when you can have the folks come and see you march so well, if they can distinguish you from those fifteen hundred other khaki clad mortals. Notice the Pershing Riflemen, you rookies. . . . they're that bunch of supermen who voluntarily sign up for one extra drill period a week, with no extra credit, and pay for it. Of course they are pretty useful, for every time on the drill field that they go marching by, the lieutenant calls for "rest" and tells you to watch and learn. The rest isn't much good, though, for he immediately launches into a new line of tortures—"just to keep you fellows in trim." A most cheery sight is seen below, with Colonel Baird telling Phil Shepherd what to do, and Phil was probably wrong. . . . Holman Grigsby, Marjorie Baird, the honorary colonel, and the real colonel, Upham, U. S. Army, having a chat. . . . like father like daughter—yes, we especially like the daughter.

THEY CALL it Men's Week, and these are supposed to be men. Evidently the feeble assumption of some seven days' growth of beard is good proof of this, but the campus women, who, after all, should be excellent judges of campus manliness, vigorously exerted downward thumbs on the whole idea, and refused to associate with men hirsutely hung. But in these "pix" there seems to be one woman, Jean Druffel, to be exact,—the one who wasn't afraid, and dared meet some of the dirty examples of hobriety that roamed the quad at large early this spring. It isn't the dirt that would bother us—it's the presence of such individuals, who, by their actions proved to be evidently studying to become morons—which shouldn't be difficult! The only one whose mother would recognize him is Tommy Rice, and we can't see why she'd want to. Those be-piped individuals reading the newspaper are of interest only because it is about themselves that they are reading. Notice the vain look on Higgins' face—if that really is his face. "Prosit" say the boys, and down goes the guaranteed-not-to-intoxicate beer provided for the Men's Do. It seems particularly odd to see Stan Brown with glass in hand, but probably he figured the beer wouldn't hurt him . . . Bobby Lewis in a rare pose . . . the Caddell flash in back of the bar, instead of in front, or just under it.

IN THIS corner are none other than a lot of those bearded boys across the way who have dropped around for a small amount of fun. This is before the beer drinking which can be seen on that other page, over there among the leers. Because of the general blur in the atmosphere, such as smoke and the voice of Joe E. Brown, there wasn't much chance for the feeble faces of the spectators to affect the photographic plate. In one touching pose is Lambert 'Hilgard' Gally, with arms outstretched in supplication. He's supplicating those lads to yell in some sort of harmony, such as was not yelled in by several members of a Bruin dining society which showed up with the usual bells on. In the center of the page, taking up a small amount of room, is the patron saint of the U.C.L.A. varsity, Joseph E. Brown, who hails from the motion picture colony over Hollywood way. Joe is seen giving Ed Tejarian the cast-iron monkey the latter earned for growing the longest beard in the so-called beard growing contest. The main reason it wasn't a contest is that Tejarian always has a three day head start, whether he's in a contest or not. Those other objects, to be seen in mid air and on bars and horses, are members of the gym team, who, as they claim, spend all their afternoons working out and all they get is a lot of drunken cheer and jeer at the Men's Do

THE SORT of stuff you see on the gridiron on those chilly October afternoons, wasn't seen this afternoon for it was the day of the Junior-Senior "football" game. The brand of pigskin played was definitely not up to anything like par. Note the three juniors pushing each other aside in their eagerness to get into the fray, and also the limelight. Contests of this kind are always good for a laugh. Especially senior player number ten, who is being tackled by four juniors. All the laughing he did was through those broken teeth. The brutality of the sport, as well as the fair and square way the boys handled this game was well exemplified in the pitch immediately next, where a pass receiver is being generally mauled. There was a slight penalty for this play; the juniors were penalized for slugging the seniors, which, as we look at it now, was a good example of outraged justice. The picture just below is merely an enlargement of the one above, for Southern Campus readers with myopia. One of the dastardly tricks pulled by the seniors was to put two men in the game with the same numbers on their jerseys—note bottom pictures with two nineteens and two thirty-sixes. Now, back to the top, where seven of the University's "Twenty Little Dummies" are shown. Parke, Fowler, Dunn, Millikan, and Tilden looking back, persons one and three, no soap.

BETWEEN THE halves of the Junior-Senior hog-hide fracas, Blue C, an organization of University major sports lettermen and earners of Crew letters, tapped the foolhardy young guys with the ten bucks who pledged. A typical example of one of the latter is Freddie Funk, whose picturesque pose at the top of page proves he knows how to handle a divan. J. Remington Olmsted, with an electioneering smile, is demonstrating how tender his heart is upon the rotunda of a pledge. More leaping around, and those two incomparable handlers of the mop and broom, Charley "Crusher" Pike and Bob Sloop. Notice the only extant photograph of a paddle in action on its way to home. More Olmsted, which, for some reason, seems a great deal more than enough. Also some leering Irving Jordon. There's one good thing about these Blue C initiations. Now that there is no more hell week, the boys have to have some outlet for their youthful spirits, and there is no better place to vent their ire than on the gridiron with some three or four hundred beautiful women looking on. Note the proud looks of the boys as they beat their classmates, and the latter writhing in agony on the greensward. Nero and the Spanish inquisition had nothing on these boys, but, as the boys who wield the paddles claim, "We never had so much fun in all our lives."

PEOPLE DO the funniest things. Especially when they don't know that they are being glommed by a rude cameraman with a penchant for catching them in compromising situations. Note the well-known "prof" at the top of the page who was caught scolding one of his recalcitrant stooges while another looks as though he were thinking, even though we know he can't. And Tricky Dick Variel, just about to go into a long dissertation on why the boys who lived at the "Island Home" in Balboa had better pay the rent. Note the dummy books he carries for effect. Phi Delt brother Lueck sucking his thumb. Such intelligent actions are typical of the brethren of the sword and shield, though all the boys aren't able to assume such masterful expressions. Harry Jacobs in a horizontal position . . . and an athlete earning the wherewithal . . . the look of intense interest, the furrowed brow, the bent shoulders, and the perspiration all give ample evidence that sonny is really earning his way through "collitch." A local slave to the solanaceous herb, Nicotina . . . Actor-Lambda Chi Allan Hinsdale endeavoring to decipher one of Editor Harris' daily ebullitions. Below is a snappy little picture of college life at its best. Note the vibrant youth, the wild abandon of mortals in their late teens and early twenties. Also the odd individual in the corner.

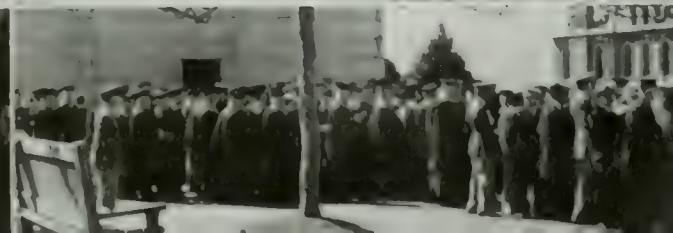

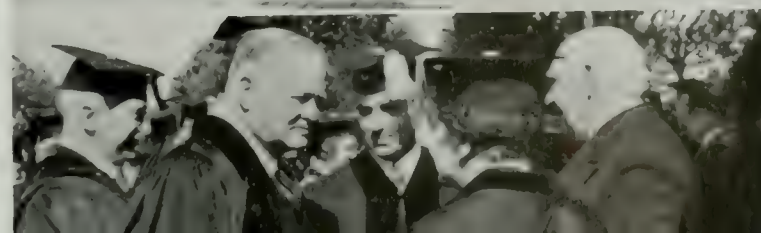

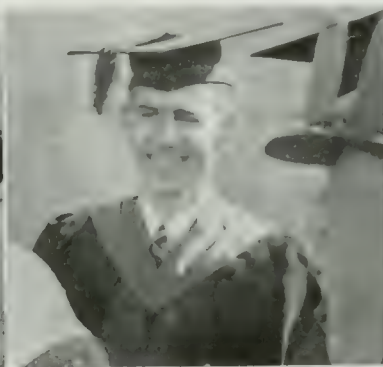

THIS, LADIES and gentlemen, is not a trip to the zoo, but an excursion to the steps of Royce and environs. Those creatures seen in such odd, assorted and esoteric positions are not zoological or botanical specimens, but are students at this University. That sad looking individual with the equine-like countenance is not Equipoise, but is Mark, Mark of Naidis tribe. Below him is that paragon of manly beauty, Charles, the best, as we have said, of all the Kannes. Lucifer Guarnier might be seen squinting at the latest ebulliations of his friendly enemy, E. Nof., in the Daily Bruin. He is also feeding his fearful face. Woody Strode, of shot and drama fame, is here having a dig in the greensward. And there, that hope of the Brower family, Barbara, in the midst of a small amount of work in the S.C. office. There's that S.A.E. wood-pile representative, Georgie Bateman. More horse play there, with Southern Campus stable entry Tilden, Anderson up, looks like duck, runs like horse, should win against this field, 3-2. Below is another example of what college does for the college man—Dave Beman, just about to step into a class, which latter he rarely steps into. And then that photo in the corner which bears out all our contentions of the past—that our camera man frightens people . . . notice all the folks who are looking the other way.

CHARTER DAY in the south, and everyone turns out in his or her ceremonial robes to commemorate the beginning of the University back in 1868 when those pioneering souls set up a little brick building and commenced to dispense knowledge to one and all at so much a head. The beauty and refinement evidenced by those caps and gowns make one wish that they were worn all the time, as at Continental Universities—except the learned man behind smiling Docs Delsasso and Warner. The angry gentleman in question is hot, and is only thankful for the tassel in that it keeps the flies off. In the corner is Dean Helen, who also finds the collar a bit rough . . . Dr. Moore and Speaker-of-the-day Lewis are quite at ease, as is Dr. Titus with the blonde.

CHARTER DAY in the north, and the folks are similarly togged in the long black and square. Prominent is a local lad, Doc Johnny Olmsted, who barged up to Berkeley, his Alma Mater, where, in addition to picking up some sort of reputation as a tennis player, he eased into a Rhodes scholarship. Next to him is one of the boys who votes the money—Regent Hotchkis . . . below him is jolly head man Sproul, who seems to be parentheticated by the lamb and the lion—Ex-President Herbert Clark Hoover and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. Below, again, is a companionable little scene—Mr. Hoover, Miss Perkins, and Governor Merriam . . . two kinds of Republicans and a staunch New Dealer, with Herbert listening interestedly, but probably sceptically.

SOMETHING THEY never go to is shown in this series of snaps. Classes, we are told, are the most important things in the University. Constant attendance is urged in most of these, and there is generally a great deal of professorial disgust when roll calls are met with no response on three quarters of the names. It is rumored, however, that many classes are more or less religiously attended by such students as have little or less else to do. But in all seriousness, (especially since this book comes out just in time to fix us up with a grade) there is one professor who has a remarkably cultural course which requires little or no study. That is the little job taught by Frederic P. Woellner, entitled "Education" 103. Note the two students in the middle of the page who are studying for this—one is reading a "mag," the other the funny sheets. That's Thomas Francis Brady, widely known as Tom Peeping, the man who made the politicians what they are today, smiling lasciviously at Blanche Hauser. The kindly looking gentleman down there is a professor, Dr. Carr, who tries to make the boys speak English. The photo boy's crush, Edwards, again. And the lad with the pointing finger has just described the game of cricket, which he, Jack Warshauer, plays.

FACES WILL be fed, and that's the reason for much of this banqueting to be seen in this layout. In the upper reel, after you have taken your eyes and ears off Johnny Burnside, who, as your auditory nerves would tell you, is eating soup, you will see smiling Helen M., who isn't laughing at a Lambert joke, or at one of Larry Gray's droll cracks. All this came off at a California Club banquet. Next, in a close photo, may be seen Dr. Moore in the midst of being asked for something by old man John Canady, the boy who dogs the alumni after they've skipped the old halls. A boy's best friend, the assistant dean, is seen showing that he knows what side his bread is buttered on, mainly because he's doing the job himself. And then the proof that the ways of man are wily and strange. . . . that chummy picture with all the folks standing around the banquet table is nothing more nor less than Dr. Carr's final examination. The plug failed to get the photo boy anywhere, as he picked up a "D" in the course. Carmen, Wilkinson, and Pike were all there, and trying their best, which probably wasn't very good. And then the "athletes" who are de backbone ov de univoisity, and don't let nobody tell yuh diff runt

HERE ARE some seldom-seen shots, and perhaps it is just as well. Boss and bossed, Beverley Keim and Helen Files who dashed this book out in their spare time. More people who do things, but what things! Tom "Puffed" Rice, the best of all the Kanne's, and Sweet Alice Ben Tilden. And here is the shot of the year! They pretend to put out a Bruin, but in reality they may be found any afternoon in one or more of the secret crannies of Kerckhoff Hall playing poker! All the money in the game couldn't bribe our honest photographer, so the names of Lou Turnoff, Don Benshimol (non-Bruin) Sidney Miller, Bob Brown, and Fur Stanley are now posterity's . . . Farid Samaika in a wet looking pose. Next is a picture of the guider of our destinies, the governor of our state, shaking hands with the apparently democratic Pat Maloney, with boxing team as a back-drop. Another picture of the den of iniquity in action, only this time the denees have picked up a fallen sister. Bob Brown dealing to Bobbie Monks and Tom Rice. And at the bottom is something to make the heart grow cold. There is Chuck Nimmo of the Stanford track crew, and Bill Murphy, U.C.L.A.'s own, and what is Bill doing but thumbing his nose, not at his erst-while rival, but at a fellow student, the cameraman.

HEY, COACH, watch the birdie! And before any of the coaches here shown could throw their faces into something resembling what they would have us believe are their natural countenances, they were caught! At the top is, as the various sport staffs would say, dynamic Jack Fournier, coach of the local horse hide aggregation. One of the boys has just dropped a pop fly. Next to him is a cigar, with Coach Harry Trotter wrapped around it. Insert is Huffy Ed Bissel with rosy cheeks of tan. The smile is the result of the happy news he just received from the recorder's office. Then, below, is Head Man Spaulding, looking just a bit glum for several reasons . . . all of them members of his football team. Don Park, who chides the swimming team into stroking up and down the pool, must have the sun in his eyes. That train scene has as its chief protagonist none other than Kenji Marumoto, who isn't going to that fine meet at Berkeley, but coming back. The gentleman gazing at the green pastures is Lorenz Waldthausen. Jimmy LuValle, of speedy foot and mighty brain, has the aspect of a fellow who has just won a relay championship. And there is Mouth Brown, seen at the Men's Do, and also probably heard. In the lower corner is the gentleman who scans the books, and says whether or not we can or can't spend any of the A.S.U.C. dough—Deming Maclise.

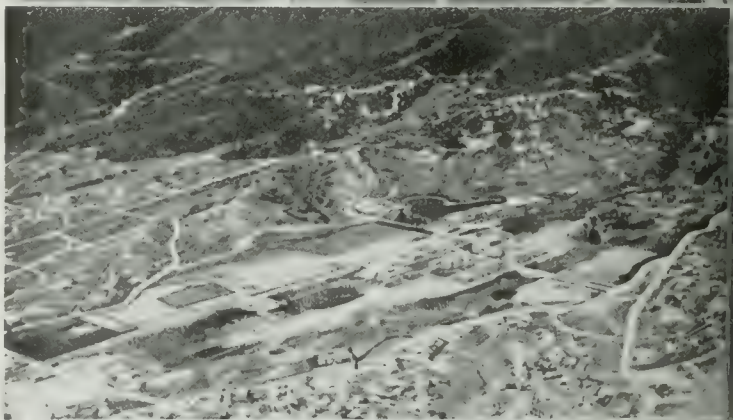

DANCE MAD, whirl crazy fans of the glazed floor are here seen in various degrees of delight. Above is a fine shot of our friend Van Buskirk, who looks as though it were his last. Also is Mary Emily Cox, who thinks it's "just duhvine, suh." The Rice-Haley trust not yet in a state of bankruptcy . . . another sad picture, which would have looked fine if photographer Bob Anderson had taken it instead of being in it. Here is one of the most original ideas of the year—a dance to which only blonde women were invited. The Lambda Chis threw it, and you can bet there was no end of trouble among married alumni, who had to leave their dark-haired wives at home. The jig at which Eddie Collins raised his head was the Junior-Senior Cord-Cotton fray. Another shot finds Joe O'Flaherty—and to think that only a second later he'd have been out of the picture. That fracas held in Kerckhoff Hall by the California Men drew quite a crowd—quantitatively speaking. A dance of no small merit was the race held by Scabbard and Blade. Its honorary colonel, Marjorie Baird, is here seen in the proud throes of barging under the upraised swords of C. L. Brewer and Phil Shepherd of Sigma Nu fame. . . . Captain Perigord right in there. Strangely enough, those Lambda Chis hog the limelight at an All-U jig. You've guessed it—the photographer does wear the tin of Lambda Chi.

WHAT DO you think she'll be doing Saturday night? Apparently the lad who's looking in the files is hopeful, but for some reason or other he looks as if he isn't sure which Smith it is who sits next to him in Abnormal Psychology. The men's dorm, or Kerckhoff Hall lounge as it is called by the optimistic. There is no more thickly populated spot on campus than this place at ten o'clock in the morning. It is usually frequented by students and the publishers of the Daily Bruin who have been up all night arguing with the print shop foreman. Marjorie Alice Lenz, who is one sweet girl . . . notice business, which brings on that apprehensive expression. Here is a table . . . to be seen at it are Selma Mikels, Betty Joe Bilger, and Thelma Briskin. A local hop is next shown, with the usual slide-floor slime. Fred Funk with female creature, Kenny Gifford with same, and Tom Rice with also . . . in the center is President Sproul, Mrs. W. G. Kerckhoff, and Tomlin Edwards. Below is another Edwards, Phyllis, and Leone Wakefield. By this time it would seem as though there were some fifteen pictures of one or the other or both of the Edwards. This is doubtless due to the fact that Photographer Anderson has a secret passion, if anything could be held secret behind that open pan . . . at the bottom some election, with well-known honest faces getting into the "pict."

FROM ABOVE some shots of school, looking very much like a little gem set in beautiful green hills . . . it also looks like a number of red rocks in a sand-pile. The first "pic" is of the village from the air, taken, as were the other aerial photographs, by Mac Israel. Then, the next is of the campus alone, with intimate shots of some of the boys right down on Royce steps. The campus and the village, with shots of pedestrians who weren't touched by the "pick up a hitch hiker campaign." Below are several shots taken by Stan Lippert with an infra red lens. Those trees aren't covered with snow, and notice the battleships in the background of that Catalina picture. And with that these pictures close, the vacation is over, and now begins that great ogre who lives outside the cloister of college—Life.

SOME PARTING shots are these rare views of nooks and crannies of the campus. That "No shooting" sign is authentic, and probably is placed there for the preservation of our little furred and feathered friends who frequent the quad in the early hours of the morning. If it were on the steps of Royce Hall it might pertain to the bull. In the bushes at the bottom of the garden—we won't tell who's there. Here is the Education building—at least a corner of it. Again, a piece of the Physics-Biology edifice . . . a snap of none other than Lloyd Bridges in the company again of a young lady . . . and there, down at the bottom, is one of the most unique sights ever seen—a student sitting upon the senior bench. It is rumored that this object is over near the chemistry building.

PRINCE ANDRE LOBANOV-ROSTOVSKY, Professor of History, has had a varied and interesting life. As a member of the guards in St. Petersburg, Dr. Lobanov took an active part in the first Russian offensive in 1914. In The Grinding Mill, published in April of this year, his personal reminiscences of the War and Revolution in Russia from 1913 to 1920 have been brought to light. Prince Lobanov had so many exciting experiences at this time that he considers his ability to have remained alive through it all to be his outstanding achievement.

PRIOR TO the War Dr. Lobanov received most of his education in France and attended the School of Law both in Russia and France. After the war interlude he returned to France where he received his Doctor's Degree from L'Ecole des Sciences Politiques. Since that time he has lectured in both England and the United States and has contributed many articles to such journals as the Contemporary, Edinburgh and Slavonic Reviews. He is especially interested in the relations between Russia and Western Europe, and it was along this line that he wrote his book, Russia and Asia. For relaxation Dr. Lobanov turns to travel; however, music is his real hobby — Bach, Beethoven, and Wagner being his favorite composers.

"TUFFY" NAUERT AND GLEN SANDERSON SEEM TO BE ENJOYING THE PRESENCE OF LULA LEY AT PAN-HELL, WHILE, TO THE RIGHT, CORAL CARTER, JANE MILLER, AND DOROTHY DOWDS APPEAR TO FIND THE DANCE A PLEASANT ONE.

BOB BARLOW AND BOB ANDERSON, AT LEFT, TAKE TIME OFF TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED WHILE COLVER BRIGGS HIDES BEHIND MILDRED SULLIVAN. BELOW, MARJORIE BAIRD, AS HONORARY COLONEL, IS BEING TAPPED BY FENTON EARNSHAW.

THE PANHELLENIC FORMAL, hailed by sorority women as the one dance of the year to which they may invite the Greek men of their choice, was held this year in the Fiesta Room of the Biltmore Hotel. Music for the festive occasion was furnished by Bob Millar's orchestra. Jean Stuart, Vice-President of the Panhellenic council, was in charge.

THE MILITARY BALL, attended by formally-clad women and resplendent officers, took place this year in the Riviera Country Club. The function honored Marjorie Baird, elected honorary colonel of the R.O.T.C., and also celebrated the tapping of new pledges to Scabbard and Blade, honorary military organization. Frank Howe's orchestra provided the music.

THE INTER-FRATERNITY BALL, under the chairmanship of John Mason, was one of the most successful dances of the year. Held in the Fiesta Room of the Biltmore Hotel, this formal dance was very enjoyable. Presentation of a gavel to the last year's president was one of the highlights of the evening. Bob Lightner's orchestra furnished the music.

CLIMAXING A HIGHLY successful program of Homecoming celebration, the Alumni Dance took place in the Supper Room of the Biltmore Hotel. Joseph Martin's orchestra played throughout a highly successful evening. The presentation of Betty-Jo Bilger, Queen of Homecoming, marked a high spot in the evening's activities. John Canaday was in charge.

THE SENIOR BALL, supplying a festive end to the careers of graduating seniors, was held in the form of a dinner dance. Estelle Fowler, Vice-President of the Senior Class, was in charge of the affair and capably planned the evening's program, while Bob Millar's orchestra supplied the music. THE BLUE C DANCE, an informal affair, took place this year at the Delta Tau Delta house. Since St. Patrick's Eve was the date of the event, each man was presented with a shamrock for his button-hole. THE MAN of the fast-flying skis might be any one of the hundreds of university students who vacation between semesters or on holidays at near-by mountain resorts. YELL KINGS

BRUIN SPIRIT was held at a high pitch throughout the year by Don Strain, yell king. Whether it was before the football rooting section or assemblies, Don proved capable of extracting that last ounce of yelling spirit which is so vital to athletic encounters. His able assistants were Hayward Andrews and Lambert Gally. Glen Sanderson and Irving Adams acted as Sophomore assistants. With the aid of the Rally committee, the yell leaders were able to offer interesting entertainment during the half-time intermission at football contests. In justice to this group of cheer leaders it must be said that they performed with a proficiency unsurpassed in previous seasons. The combined efforts of the two Rally Chairmen, Burt Anakin, first semester, and Charles Kanne, second semester, with Don Strain and his assistants, were responsible for the commendable card stunts. However, this excellent showing would not have been possible without the cooperation and patience of the student body. The Freshman Class was represented by two live-wire personalities in Jimmy Feinhor and Jim Smith. Along with the upper-class cheer leaders Feinhor and Smith occupied the spotlight in front of U.C.L.A.'s mammoth co-ed rooting section which is known far and wide for its pep and lung capacity. Besides their work at athletic encounters, the yell leaders were always on hand at the football send-offs and rallies.

Assistant yell kings Lambert Gally and Hayward Andrews, Head Man Don Strain, and Soph assistant Glen Sanderson rendered indispensable service in keeping Bruin rooting strength at high pitch throughout the year.

RALLY COMMITTEE

DURING THE past year the Rally Committee has been quite conspicuous for its efficient handling of university functions. Under the supervision of Burt Anakin, first semester chairman, the rooting section put on a series of card stunts which were the best in Bruin history. He was aided by Charles Kanne, who was in charge of the Frosh rally reserves, Bill Bloom, who supervised the games and assemblies, and Frank Wilkinson, who took over the duties of the Homecoming. Charles Kanne took over the position of Rally chairman for the second semester. Under his regime the committee inaugurated a drive to increase U.C.L.A. spirit. With the aid of Maury Grossman, Pep Committee Chairman, the group was responsible for a campaign which brought about more friendliness among students. Automobile drivers were encouraged to give rides to student pedestrians at the intersections near the campus and thereby achieved two ends: the making of friends and the solving of a transportation problem. One of the main reasons for the proficiency of the Rally committee was the energetic manner in which the Frosh rally reserves did their work. A large personnel stood ready all year to give their services. Bob Lewis was their chairman during the second semester. The Men's Do was handled in an efficient manner by the two groups, who were also responsible for the program.

MANAGERS

NO OTHER group on the Campus works so hard for so little recognition and reward as the managers of our various sports, both major and minor. Aiding these managerial groups is genial Charlie Borchard. His work in getting the teams properly outfitted for their journeys, is certainly appreciated. He is ably assisted by Johnny Scura who may be seen doing his bit whenever there is anything to be done. Thousands of articles have to be checked in and out during the year. Not only is the stock room responsible for these but also the senior manager of his sport. This year the senior managers: Kenneth Gifford, baseball; Robert Hall, basketball; Vincent Pence, tennis, and Bud Goldstein, track, were all very efficient. They were ably supported by their junior, soph, and frosh managers who pitched into their work with sincerity and were keenly alive to their duties.

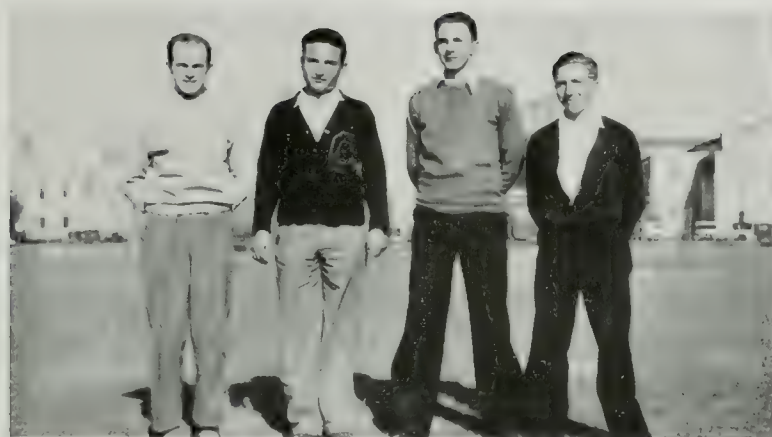

BASKETBALL MANAGERS

MANAGERS

THE HONORARY manager's society, Ball and Chain, has done much to promote an incentive and in a measure give to the managers a system of working up through the ranks to the position of senior manager. With the increasing activity in Bruin sports there has been a demand for greater responsibility and greater activity on the part of the managerial staffs. Each sport has its peculiarities. In Track a manager has to remember to take along everything from a long vaulting pole down to a tiny safety pin. In Crew one must be responsible for the proper functioning of seats, locks, oars and other equipment and see to it also that the shells are properly washed and dried. Basketball, Football, Tennis and all the other sports have their peculiar sides and shortcomings. The association with the men of the sporting world and the desire to serve the teams and the University, are factors that go to make up for the long hours of work done by the managerial service.

BILL SPAULDING
Coach

FOOTBALL

Coach Bill Spaulding characterizes ability, calmness, fairness to players, and determination. A combination of these attributes and an influx of new material, it is hoped by alumni and undergraduates, will soon bring to U.C.L.A. a coast championship. Spaulding is the coach for the job!

Who said it always rains in Oregon? The Bruins seem able to raise a dust wherever they go!

WITH LESS than a week's practice the U.C.L.A. varsity conquered San Diego and Pomona in a double-headed, pre-season tilt, on the Westwood gridiron. The Pomona fray ended 14-6; Funk and Murphy starring. San Diego was snowed under 20-0. Key, Cheshire, and Chavoor ably supported Captain Livesay who did all the scoring.

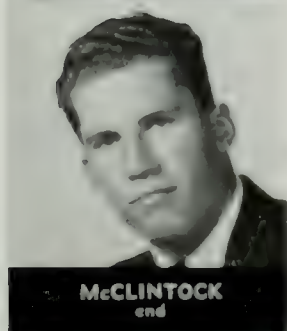

A COMBINATION of over-confidence and lack of practice was the chief reason for U.C.L.A.'s defeat at the hands of Oregon in the first conference game of the season. The Bruins traveled a thousand miles only to lose by a score of 3-26. Blocked punts, fumbles, and intercepted passes were largely responsible for all of Oregon's four touchdowns.

FEATURING A 93 YARD run by Chuck Cheshire, U.C.L.A. defeated Montana in the first conference game of the season, 16-0. Coach Spaulding's eleven displayed a brilliant offense for the first time of the season. Cheshire's long run broke the spirit of the Grizzlies. Second and third stringers played the entire second half. A long drive engineered by Key and Spaulding made the victory decisive.

CALIFORNIA AGGIES proved little competition for U.C.L.A.'S greatest football team. The Bruins took to the air for four tallies, brilliantly played by Lott, Cheshire, Frankovich, and Key. Funk's line bucks, Murphy's runs, and Haradon's quick passing were all climaxed in the last two minutes by Dickerson who blocked a punt and scored.

As three agriculturists wonder what to do about it all, and an Aggie end does a tap dance, Murphy burns around left end.

U.C.L.A.'S FIGHTING Bruin varsity outplayed their northern brothers in the game this year at the Berkeley stadium only to lose in the final moments of the contest. The Uclans fought well from the first and almost scored several times. On one strong offensive drive, Cheshire, Key, and Livesay carried the ball to California's seven yard line before they were stopped.

THE BRUINS kept the ball in Bear territory throughout the third quarter and it began to look as if the game would end in a scoreless tie as in 1933. In the last quarter the Bear offense began clicking and the northerners fought their way to the eighteen yard stripe where the Uclans held for three downs. Then Williams place-kicked his team to victory.

As two Bear players were not enough to keep Cheshire back, a third has to push on his neck. Frankovich looks on.

THE SUSPENSE was broken finally when St. Mary's lost the ball on downs. Now it's the Westwooders turn to stop a Gael and Saint Mary's fights to no avail.

FRESHMEN

The Trotter eleven fought hard and played a smashing, sportsman-like game.

HARRY TROTTER'S team deserves much praise for the showing they made this season. Bowing to L.A.J.C. 16-0 in the first game, the squad showed the need of practice. A week later, the Riverside J.C. team defeated Bruin players 46-0. The Loyola Lion Cubs won the next game by scoring after intercepting a pass and again after scoring on a Bruin fumble. The work of Shuban was outstanding in the backfield.

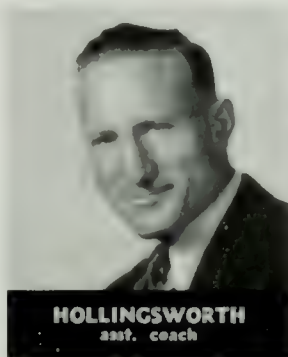

The Frosh team showed some brilliant performances both on the offensive and defensive.

BASKETBALL

Coach Caddy Works is well known by players and fans for his sound and careful planning of both material and basketball strategy. The results of his work are shown as the years bring out the crop of fledglings that have had training under him. As a good fellow there is no one better.

CORDNER GIBSON
Captain

Captain Cordner Gibson has led the University quintet through a very colorful basketball season. He has the personality and drive that it takes to play this game, thought by some to be the toughest of all sports. Gibson has proved not only a good captain but a true Californian.

Accurate shooting was the rule rather than the exception. Many thousand fans saw games this year, which showed a growth in Bruin popularity.

A Bruin casaba tosser tries hard to sink one in the basket but is interfered with by his opponent. The referee and the men anxiously await the outcome.

EMBARKING on a greatly curtailed practice season, Coach Caddy Works took his untested quintet over to Quaker Town to meet the strong Whittier Poets. The Uclans emerged with a 47-30 win but failed to present a smooth-working offense. L.A.J.C. was the next to succumb, dropping a 30-15 tilt to the Bruins. The Universal Pictures quintet provided the Westwooders with its first major opposition. Led by Hyatt, the the strong independent five handed the Bruins their first defeat, 20-11. To date, the Westwooders had revealed little or nothing in the way of scoring ability. However, the defensive play of Maxwell and Ashen, stellar Bruin guards, bolstered the hopes of Uclan fans. Captain Cordner Gibson, Bill Reitz, and John Ball had been the only Bruins to score consistently.

AFTER A week of hard drill, the Bruins set out on their annual barnstorming tour. This trip enabled Coach Works to polish up his offense and experiment with his various combinations. The Uclans began their tour successfully, defeating Fresno State, 36-31, and eking out a 43-41 victory over Chico State in an overtime tilt. After dropping hard-fought frays to St. Mary's and Santa Clara by the margin of one basket, the Westwood band brought their tour to a close by decisively defeating San Jose State, 35-25. Meeting Utah State on the home floor, the Uclans displayed a greatly improved offense but still failed to keep pace with the fast Aggie five. Travelling to San Diego, the Bruins finished their practice campaigns with a pair of victories, 31-28, and 34-25.

MAKING ONE of the most auspicious debuts in Bruin history, Coach Caddy Works' quintet annexed their first conference battle from the towering U.C.B. five by the decisive count of 36-25. Uncovering a heretofore unknown scoring punch, the Uclans functioned smoothly and appeared to be able to score at will. John Ball, sophomore center, whose sterling offensive work during the practice season had merited him a place in the starting lineup, went on a sensational scoring orgy. The spectacular pivot man rolled up nineteen points and turned in some fine defensive work before retiring from the game mid-way in the final period. Bill Maxwell was also instrumental in holding down the Bears' score while Bill Reitz, Ralph McFadden, and Don Ashen all showed up well.

AFTER SUCCUMMING to the irritated Berkeleyites in the second game of the series, 26-38, the Bruins journeyed North to resume the evenly contested feud. Shelby Johns was the hero of the next thrilling conflict which was an overtime affair by coming through with nine timely points which enabled the Uclans to come from behind and eventually win out, 39-37. After a rather dull first half, both teams came to life. Kopke and Meek kept the Bears in the lead most of the time but Johns, Ball, and Reitz enabled the Uclans to stay within striking distance. Last minute scores by Ball and Reitz together with the points made by Johns contributed to the Westwood victory. However, the Bears again came back on the following night to walk off with an easy 38-21 win over the tiring Bruins.

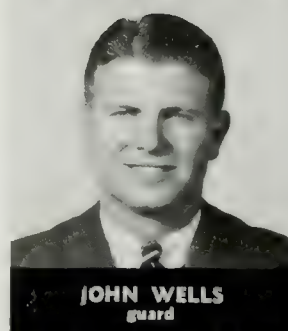

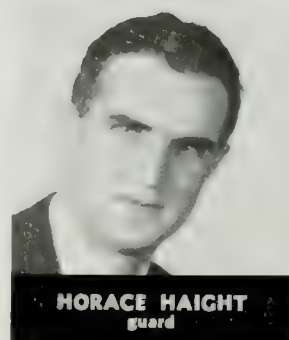

STANFORD

Victory over the Stanford Indians was characterized by such brilliant shooting as we see here by Reitz. He, along with McFadden, and Ashen, rolled up many of the scores in this hotly contested fight.

COACH WORKS sent his team against Stanford fairly confident of victory although the Cards had been the only team to upset the leading S.C. five. Trailing 10-9 at the end of one of the slowest periods ever seen at the Olympic, the surprising Bruins came back to launch a sensational scoring splurge. With only ten minutes to play and the Cards leading 22-15, Ball, Reitz, McFadden, and Ashen rolled up thirteen points in the next four minutes to put the Uclans in front, 28-22. The Westwood clan finished in front, 34-27, despite a valiant Indian rally. Reitz and Ball tied for high point honors while Maxwell and Ashen turned in fine defensive performances. Turner and Moore were the satellites of the Palo Alto quintet. The Bruins should have won with ease had they clicked efficiently.

LEADING MOST of the way, the Westwooders came through with another decisive win over the Cards on the following evening, 38-32. Stanford was a constant threat throughout but failed to keep pace with the steady-playing Uclans. Ball resumed his high-scoring activities, accumulating seventeen points. Orv Appleby and Don Ashen also accounted for many Uclan points while Dinty Moore turned in a fine game for the Cards. Unquestionably, Ashen and Moore were the finest pair of guards to perform in the Olympic this season although they were closely pressed by Maxwell and Oram of S.C. Several weeks later, the then stale Bruins went up to Palo Alto and dropped two listless tussels to the Cards who had improved steadily toward the end of the season and who tied U.C.L.A. for third place in the final standings.

U. S. C.

The Bruins lost the ball as this picture shows and it was promptly snatched by a watchful S.C. man. An exciting moment for all concerned including the photographer for he had to take these pictures in very poor light.

FACING SAM Barry's high-scoring quintet in a series which annually decides the city championship, the Uclans fought hard but emerged on the small end of the score in each of the four encounters. After putting up a great battle in the opener, the Westwooders went down to a close 39-34 defeat. Although the Bruins led most of the time during the first half, Cuttero and Hupp went on a scoring spree to account for twenty-eight points between them. John Ball was again the chief threat for the Uclans, scoring twelve points. Ashen and Maxwell turned in sterling defensive performances. Despite the defeat, Bruin fans were satisfied with the fine showing which Coach Works' five had made against the highly touted Trojans. It was the best battle put up by a Uclan quintet against Troy in several years.

THE TROJANS completely outplayed the Blue and Gold team in the next two engagements and annexed easy victories, 52-22 and 55-22. However, in the season's finale, the under-rated Bruins waged their greatest battle of the year before succumbing, 43-33. Coach Works started a team which included three seniors, Captain Cordner Gibson, Bill Maxwell, and John Wells. Along with Ball and Ashen, who earned positions on the all-conference selections, this aggregation gave Troy an uncomfortable evening. Using a zone defense, the Uclans succeeded in checking Cuttero. However, Hupp was unstoppable, and pressed Ball for high point honors. Ball's nineteen points, the inspired play of Captain Gibson, Wells, and Ashen, and the fact that Maxwell turned in his best game of the season combined to give Uclan fans a chance to cheer.

FRESHMEN

HOPES FOR a strong Bruin freshman quintet were very high when Coaches Dick Linthicum and Si Gibbs first assembled the team. From the outset it was realized that the frosh would have to make up in speed and aggressiveness for what they lacked in stature. The yearlings dropped their opening encounter to Santa Monica J. C., 35-20. After several stiff practice sessions, the freshmen five took on the high-scoring Chapman College cagers and again came out on the short end of the score, 36-23. With the offense beginning to function more smoothly and effectively, the yearlings registered their first victory of the season, downing the potent LaVerne frosh, 35-30. In their next game, the Bruins completely outplayed Bakersfield High and annexed a 34-14 win. Running into sterner opposition on the following night, the frosh dropped a 26-25 thriller to Bakersfield J. C. Coming from behind in the last few seconds of play after trailing their foes from the opening gun the Uclans managed to tie the strong Glendale J.C. five, 25-25. With Ewing, Rothwell, Seiter, Paulin, and Latourette all occupying starring roles, the Bruins beat Santa Barbara High, 24-19.

FRESHMEN

RESTING THEIR hopes for victory upon Les Ewing and John Rothwell, a pair of diminutive sharp-shooters, the Uclans faced the S.C. Tro-Babes in the first of their annual city championship encounters. The heavily favored Trojan yearlings withstood a valiant last period rally by the Bruins, and won the opener 27-20. Rothwell registered twelve points for the Westwooders, while Paulin and Latourette proved to be satellites on defense. In the second battle, the Uclan frosh nearly succeeded in snapping the lengthy winning streak of their cross-town rivals. The Trojan yearlings were forced to stage a great rally before they finally overtook the battling Villagers and annexed a hard-fought 24-21 victory. Ewing, Clem Clement, Jack Seiter, and Rothwell turned in their best game of the season and completely outplayed the over-confident Tro-Babes up until the closing minutes of play. Bringing their season to a close, the freshmen dropped a listless fray to the undefeated Trojan yearlings, 42-20. Seiter and Ewing combined with Hugh Powell in a vain effort to keep pace with their high-scoring rivals. Clement turned in a brilliant defensive performance.

First row: Goodenough, Seiter, Paulin, McHargue, Comer. Second row: Steinen, Lauten, Rowel, Ewing, Clement, Rothwell, Hoffman, Eisen, Woods, Stoeffel.

TENNIS

Coach Bill Ackerman took time from his administrative duties to train his cohorts, not only in the grand game of tennis, but also in character and cooperation. If the players show as much improvement in the future as they have in the past, next season promises to be a banner one for U.C.L.A.

First Row: Zander, Stewart, Uhl, Pierson, Hubbard, Cormack, Bidwell. Second Row: Coach Ackerman, Captain Briggs, Miller, Williams, Haight, Stanford, Robinson, Graftsky.

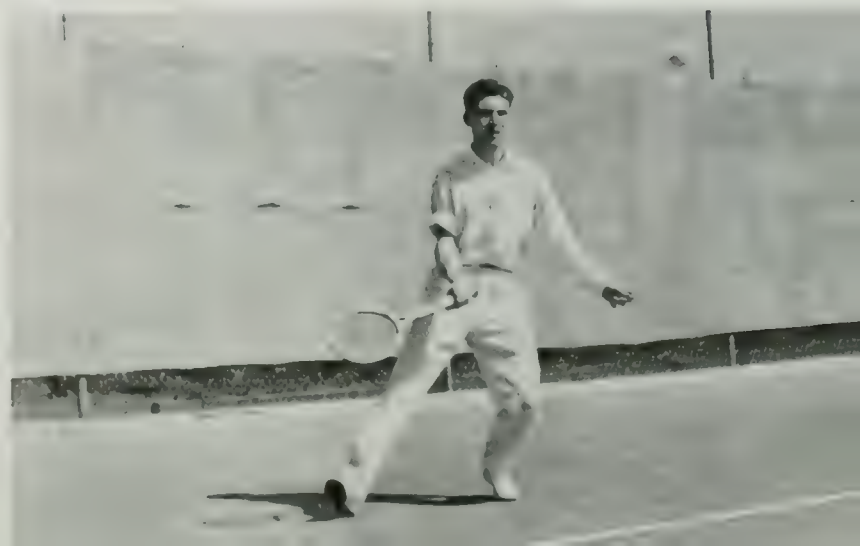

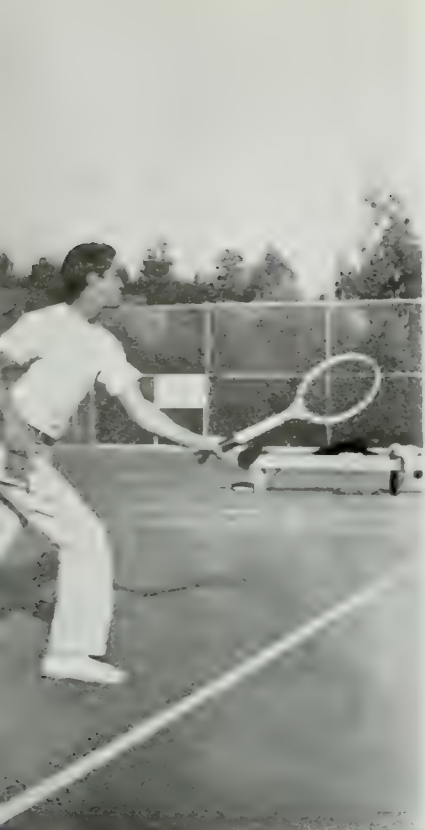

T E N N I S

Stanley Briggs proved himself a smashing tennis player as well as an able leader. Through his consistently good, and sometimes sensational playing, he was an inspiration to his team mates. Although he fights hard to win, even in defeat, he carries his head high and smiles graciously.

STANLEY BRIGGS
Captain

Here we see one of the many reasons why Coach Ackerman's team was considered a double threat whenever it encountered any opponent on the courts.

U. S. C. S E R I E S

Graftsky gets off a nice return. His playing showed up well whether he was on the offensive or defensive.

CAPTAIN STAN Briggs played the best tennis of the day in defeating Carr of the Trojans, by a score of 6-0, 6-2. The latter ranks very high in southern net lists. The only other victory for the Bruin team came in the third doubles when Stanford and Cormack defeated Troy's duo in three hard sets. This meet showed that the Bruins would be hard to beat in the return engagement on the local courts. Closeness in every match, except the feature singles, marked the meet throughout. Brilliant play and untiring effort characterized all the court encounters. Although the Bruins did not fare so well in the Pacific Coast Conference, it is a certainty that they would have won in most any other section of the country. The team for the next year, including Stewart, Bidwell, Haight, Miller, Uhl, Rovinson, and Cormack from the present varsity and Heldman, Anderson and Seliger from the Frosh, will help offset the brilliant playing of Captain Briggs and Stanford.

Promoted from the ranks of the Freshmen were Pierson and Bidwell, who have turned in creditable performances under the coaching of Bill Ackerman and Captaincy of Stan Briggs.

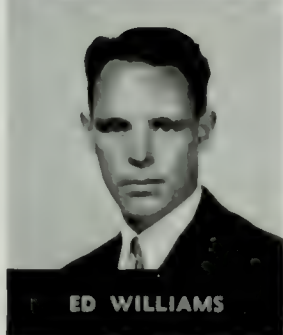

STANFORD SERIES

Miller, Haight, and Robinson as well as Stewart had a keen eye for placement of those elusive balls.

JOE ROBINSON

ED WILLIAMS

BEFORE THE largest crowd of the tennis season, the Indians from Palo Alto, one of the best of collegiate teams in the country, won eight out of nine matches from the hapless Bruins. It was another case of individual match "breaks" that decided the issue. The Stanford lads came from behind to win the majority of sets. George Bidwell proved too good for his former high school partner, Seward, and won the Bruin's only victory. Captain Briggs showed his old fight, but lost in three sets. U.C.L.A. was defeated 9-0 at the hands of the Indian racquet-wielders. As in the California meet rain was responsible for the debacle. The Bruins, playing indoors, never had a chance with the sizzling hot playing displayed by the Red team. Miller of the Bruins showed well against Bob Pommer. The Bruin doubles team of Stanford and Robinson gave the highly touted Law and Lynch team a terrific battle. With the results of this game proving unsatisfactory the Bruins look forward to better weather conditions for the remainder of the season.

When the game is on no one has time to consider the perfect form. This one masters during long years of training. Here we see coordination, ease of stroke and a lesson in form.

CALIFORNIA S E R I E S

Graftsky's game on the tennis courts elicited much praise from fans and commendation from his teammates.

IN THE opening conference match with California, the Bears won after three deuce sets in each of their victories. They proved too powerful for the Westwood racqueteers. But for a few deciding points the 6 to 3 margin would have been in the Bruin's favor. The meet was featured by the Bruin Captain's valiant stand with Bennett of the Bears, in which the latter won in three torrid sets. In winning for the Bruins, Stewart and the doubles teams showed great execution of form, and the will to win for their Alma Mater. In California's own lair, the Bruins were no match for the Northerners. Many of the matches were close, but the slow courts and lack of practice, caused by the rain, hurt the Bruin's chances no little. The result of these conditions and the stellar playing of the Bears was a 9 to 0 win for the Big Brothers. For the Bruins, Captain Briggs, Stewart, and Miller played well; but the Bears had too strong a team as a whole for the Bruins to compete favorably with them.

ERWIN ZANDER

JOHN BALL

Briggs poised all ready to return his opponent's ball. Steadiness and coordination must be drilled into the men so that these attributes will come along with good form. Captain Briggs exemplifies these qualities.

ARIZONA SERIES

The sky's the limit for Stan Briggs when he reaches for a high one. We can hardly say he goes up in the air, however.

ARIZONA, THE border conference champions, traveled a few hundred miles to invade the haunts of the Bruins and to do battle on the local courts. The Blue and Gold racquetters proved too strong for the Wildcats and won by a score of 7 matches to 2. The Bruin team proved more well rounded in this match than any previous encounter. They showed this by entirely subduing the Wildcat aggregation. Arizona put up a stiff fight in most of the sets but the Bruins won through experience gained in previous encounters and much good placement and smart returning was witnessed by the spectators. Captain Stanley Briggs again stole the spotlight as he did in the previous match with S.C., although we were severely beaten by the cross town group. This time Captain Briggs proved he had that spark to come through in a very tense moment and won the very close tilt by a few points. U.C.L.A. looks forward to the time when more intersectional meets may be held and the Bruins may also go to the other states to play off our series.

Stanford's court work was consistently good and showed much improvement during the season. He and Stewart both showed smooth stroking, good tennis form and a winning fight.

O J A I TOURNAMENT

John Ball getting off a serve which more than likely was an ace as was a custom with him.

LAST YEAR the varsity team defended its title and won in the Ojai Valley tennis tournament, but this year the Bruins were not quite so lucky. Briggs was halted in his progress by Bill Seward of Stanford in the singles matches while the pair of Indians, Ben Day and Bob Pommer, smashed the hopes of Briggs and Stewart in the doubles. It seemed as though Stanford dominated the 1935 Ojai tournament in the same manner in which they had taken the Pacific Coast Conference race. The tournament however was full of thrills and chills. The latter for Briggs when in an exciting three set match with Seward, an umpire's decision against him, when he was leading 4-3, robbed him of a game that might have meant his victory. His scores for this fast set were 7-5, 4-6, 6-0. Briggs showed what he really was capable of doing in the tussle with the Trojan netman Knemeyer. With powerful ground strokes he turned him back 6-4, 6-4. The fastest and most furious battle took place between Briggs and Stewart of the Bruins, and Dey and Pommer of Stanford. Pommer's brilliant play and placement tactics decided the match, 7-5, 6-3.

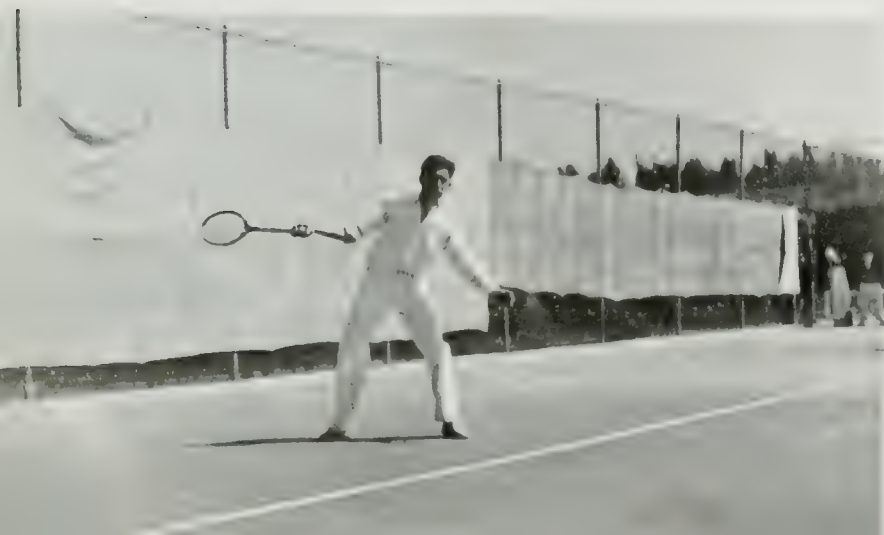

CHARLES CORMACK

HORACE HAIGHT

Stewart's being able to return the drives as well as play an offensive game gave him many advantages over his rival. He played a smashing game.

FRESHMEN SEASON

Briggs returns a sizzling one with perfect form and apparently with little effort.

SAM STANFORD

HUGH HUBBARD

EIGHT OUT of nine matches were won by the Bruin tennis yearlings and that sole defeat was due to the absence of first string men from the courts. Big things are expected of the teams of next year with the return of such brilliant racquet wielders as Julius Heldman, Owen Anderson, Vic Seliger, Frank Clark, Bruce Harris, Bob Leck, Chet Druliner, Don PirkI, Nigel Robinson, and Al Rabinowitz. These men played very good tennis and gained the unofficial coast championship by beating the S.C. Trojans, who in turn beat the Stanford courtmen. Then Stanford fell to defeat before the U.C.B. frosh. Hence, technically the Bruin frosh team won the series. The score in the S.C. meet was 6 matches to 3 in the Westwood peagreeners' favor. Not being content to a stay lower classmen in the sport of tennis, Julius Heldman and Owen Anderson entered the open mixed doubles and doubles events at the Ojai Valley tennis tournament, where they gained invaluable experience and came face to face with many stars of the Tennis world.

Coach Ackerman, Leck, Druliner, PirkI, Harris, Clark, Seliger, Heldman, Rabinowitz, Robinson.

TRACK

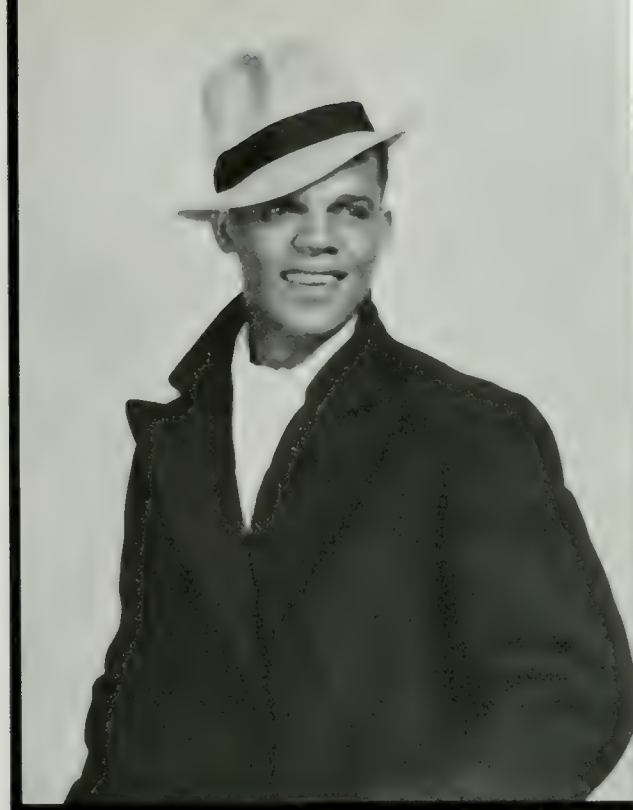

Coach Harry Trotter's 1935 team reflects the earnest and sincere work that he has put in on the cindermen this year. He has again proven that U.C.L.A. can produce national figures in the field of track. Those leaving the team hold a warm appreciation for Coach Trotter and those who will return to the team next year look forward to being with him again.

JAMES LU VALLE
Captain

Captain James LuValle has had so many tributes and compliments paid to him that we all deeply appreciate his worth to the Bruin teams and to the University. Yet under all this, Jimmy has kept his democratic spirit and is the same cheerful fellow that we always knew. He has performed in an outstanding manner on both California and Eastern ovals.

Track is known as a sport in which one must be an individual. Yet more than that he must possess a sense of time, balance and coordination not known in other sports. Here we see Dwire, star Bruin hurdler, in perfect form.

DRAKE RELAYS

LuValle looming out of the picture as he did in the relays, was outstanding in winning his lap in 48.5 seconds and helping Vejar, Duda, and Young to win the Iowa classic of 1935.

U. C.L.A.'S SENSATIONAL relay team composed of Captain James LuValle, Ray Vejar, Ed Duda, and Bob Young, came through with another smashing victory at the 1935 Drake Relays. Although the effects of the dust storm were being felt in Des Moines, Iowa, the men came through for a win cheered on by 8000 assembled fans. The University team was watched with much interest since they were the defenders of the Major John L. Griffin trophy which they won during the 1934 season in the same oval. If the Bruin team has the good fortune to receive it next year the trophy will become the permanent property of the school. Individual times for the race were as follows: Duda, starting from the standing position clipped off his lap in 49.1 seconds, Vejar ran second in 49.3, and Young came next to complete his lap in 49.7 seconds. Then Captain LuValle took the baton five yards behind the lead and burned around the oval to win in a 48.5 lap. In the preliminary heat the Blue and Gold team led all the way and won easily in slow time. To the team for winning, and to the excellent coaching of Harry Trotter go the plaudits of the University.

Lott, Murphy, LuValle, and Vejar receiving medals and congratulations from the former record holders.

Miller tried hard to either get around his man or out of the box several times. When he finally got away he made a good showing in this, the 880. He is shown just as he started to pull through the lane.

THE NCAA meet, held in the Coliseum, brought forth a galaxy of star track men from the leading colleges. It gave U.C.L.A. a good criterion on which to judge their past efforts and also to plan the coming season. Thousands of fans showed that the Southland was track conscious and that stars of the cinderpath were a drawing card. This was gratifying to the teams because in track as in any other sport support is a factor in performance. Outstanding entrants for the Bruins were Reitz, Valentine, Massey in their respective events of High Jump and Pole Vault. Jimmy Miller was probably the red letter man of the day as he broke the record in the half mile in a race that had the fans on their feet. Beverley Keim ran a good race as did most of our oval men. Bad luck overcame Bill Murphy in the 880. He entered the meet only to find himself out with a wrenched back so that it was impossible for him to finish. The Bruins showed up well from start to finish but for a few minor places.

Perfect vaulting characterized the ICAA meet and this event was one of the outstanding features of the exciting day.

U. C. L. A. 111 P O M O N A 29

THE TRACK meet was won from Pomona despite illness, injury, and bad news of ineligibility. The adverse conditions were not strong enough to keep the Bruins from rolling up the score, 111-29. Instead of the handicaps tending to make the Westwood cindermen discouraged they only spurred them on to higher accomplishments. Carl Dwire, for instance, entered the meet as the underdog to Pomona's supposed flash, Philip Newman, but the Bruin hurdler finished to find he had established a new record for high hurdles and badly beaten his opponent. He was clocked at 14.9 seconds for the 120 yard barriers. Then there was "Iron Man" Nordli, who, after running the mile and winning it, entered the two mile and tied for first place with Stichter. Bill Murphy also turned in a championship race upsetting the far famed superiority of Dick Pollard, the Claremont half miler. Even if Bill Reitz couldn't be there, Kenny Griffin and Chuck Carlin made eight points for U.C.L.A. All in all the Bruins were quite proud of themselves. They captured fifteen first places in sixteen events; the only event to be forfeited was the hammer throw.

Udell and MacLennan grit their teeth and pull hard in the final dash for the tape as Pomona goes down to defeat.

THE MEET at Berkeley demonstrated the superiority of the northern branch of the University over the southern, in all track and field events with the exception of the broad jump. Even so, the oval event served to give a good view of U.C.L.A.'s chances for the 1935 season. The outstanding event of the day was the marvelous performance of Kenji Marumoto who outjumped Berkeley's finest, to establish a new U.C.L.A. record in the broad jump of 23 feet, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Bad luck seemed to dog Vejar's footsteps as he was forced to run in the outside lane, but through sheer effort he turned in a second place. Another disappointment occurred for the fans when Jimmy Lu-Valle was pulled from the 880 by Coach Trotter, but since this was his first half mile of the season Trotter wished to take no chances. Those who understood the relative strength of the two teams realized that Hamilton's squad is the strongest in the history of the northern school. As the score of the meet showed, U.C.L.A. measured up very well in such performances as were turned in by Keim, Murphy, Nordli, Massey, Valentine and others, who earned the points for the Bruins.

Nordli battles it out for second place with Hickerson of U.C. as Heavey proves the Mile rather light work and wins the race.

U.C.L.A. CINDERMEN amassed exactly twice as many points as both of their opponents combined. San Jose State and the Engineers from Cal Tech were virtually snowed under by the Bruins in the triangular meet held on our own cinder-path. Captain Jimmy LuValle's performance was a real thrill to watch as he ran his first race of the season, the half mile, in 1 minute 57 seconds. He was out ahead of the field the entire distance, Keim being the only one to threaten his lead. Just to prove this wasn't a full day for him, Jimmy strode a 220, finishing inches behind Al Creal, the Cal Tech star of the sprints. A real upset of the meet was staged by MacLennan who smothered Creal in the century, winning the dash in 9.9 seconds. Coach Harry Trotter probably expected to lose the quarter since Vejar was out of the running with flu. Atwood and Duda however made up their minds to take the race and pulled through, first and third, respectively—a beautiful performance. In the mile Nordli ran a smooth race and it was unfortunate that he tried to run the two mile, for he tied up and turned the race over to that little veteran two miler, Stichter, who won in 10:19.9.

LuValle breaks the tape as admiring fans watch from the track side. Senior Manager Goldstien is on hand with the score board.

VARSITY CINDERMEN suffered their second conference defeat this year at the hands of Dink Templeton's Stanford Indians in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Bruin trackmen showed much improvement over early season performances despite the score of 82-49, and ten meet records were broken. Bill Murphy broke his own 1934 mark in the half-mile event, while Scott Massey and Dick Valentine bettered the pole vault record. Kenji Marumoto broke a record that led the Bruins to a clean sweep in the broad jump. Captain Jimmy LuValle lost to Blackman of Stanford in the quarter-mile event but won the 220 feature easily in the time of 21.5. Duncan MacLennan battled furiously for the Bruins for second place but was beaten both in the century and in the 220 by Voight of Stanford. Thrills were provided for the crowd when Murphy passed March of Stanford and Keim of the Westwooders in the last hundred yards of the half-mile to win handily in 1:56.4. Dwire was the victim of bad luck both in the high and low hurdles. In each event the trouble occurred when he tripped on a hurdle and lost his stride. Reitz, Carlin, Keim, and Martin aided the cause of Trotter's team by helping to gather points in their events.

Keim and Grimes of the Bruins lead March of Stanford on the second lap, followed by Murphy who finally broke the tape.

ALTHOUGH THE Giant War Horse of Troy rode rough-shod over the Westwood Bruins, the sons of California did not go down to defeat easily. The will to win for the University, and to bring honor to Trotter's team of '35, fired the Bruin spirit from the very first crack of the gun until the final tape was broken. Jimmy LuValle gave McCarthy such a close race that only a stride separated them at the finish. "Smiling Jimmy" was nosed out by Draper in the fur-long. In the half mile, Bill Murphy gave the four thousand fans a real thrill. He came up from behind and all but snatched the race from the cocky S.C. cinderman. Ross Bush won the race in 1:54:8 and Bill Murphy was clocked in the time of 1:55. Beverley Keim, too, set a very fast pace for the first lap only to fall behind the lead in the last yards of the race. Carl Dwire, Trotter's hurdle ace, again had a streak of bad luck in the low hurdles. After placing second in the highs he returned to the oval determined to win the lows. Crashing into the hurdle near the finish, however, Dwire was thrown off balance just long enough for two U.S.C. men to pass him. Chuck Carlin brought home the field honors by nearing Reitz's record within a half an inch.

One of the most outstanding men on Trotter's team was Kenji Marumoto who broke the broad jump record setting the new one of 23 feet 8 inches.

WASHINGTON 63

TO SOME sports fans the track meet between Washington and U.C.L.A. was just another victory for the local cindermen but to those deeply interested, the defeat of Washington was a great deal more meaningful. These same northern Huskies had handed the Stanford Indians a drubbing to the tune of 68-63. Stanford had won from us by a large score. Washington traveled to meet the Bruin bear team and were beaten by a score identical with that of the Stanford-Washington contest. Outstanding for the Westwooders was LuValle who took the 220, 440 and helped win the relay; Reitz, who unwound his arm that he had been nursing for some weeks, won the javelin and topped it off by tying for first in the high jump; which gave him the highest record of his career of six feet two inches. Among those representing the field was Kenny Rogers, aided by Funk, who took the shot put by an easy margin; Marumoto showed his best and easily took the broad jump with Young coming in a close second; Massey and Valentine tied for first in the pole vault to round out the victory in this section. Due to a mix-up between the Bruin runners as to the time for the first lap of the half mile, Murphy was taken by a short margin by Palmason of Washington. When the relay event came the score stood 63-63. Duda started the race with a slow first lap but nevertheless the team came through with flying colors to win the contest with the margin of five points and also to give a brilliant end to the exciting Bruin Track season.

Charles Carlin turned in stellar performances this season and kept creeping up on the record set by Bill Reitz in the Javelin.

F R E S H M E N

THE FRESHMAN Track men have proved themselves worthy of much favorable comment this season. If the Trotter teams of the future have the background of the teams coached by Elvin Drake, U.C.L.A. can rest assured that the Track outlook for the ensuing years will be a brilliant one. The first meet with L.A.J.C. went as predicted; the yearlings from Westwood were snowed under by a much superior team. The meet was held on the Vermont Campus oval where the outstanding event of the day was staged when Eisman annexed glory for the Drake team by winning the hurdles in the slow time for this flash of 16.1. Santa Monica J.C. was not so lucky as its northern rival. When this squad traveled up to Westwood to encounter the Bruin Yearlings, it returned home with the short end of a 67 $\frac{2}{3}$ to 63 $\frac{1}{3}$ score. The relay race was the deciding factor of the meet. Coach Elvin Drake's team was trailing by $\frac{1}{3}$ of a point. Clyde Campbell, Mel Nickerson, Art Caldecott, and Al Smith took an early lead and turned in a brilliant performance to win the meet. Going after greater laurels, the Freshman Track artists met and completely conquered the Cal Tech yearlings with very little difficulty. Fred Eisman again took high point honors.

Campbell and Caldecott take the Fairfax 440 man into camp.

FRESHMEN

NOT CONTENT with sweeping the field in their own league, the Bruin Frosh took on the powerful Fairfax High track men and out scored them 58-46. Perhaps the absence of some of the hurdlers from the Fairfax team caused their defeat, but the Bruins were also without the services of our ace pole vaulter. The Westwood cindermen next took up the battle with Samohi. Drake's team again showed the outstanding performances of Eisman, Burcham, Ryland, Baird, Yates, and Hobart. Also included among the outstanding men were the names of the relay team which has been functioning well; Fichtelman, Al Smith, Caldecot, Riley, Nickerson, Camusi, and Hirson. A terrific battle was on as the season drew to a close and the Trojan Babes contested with the Drake men for track supremacy; 108-23 was the final score. Sweeping the shot-put, high jump, discus, javelin, and 220 yard dash, the Tro-Babes had a tremendous start, but the cindermen from Westwood managed to collect one first, four seconds, and six thirds. Exerting real effort Ray Hawkins annexed a third in both the mile and two mile. With the spirit that Coach "Ducky" Drake instills into his men, and with the type of men he is now turning into cinderman, much can be expected of our future teams.

BEN WALLIS
Coach

C R E W

Coach Ben Wallis expresses a fine and likeable personality, a fairness, coupled with pertinent knowledge of his sport. His unceasing efforts to bring his Bruin crews up to the very top are appreciated by crewmen and students alike. Coach Wallis, if given the funds and material, will show the nation that the West can develop winning crews second to no other University.

Cooper, Mortenson, Brown, O'Conner, Gulick, Phillips, Bell, Smith, Grossman (coxswain) comprise the 1935 varsity, tireless workers and true sportsmen, of which U.C.L.A. may be justly proud.

C R E W

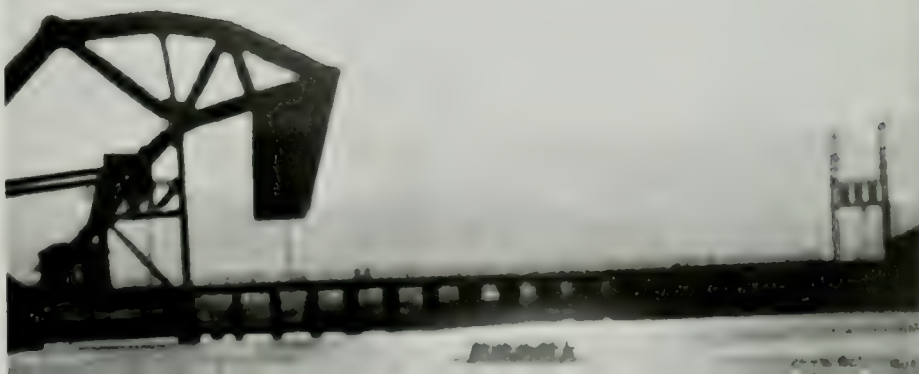

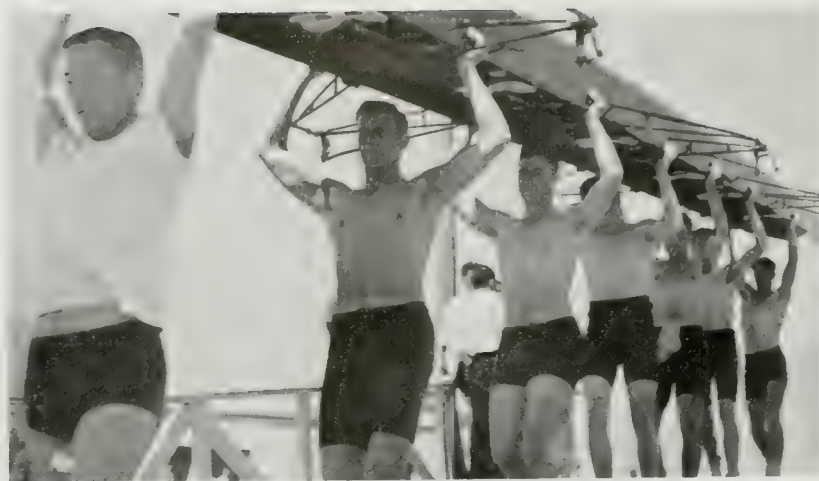

Oarsman Gordon Bell, Stroke of the varsity eight, is known for his good sportsmanship, knowledge of his work, and for a great devotion to his sport. He was a consistent, even, and calm strokesman which gave his teammates more confidence and spurred them on.

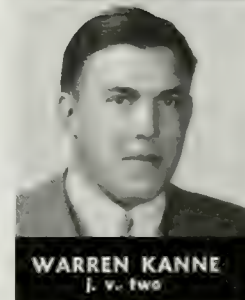

GORDON BELL

A place of modernistic beauty, shimmering sunlight, and long intriguing shadows is the Los Cerritos estuary where the industrious Bruin crews practice until late in the evening.

The technique of putting a boat into the water is one of the many lessons one has to learn to be an oarsman.

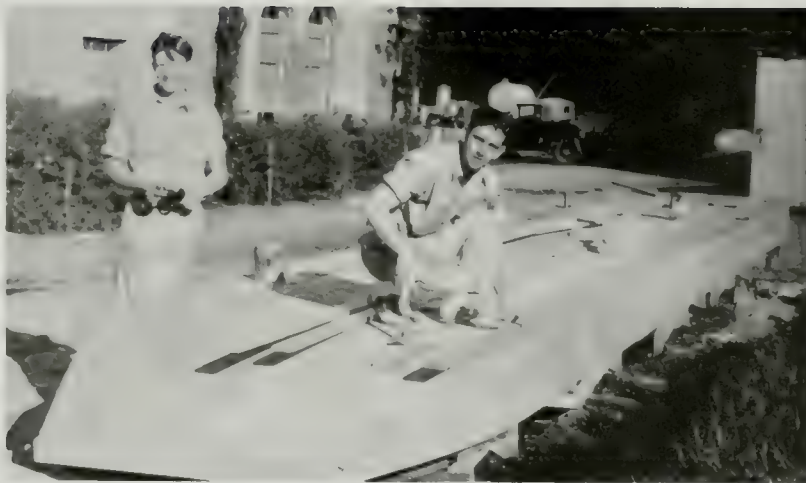

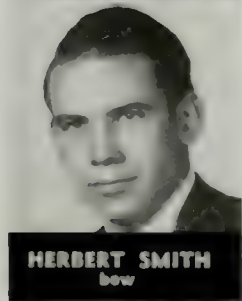

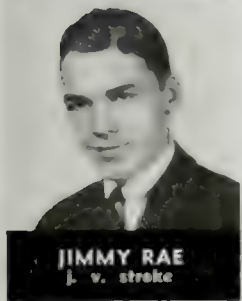

PRE-SEASON

CREW SEASON this year has shown an added interest and a furthered devotion on the part of the crew. Although the sport is rather new for the fans of the southwest, it is rapidly gaining popularity. There must be something to it, one reasons, when a group of young Bruin huskies will travel sixty miles each day to do about eight miles of rowing. Of course, there is a thrill to it! That thrill is reflected by those stalwart young men who travel to Los Cerritos channel. There is a certain routine followed in these practices. Walter Bush, director of the equipment and one of the best boatmen on the coast, makes the five spear-like boats ready for use. After the men finish dressing, group by group they launch their boat under the direction of their coxswain, and put out upon the channel for a vigorous work out. Ben Wallis in the coach's speed boat directs the five shells.

Poised for the start of a fast race down the course, the Bruin crew is snapped by the photographer. Choppy water and passing boats create a menace to the frail shells.

Bell and Cooper worked laboriously on the training barge. Here we see them giving the cameraman a smile.

PRE-SEASON

COACH BEN Wallis stands up with a huge megaphone, shouts instructions, and the men row up the inlet for a few miles. Then they rest, while Wallis corrects their faults and helps the men to better their rowing form. This process is repeated for several miles. The voyage takes the little fleet out toward the breakwater where changes in position are made by drawing the boats alongside each other. Then the return journey is started. Many cadences are set by the coxswains, a few racing starts are practiced, and finally they all engage in a fifteen minute race. One can see the perfection of the well trained varsity over the jayvee in their perfectly timed strokes, their smoothness of power, and their rhythmic rowing. The men shower off the boats as well as themselves. Utmost care is taken of the shells which are wiped dry and stored away. Thus do the Bruins toil to be crewmen.

Showing good form and an even stroke, the coxswain urges the crew down the channel—just one of their many workouts in preparation for the meets to come.

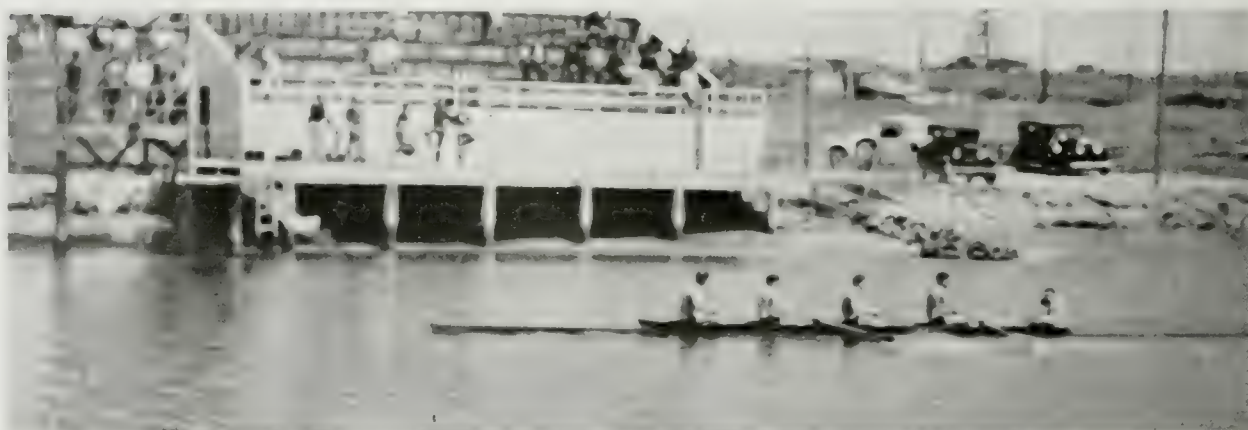

Senior manager Bob Curtis helps the boys get set before pulling out for a practice run down the channel.

SACRAMENTO JAYSEE

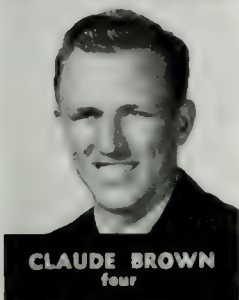

CREW FANS once again saw oarsmen sweeping down the Long Beach course when U.C.L.A., Sacramento J.C., and Long Beach prep schools started the 1935 rowing season. After many intensive workouts before this opening race, the Bruins showed perfect form and well guided strokes. Much has been said about this race and although the Bruins lost to Sacramento by only a foot it cannot be said the race was a fair demonstration of the varsity's ability. At the start the Sacramento boat pulled out ahead of the local shell and held a good lead. The Bruin shell did not begin a faster stroke until so near the end of the course that it was impossible to regain the distance. It was noticeable too that the most experienced men were not in the boat and the usual coxswain was missing from the shell. What the Bruins lost in their race, the pea-greeners made up as they took the race from the northerners to avenge the defeat, both for last season, and the varsity's debacle of the day.

The four man shell is seen scudding down the Long Beach channel at a fast clip, cutting aside the reflections of neighboring piers of the stadium.

Coach Wallis takes great pains in directing the crews. Here he is seen giving a bit of advice to his oarsmen.

CALIFORNIA BERKELEY

COACH WALLIS'S Bruin varsity never stroked a smoother, more rhythmic race, than the U.C.B.-U.C.L.A. contest. They did lose from the standpoint of actually winning the race but won much admiration from the fans, as they were acclaimed in the most perfect stroking form of the season. The greatest improvement was seen since the start of the crew season. As the usual shout of, "They're off," arose, Coach Ebright's eight from the north was seen to pull ahead. This lead was held until about the 1500 meter mark. Pulling a low powerful stroke the Bears were trailed a length and a half by the Bruins. Then the coxswain of the local boat hit up the stroke to a faster pace. The distance between the two boats lessened. Faster, still faster, the southern crew pulled. Then the Berkeley eight brought into play a very powerful fast cadence, the result of which gave to the Golden Bears the 1935 race. The improvement shown by the local crewmen forecasts a win for the local oarsmen when they meet Washington in the near future.

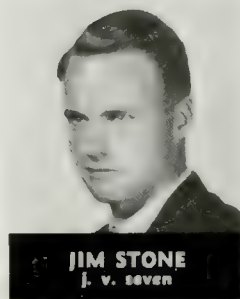

Oars flash and men pull valiantly to the timing of the coxswains as the eight from Sacramento noses out the Bruin shell by only a few feet.

THE JUNIOR Varsity has shown a real fight all season and has given the varsity crew much tough competition in practice races. There is no doubt that Coach Wallis's hopes for the coming year depend a great deal on these up and coming oarsmen. This season showed great improvement in Hubbard, Kanne, Hoeffle, and Zipperman. The latter two receiving letters of varsity dimensions. Dugan, Streeton, and Moore were changed about a great deal as were O'Brien and O'Flaherty. Jim Stone showed consistent effort. Both he and Jimmy Rae were outstanding men in the J.V. boat. The Bruin Jayvee lost to Sacramento, as did both of the Frosh shells, by slight margins. The Junior Varsity also took defeat at the hands of the Bears from the North. The power packed into all of Ebright's eights again showed itself in their Jayvee crew.

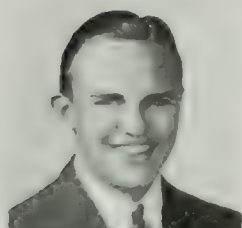

In the glimmering sunlight reflected by giant tanks the frail shells pause for rest and correction before resuming their strenuous workout of the evening.

DON LOCKE
asst. coach

THE STIFFEST race of the season for the Bruin yearling crew was the U.C.B.-U.C.L.A. encounter, in which the Northern Branch took the race right out of the Bruins' hands to win in seven minutes flat. It was noticeable that the same type of stroking was used by the cubs as was employed by the Ebright varsity eight—a long smooth powerful stroke. The Berkeley oarsmen finished a length or so ahead of the Westwooders. The second Bruin boat also went down to defeat. The next encounter was with the Long Beach prep schools and this row-fest was also a defeat for the local freshmen. This season, however, is the first time many of these men have ever been in a shell. They tried hard, gained knowledge and experience, and in so doing have laid the foundation for the future jayvees and varsity eights. To Coach Don Locke goes the credit for turning out these improved oarsmen.

They're away! Sixteen oars ply the still water, sixteen backs strain in rhythm to the command, and the boats are off, in the California-U.C.L.A. rowing regatta.

JACK FOURNIER

BASEBALL

Utilizing his years of experience and training received at the hands of the big league baseball teams, Coach Jack Fournier ably demonstrated his ability in coaching the 1935 baseball team for U.C.L.A. Well liked and respected, he coached his horsehiders on to many victories until the end of the season showed championship performance.

BASEBALL

LOWELL MCGINNIS
Captain

Enthusiasm, good sportsmanship, and always a fighting spirit carried Captain Lowell McGinnis through the season with much popularity and respect from fans and fellow players. He played a steady game behind the plate as well as in the field. His knowledge and liking for his sport are undeniable. McGinnis has only started on his ladder of success.

Murphy steals base just before one of the Loyola basemen catches a long one off to his side. The pre season games saw many exciting plays of this kind.

PRE-SEASON

The team is seen on their toes as the pitcher runs to tag an opponent. The catcher stands ready to receive the ball.

Some of the pre-season games held lots of excitement. Here is a Bruin getting sat on for his efforts in reaching base.

ONE OF the most strenuous preliminary seasons a Bruin nine has ever played was scheduled for the 1935 varsity. Coach Fournier purposely arranged the difficult competition in order to put the squad through a hard enough test so that they would be ready for the strenuous Conference season. Losing after a closely fought game the Whittier Poets were the first victims of the varsity. Murphy and Spaulding came through with timely hits to score both runs in the 2 to 1 victory. The Bruins kept up their winning streak by taking two out of three games from Tom Lieb's Lions from Loyola, by scores of the first, 7 to 5; the second, 9 to 7, and losing the last one, 3 to 5. Reichle, Baca, Ferguson, and Olsen pitched well in this series, and were helped tremendously by great hitting on the part of Norm Mitchell, Lee Frankovich, and Captain McGinnis. The National Baseball School proved too experienced for the local nine and took the series. Olsen pitched masterfully in the second game, which was won by the Bruins, allowing only five scratch hits. Bill Spaulding kept up his consistent hitting, getting two for three and driving in the winning runs. The first and third games went to the N.B.S. after very interesting tussles, especially the latter which went eleven innings. U.C.L.A. also defeated Douglas and Chapman in close games to wind up the practice season.

THE BRUINS started the season against the undefeated Santa Clarans and took the Broncs for a buggy ride in two games by the scores of 9 to 6 and 6 to 5. Ferguson and Baca toiled on the mound for the Uclans with Toomey behind the plate in the first game. After trailing 6 to 2, the Westwooders touched Banks, heretofore undefeated, for five runs on two hits, three walks, and two errors in the seventh inning to sew up the old ball game. Stewart and Spaulding proved the hitting stars for the winners, each getting two hits. The second game of the series was a thriller for the full nine innings. Although the Bruins scored five runs in the first inning, the Northerners tied it up by getting four in the sixth and one in the seventh. But the local squad came back in the eighth to forge ahead by one run garnered through hits off the bats of Captain McGinnis and McClintock. Olson pitched the whole game for the winners, and was given good support by his team mates. The much trodden Santa Clarans fired themselves up just long enough to wallop the Westwooders in the third game which was played on the winner's lot. U.C.L.A. was favored to make it three in a row over the Broncs, but was upset by a 7 to 4 score. Hugh Ferguson started well but faltered in the later innings.

SAINT MARY'S

The candid camera catches the ball reaching base before one of the team. In other words, he's through.

The catcher loses his chance to grab this one as one of our men connect for a perfectly placed hit.

IN THE first game, played in Moraga, the Gaels swarmed over the Bruins, and won by the overwhelming score of 16 to 1. Jack Flanagan of St. Mary's was hot, and he only missed a shut out through a misplay on the part of one of his team mates. Eli Baca started for the Fournier squad, but was the victim of shabby support from the rest of the team, five Westwood errors placing him in hot water constantly. On the other hand, the Northern team could not do anything wrong. In the second game, the Gaels started from where the first ended and won in a much closer game. Olson pitched well for the losers, but couldn't keep the hard hitting Moragans in check, and lost a hard fought and well pitched game, 4 to 2. Counts, the Bruin first baseman, played sensationally in the field. Toomey starred behind the plate in handling many hard chances in the form of foul balls. The Bruins finally came to life in the third game. Coach Fournier must have fed the boys raw meat for breakfast on the morn of the last game, for the team battled tooth and nail to win, after coming from behind several times, by a score of 11 to 7. Olson, Ferguson, and Baca all toiled on the mound for the Bruins, and each hurled creditably.

CAMPUS

STANFORD

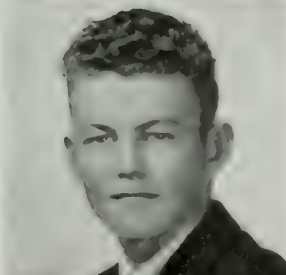

With such efforts to reach the bag as seen in this picture it is little wonder U.C.L.A. had such a good team.

Excellent batting was another attribute of Coach Fournier's nines. Many hits were obtained in most games.

AFTER LEADING the Cards 2 to 0, an over-confident Bruin team allowed the Reds five runs in the fifth inning in the first game. This lead was stretched to 7 to 2, by the next inning, and then the Bruins started growling. The aroused Bruins pushed over four runs in the sixth, two in the eighth, and the winning marker in the last half of the ninth. The final score read 9 to 8, in favor of the Westwood team. Ferguson pitched well until the fateful fifth, and Baca relieved him in grand style, allowing only one run for the rest of the game. Stewart and McClintock showed well at the bat, as did Baca. The second game proved easy for the home team as it touched three Card pitchers for fourteen hits and nine runs, while Olson limited the Reds to two hits for five innings, though he eased up to permit four runs and eight hits in the closing frames. The Bruins played airtight ball in the field, making only one error. Stanford errors were prevalent in both games. In the final game, played in Palo Alto, Ferguson kept the Stanford boys eating out of his hand, giving only five hits. The Bruins reached Herringer and Anderson for four runs, and the Westwoods walked off with a 4 to 1 victory from the lowly Reds. Bowers played well at first base, making many spectacular stops. Mitchell starred for the Bruins in center field.

CALIFORNIA

Pitching form was also displayed by Olson, Ferguson, Trotter, Baca, and others. Here we see the start of a fast ball.

IN ONE of the most interesting games of the season, the Bruins defeated their "big brothers" from Berkeley in the opening game of the series between the two institutions by the close score of 7 to 6. The Bruins trailed 6 to 3, going into the sixth inning mainly as the result of four errors and timely hitting by Sanchez and Greiss of the Bear team. In the sixth canto the Bruins rang up four markers to forge ahead by one run which lead they held to the end, due to some wonderful chucking by relief pitcher Ferguson, who followed Olson on the mound. Ferguson started the big inning with a smashing single, and consecutive hits by Stewart, Widlicska, Mitchell, and Captain McGinnis proved enough to win the hard fought game. The Bears came back with fire in their eyes the next day, and behind the flinging of Hardt, who limited the Bruins to three hits while the Bears were succeeding in getting twelve hits off Baca, they shut the Westwooders out, 9 to 0. Gene Olson pitched his heart out in the third game which took place on the Berkeley field, and won after eleven innings of sensational ball by the close score of 2 to 1. But for a bad break in a decision, Olson would have blanked the defending champions.

WITH A chance to win its first baseball championship of the Coast Conference, the Bruins went into the U.S.C. series with high hopes of attaining this goal. But fate was not with the hapless Bruins, and the Trojans swept the three game series. The Westwood nine played its best ball of the season, but the squad from across town had too much experience and a pitcher who couldn't be beaten. Gonzales, a big league prospect, pitched and won all three games from the Uclans. He blanked the Bruins in the first two games, allowing two hits in the first and three hits in the second, in winning them 4 to 0, and 2 to 0. In the third game it seemed that the Bruins would finally turn the tables on the Trojans, but after a shaky start, Gonzales gave only one hit after the fourth inning. The final score was 2 to 1, with both nines registering six hits; but a terrific home run by Herzog of the Trojans in the sixth inning decided the fracas. Olson pitched a great game for the Bruins, but lost after a gruelling battle. Bowers, Counts, McFadden, Toomey, Spaulding, and Olson nicked Gonzales for a hit apiece. The above and Stewart, Mitchell, McClintock, Baca, Ferguson, Captain McGinnis, Widlicska, and Murphy played well throughout the season, and with the loss of only a few of them, next season should again see the Bruins fighting for the pennant. The team ended the season in third place, with eight wins and seven defeats.

Long distance running is one of the most fatiguing of all sports, but the stalwart harriers seldom can take time out for rest.

CROSS COUNTRY

CHAMPIONS FOR the fourth time in as many years, is the claim to fame of the U.C.L.A. cross-country team. Led by Captain Beverley Keim, the "harriers" came through an undefeated season against some of the strongest long distance teams of the country. Early season meets against L.A.J.C., Cal Tech, Glendale J.C., Long Beach J.C. and Santa Monica J.C. resulted in victories for U.C.L.A. by wide margins. Compton J.C. lost to the Bruins by three points, and the surprise race of the season found the Sherman Indians trailing the Bruins over the finish line. Stichter, Nordli and Edwards were the outstanding performers.

CHANCES FOR another championship team next year are excellent as Captain Keim and Ray Edwards are the only graduating lettermen, leaving Stichter, Spector, Swanson, Nordli, Sydes, Carasso, Curtis, and Rouge to protect past records.

First Row: Rouge, Edwards, Willis, Swanson, Carasso. Second Row: Stegeman, Machacek, Cushing, Keim, Spector, Spriggs, Hilliger.

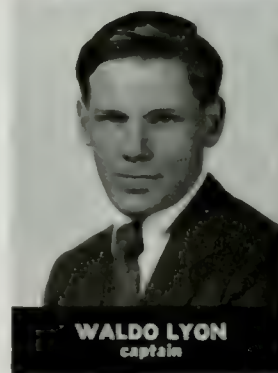

The introduction of intercollegiate lightweight basketball, has shown the proficiency of shorter men for this sport.

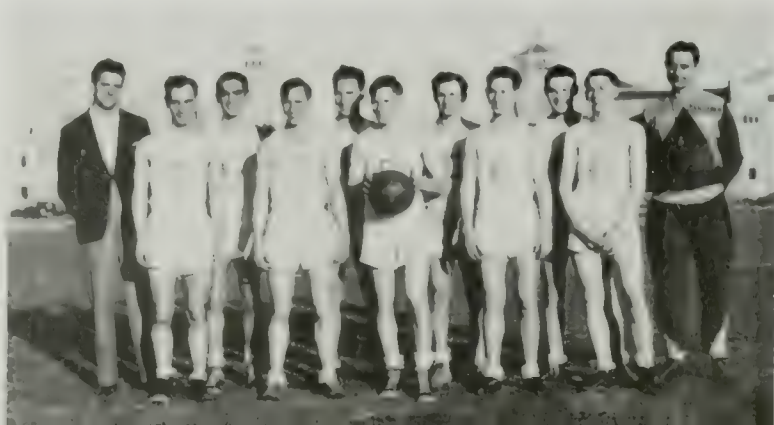

145 LB. BASKETBALL

COACH CARSON Binkley's 145 lb. basketball squad played an auspicious introduction to this new Bruin sport. The first season's scores were not all favorable to the Bruins; however, a good turnout showed the interest of lighter weight men for competition in intercollegiate basketball. Ten games were played this season. The Hollywood "Y" was defeated twice, 28-27 and 34-26, and the intra-mural champions once, 52-18. The team lost games to Chaffey J.C., Ventura J.C., L.A.J.C., Santa Monica Y.M.C.A., and to the Long Beach All Stars.

THIS YEAR'S lettermen are: Captain Waldo Lyon, Gene Prey, Al Harris, Gerald Abel, Dick Variel, John Emory, Howard Salisbury, Ross Howell, Glen Pennington, Charles Broadwater, Ross Wilson, and Vick Larken, Senior Manager.

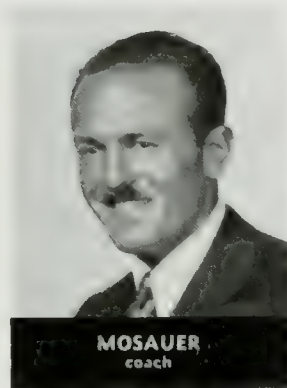

First Row: Abel, Howell, Captain Lyons, Salisbury, Emory. Second Row: Senior Manager Larkin, Harris, Variel, Wilson, Broadwater, and Coach Binkley.

EARLY AND late snows in the nearby Sierras enabled the Bruin ski enthusiasts, under the expert coaching of Professor Walter Mosauer, to enjoy a long and profitable season. Although only four men, Louis Turner, Glen Dawson, and Seth Blakeman of the varsity, and Miles Werner, freshman, did most of the University's intercollegiate competing, many Bruins enjoyed this healthful sport during the season.

OUTINGS TO Donner Pass and the High Sierras and numerous week-end excursions gave the California Alpinists real experience in the use of skis. The team did very well in intercollegiate competition, taking second in the Hoover Trophy Competition at Yosemite, first, with the trophy and five of six medals awarded in the Big Pines Junior Chamber of Commerce Pentathlon, and second and third places in the First Annual San Antonio Down Hill Ski Race.

First Row: Dawson, Jones, Boller, Parish, Mosauer. Second Row: Cameron, Werner, and Turner.

Most of the success of an ice-hockey team depends on the ability of the goalie to stop the elusive puck.

WINTER SPORTS

BECAUSE OF ice-hockey's growing popularity in Southern California, Coach Harvey Taafe's Bruins had a long season full of tough opposition. Early in the winter, the squad entrained for the Hoover Trophy Tournament in Yosemite National Park. Here, by defeating Stanford and California at Berkeley, each by three goals to none, the Bruins tied with Loyola for the championship of the hockey competition.

TAAFE
coach

U.C.L.A. WON conference games from Occidental and L.A.J.C., but lost in close contests against Loyola. In spite of determined opposition, U.S.C. won over the Bruins in all three of their encounters. Outstanding players for the Bruins include McCoy, McLean, Fisher, Dodson, Dinga, Johnson, Austin, Purdy, Brown, and Caddel. The mainstays of Coach Taafe's team, Captain Hal Hendrickson and Seth Blakeman, are both graduating seniors.

To the cheers of the fans at the Men's Do, Captain Frank Dooley lands a solid left to win a close bout from Berkeley's best.

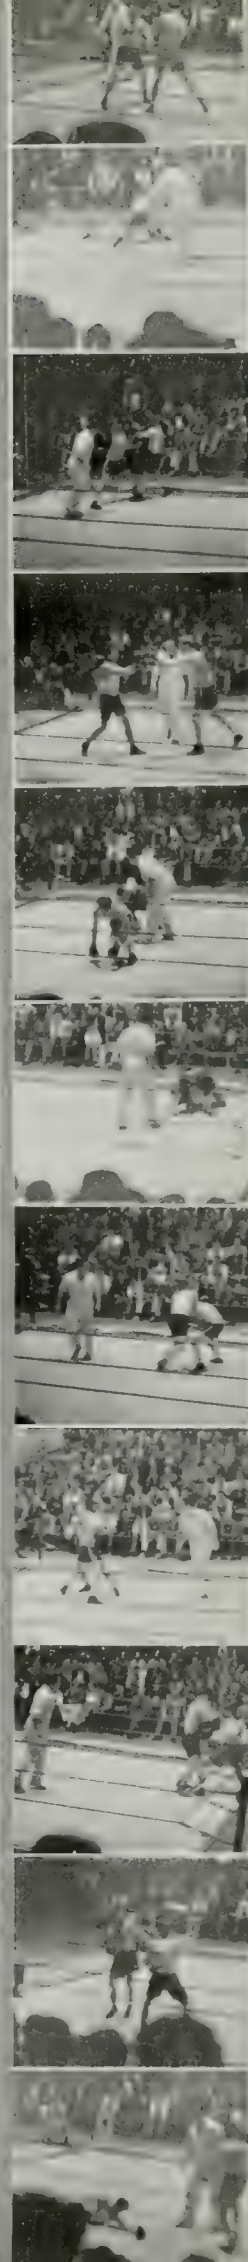

B O X I N G

TO CLIMAX a highly successful boxing season for Pat Maloney's charges, Frank Dooley, Bruin Captain, won the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate 129 lb. championship. In these championship finals, held this year at Sacramento, the small Bruin squad took fourth place with Burkett and Potter, runners-up in their weights.

THE FIRST bouts of the intercollegiate season were won by the Bruins from Stanford with a score of 5-3, although two of them were forfeited by U.C.L.A. because of lack of men. At the Men's Do, with some of the toughest scrapping of the year, the Bruins lost 3-5 to a strong Berkeley delegation. Besides Captain Dooley, who won every bout fought this year, the Bruin lettermen included: at 139 lbs.—Potter and Bernoff; 149 lbs.—Burkett and Ralston; 159 lbs.—Miller; 169 lbs.—Louis McAnish; and Senior Manager Dave Beeman.

First Row: Simpson, Humphreys, Bernoff, Burkett, Miller, McAnich, Hobart.
Second Row: Coach Maloney, Cerro, Murphy, Lundeen, Matter, Mysing, Harter, and Senior Manager Beeman.

Bruin wrestlers gained a great deal of valuable experience in the groan and grunt art, during a season of stiff competition.

WRESTLING

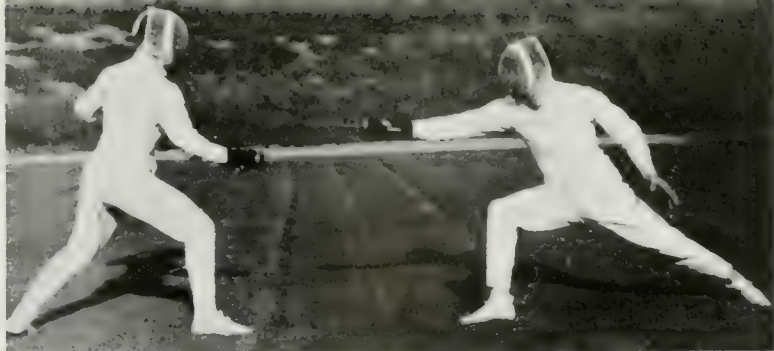

LED BY Captain Cameron Knox and Kenny Griffin, each of whom lost but one match during the year, Coach Cece Hollingsworth's wrestlers pursued a long, hard season. As most of the squad was relatively inexperienced, the grapplers did not win their full share of matches. However, the Bruins were much stronger than the scores indicated.

DURING THE holiday vacation, the squad traveled to Provo, Utah, to meet defeat at the hands of the Rocky Mountain Conference Champions, of Brigham Young University. Close-scored contests were fought out with Whittier Athletic Club, Santa Ana J.C., L.A.J.C., and with the U. S. battleships Nevada and Pennsylvania. This season's lettermen include: Huff, 118 lbs.; Captain Cameron Knox, 126 lbs.; Houston, 135 lbs.; Griffin, 145 lbs.; Bovee, 155 lbs.; Senior Manager Charles Blackton, 165 lbs.; Peers, 175 lbs.; and Merrill Knox, unlimited.

KENDIS

COACH ED Acosta succeeded this year in developing one of the strongest fencing teams that has ever fought for U.C.L.A. Although Merwin Kendis, Captain of the Bruin foilsmen, was ineligible to compete this term, he took over the responsible job of Senior Manager. The later elected co-captains, Bob Summer and Lee Haines, two of the best fencers on the coast, were backed by a capable team composed of Yost, Blum, Anderson, King, and Murphy.

THE BRUIN fencing team has won the Dueling Sword Championship of the Pacific Coast this season for the fourth consecutive year. However, this is the first year that the Bruins have also been paramount in the use of foils and sabers. Fencing meets were won from L.A.J.C., U.S.C., Berkeley and San Diego State. The climax of the season came when the Blue and Gold Fencers defeated S.C. in foil, epee, and saber matches.

The Westwood gymnasts, during this, one of their best years, provided many spectacular exhibitions.

GYM TEAM

COACH CECE Hollingsworth's Bruin Gym team has become a team of champions, half the squad being Pacific Coast, National or Olympic first or second place winners. The team as a unit rates the top in Pacific Coast gym circles. This season's major meet, the three way competition with U.S.C. and Berkeley resulted as follows: U.C.L.A. 120, U.S.C. 46, and U.C.B. 32. Among other events participated in, were A.A.U. contests, the Men's Do, and the Junior Southern Division meet.

SOME OF the more prominent members of the squad are as follows: Kenny Griffin, Captain and Pacific Coast All-Around Champion; John Burnside, Second Coast Tumbler; Dick Bishop, first on the rings and former National Champion; Ray De Camp and Charles Barnes, first and second Coast Rope-Climbers; Doug Clark, Side-Horse, John Yamazaki, Free-Exercise, and Eddie Gross, who will be eligible next year, National Tumbling Champion.

WINNING THE majority of this season's games, Coach Jim Schaeffer's ruggers have learned to play football in the true English fashion. The big event of this season, a trip to Stanford, was the occasion of a surprise Bruin victory. A penalty kick by Captain Pants Livesay in the first period followed by Gene Walsh's well directed dropkick gave the Bruins the large end of a 7-6 score. Other important U.C.L.A. victories were run up over the Rugby Union All Stars and the Peterson All Stars.

THE ONLY losses of the season were to California and U.S.C. Lettermen for the season are Livesay, Hastings, Jarrett, Dickerson, Brown, McConnell, Key, Austin, Dooley, Walsh, Pike, Knox, Lopez, Swenson, Mason, Stawisky, Peers, Sinsky, and Hatch. Outstanding in offensive and defensive action were Key, Dooley, and Walsh.

CLIMBING FROM obscurity to the position of one of the strongest California intercollegiate soccer squads in its second year of competition, Coach Danny Stevenson's Bruins completed a very successful season. Impressive victories were won over teams representing L.A.J.C., Santa Barbara, and University of Southern California Dental College. The big game of the year against San Francisco University, Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Champion, was lost by the narrow margin of two goals to one.

THE FOLLOWING men earned letters: Captain Joe Drury, Allan Shepard, Jack Britton, Bert Merrill, Gene Walsh, Bill Hilleger, Dave Sinski, Naborie Nishikawa, Roy Ramsey, John Sundstrom, Marion Grimes, Roger Brown, Alvin Davis, Guy Wrinkle, Charles MacFarland, Byron Marshall, John Cory, and Murray Johnston, next year's elected captain.

COACH DON Park and his squad of U.C.L.A. mermen had an excellent season of swimming this year. Although the team as a unit seldom gathered enough points to place among the leaders, individual swimming honors were often carried off by U.C.L.A. swimmers. After a few meets with local clubs, the Bruins played host to California, Stanford, and U.S.C.
in a four way conference meet. Despite expectations, no records were broken, and U.S.C. finished first with Stanford, California, and U.C.L.A. following.

MEL SELLERS, Dixon Fiske, Captain Allport, Bob Woolfolke, Wilbur Streech, Bob Dexter, and Richard Daubenspeck were the more consistent placers on the team. Jimmy Gilhula of U.S.C. broke his own world's record in the 440 yard distance and shattered the intercollegiate 220 yard mark in the final meet against U.S.C. which was won by the Trojans.

First Row: Turner, Reed, Streech, Burton, Stewart. Second Row: Daubens-beck, Woolfolk, Parsons, Fiske, Adams, Dexter. Third Row: Coach Park, Sellers, Knox, Lewis, Huff, Abraham, and Senior Manager Banks.

The foam flies highest when the ball nears the goal, and the Bruin goal-keeper declares "It shall not pass."

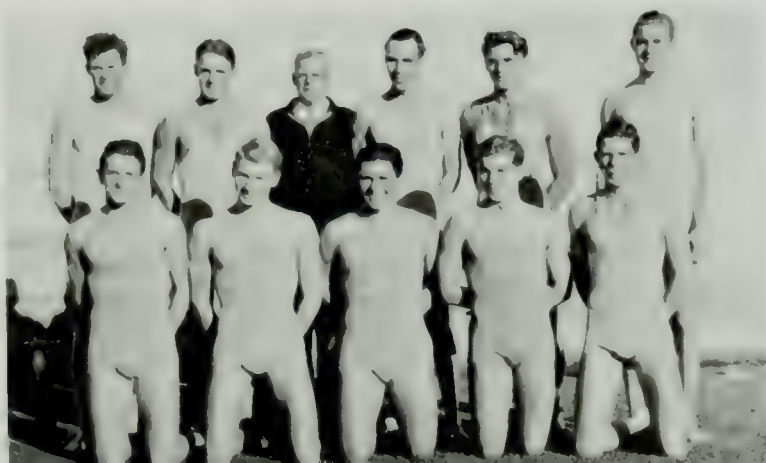

WATER POLO

FAST GROWING in interest and popularity at U.C.L.A. is the game of water-polo. Led by Captain Dexter, the Bruins traveled north for a series against Stanford and California. Although the Stanford team managed to finish on the long end of a three to two score, it was generally conceded that Sellers, Knox, Varney, and the entire Bruin team outplayed their northern opponents. A day later the Bruins were able to defeat California by a single goal in an exciting match that ended four to three.

A CAPACITY crowd turned up at the U.C.L.A. pool to watch the return Stanford game in which Daubenspeck, Adams, Goldwaite, and Allport brilliantly distinguished themselves. A last minute surprise attack won the game for Stanford, with a score of 6-5. The Bruins triumphed in the next four games against the strong teams of California and U.S.C.

First Row: Allport, Captain Dexter, Adams, Goldthwaite, Lewis. Second Row: Varney, Knox, Coach Park, Griffith, Daubensbeck, and Sellers.

OVERCOMING HANDICAPS of injury and sickness, Coach Tom Crawford's Bruin poloists performed very creditably for the Blue and Gold. Of the first eight games, four were won, one was tied, and only two were lost. The season's big game with the University of California at Berkeley, played on the Bruin's home turf, Black-Foxe field, was lost by a weakened U.C.L.A. team 6-1. Cykler led the victors with four goals.

EARLY IN the season, Henry Dewinter, Captain and leading threat of the Bruins, unfortunately broke his collar bone in a practice game. Several other mallet wielders were also removed from competition before the season was well under way. The loss of these men was alleviated somewhat by the turnout of Andrews, Pugh, Long, and Jones. These men greatly strengthened the existing team of Carpenter, Button, Angell, and Overell.

CRICKET, THE ancient English game, has taken a firm hold on U.C.L.A. A large turnout and a favorable chance to win a championship greeted Coach Tom Monk at the beginning of the 1935 season. The first two games against two of the season's strongest opponents greatly strengthened this indication. The Hollywood and Pasadena cricket clubs were defeated 128-26 and 119-73 respectively.

IN BOTH games Gene Walsh starred for the Bruins by scoring half the points, as batsman, and by taking a goodly share of wickets, as bowler. Captain Peter Kinnel and Bill Tyree also performed very well in both capacities, and Louis Turner and Joe Drury as bowlers. With such teams as the "Empress of Britain," San Diego, and the Sons of St. George to meet, the Bruins were assured a brilliant season.

TAKING THREE out of five prizes, U.C.L.A.'s golf team swept through the Southern California Inter-collegiate Golf Tournament. Delbert Walker won the Varsity Tournament and Billy Bob Williams was medalist in the qualifying rounds. Losing to Long Beach J. C. by two strokes the Bruins won the runner-up team trophy. In pre-season matches, L.A.J.C. was tied and Glendale J.C. overwhelmingly defeated.

ONE OF THE most closely contested matches of the year took place between U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. on the Fox Hills Course. Vic Kelly and Connie Platt tied the score for the Bruins after Bill Williams and Captain Holman Grigsby had lost their match and Delbert Walker and John Bohannon had tied theirs. Those receiving letters for the year's work are Captain Grigsby, Williams, Kelly, Platt, Walker, and Fiske.

WINNING 71 OF 75 intercollegiate telegraphic matches against most of the universities in the United States, Coach Captain Pearson's Bruin rifle squad shot through the greatest season in its career. While teams representing California at Berkeley, Fordham, Alabama, Michigan, and many others were defeated easily, the only squads to top U.C.L.A. were Oregon, Georgia Tech, Idaho, and Cornell.

AFTER AN entire season of firing, three men had tied for the University high score; George Porter, Richard Rose, and Curtis Vander Heyden had each scored 3,415 out of a possible 4000. Because he had maintained a higher average in each shooting position, Porter was awarded the University gold medal. Winners in the various shooting positions were Felix Demond, standing; Norwood Smith kneeling; Curtis Vander Heyden, prone; and Richard Rose, sitting.

HANDBALL, A comparatively new intercollegiate sport, promises to become very active at U.C.L.A. The impetus given it this season by the coaching of Tom Helt, and the early season playing of Captain Leo Borad and Bill Davis, an exceptionally easy tournament player, did much to place it among the first ranking handball teams of Southern California.

IN THE first tournament of the season, which featured the fine playing of Leo Borad, the Los Angeles Elks Club team was defeated 3-1. The second found the Bruins, after close sets in every match, trailing the championship Hollywood Athletic Club team 3-1. Other meets scheduled were: L.A.A.C., Hollywood Y.M.C.A., Long Beach Pacific Coast Club, San Diego, and return matches with the L. A. Elks and Hollywood Athletic Club.

Fraternity and non-organization groups take their intra-mural athletics seriously, playing hard and fast games in every instance.

INTRA MURAL

FRATERNITY TEAMS this year took the upper hand in intra-mural athletics. After defeating Phi Gamma Delta to win the fraternity football plaque, Delta Upsilon edged out the Chemistry Club, non-organization leader, by the precarious score of 6-0. Sigma Nu won the university basketball title by downing Zeta Beta Tau, Works League winners, and the Coffee Shop, non-org. champions.

VOLLEYBALL, IN which non-organization teams did not compete, was won by Phi Kappa Sigma with Zeta Psi in second place. Zeta Psi came up in the last day of the track meet to tie Kappa Alpha; so each received plaques as did the Coffee Shop, non-fraternity leader. At the beginning of the baseball season the running for the university high-score cup was rather close with Zeta Psi leading with 113½ points, followed by Sigma Nu, 91 and Zeta Beta Tau, 87½.

CAPTAIN PAUL M. PERIGORD, Professor of French, whose many interesting experiences during the War have given him a broad outlook upon International problems, has as his ideal the eventual bringing about of world cooperation and peace with the foundation of international institutions. It was in keeping with this goal that Dr. Périgord wrote his book, International Labor Organization, a study of labor and capital in cooperation. After the World War Captain Périgord came to America, where he had earlier received his Ph.D. degree from Harvard, and served as a member of the French High Commission at Washington for two years. It was during this period that he had the honor of following in the footsteps of Lafayette, so to speak, when he appeared as the second foreign officer to make an address in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. In 1923 he was appointed American representative of the Committee on Intellectual Cooperation of the League of Nations.

DESPITE HIS many activities, Dr. Périgord finds time to participate in local affairs. While living in Pasadena, he acted as President of the Community Playhouse and the Community Guild; he is especially fond of the theater as it serves as a center for the development of the other arts. Dr. Périgord was also an active participant in the organization of the California School of Technology.

OLENUS L. SPONSLER, Professor of Botany, is internationally recognized as an authority in his field of science. The molecular aspect of protoplasm as it may aid in understanding vital activities dominates his interest at the present time. He began his research along this line about twelve years ago when it was first possible to determine molecular structure through the use of the X-ray. This work has been carried on in its different phases by the combined efforts of Dr. Sponsler and his various colleagues; eventually he hopes to build up a molecular conception of protoplasm. In 1930, after about five years of intensive research, he discovered the molecular structure of cellulose. Aside from his laboratory work, Dr. Sponsler each year contributes articles to scientific publications such as the American Journal of Botany, Transactions of Faraday Society, Quarterly Journal of Biology, and Protoplasma, an international journal. In the next Annual Review of Bio-Chemistry Dr. Sponsler and Dr. Doré, of Berkeley, will have a review concerning the research work mentioned above.

DESPITE HIS absorbing studies, Dr. Sponsler thoroughly enjoys figure skating on ice for recreation, and often finds time to visit his beautiful home near Lake Tahoe where he finds relaxation and rest.

FREDERICK P. WOELLNER, Professor of Education, finds his chief interest in an intensive scientific study of society in all its phases. The three sources from which he derives material for his work comprise his human laboratory. The first of these is his office in Los Angeles which is devoted to problems in social research counseling. The inter-oceanic University which is now being organized is only one of the many projects for which he has served as adviser. Dr. Woellner's second field of observation is the Sunday Morning Club of Pasadena, an ethical culture venture; he has served there as lecturer for eight years. The student body of U.C.L.A. forms the third division of his unique laboratory, for by his teaching Dr. Woellner becomes acquainted with the younger members of society.

THE PURPOSE of his sociological research, which is derived from life rather than from books, is to refine the thinking techniques of learning. Plato's "Nothing that is human is foreign to my interest" is Woellner's motto. Constantly busy with lecturing, writing, and teaching, this man finds no need for recreation from his work which is so varied and fascinating in its many aspects. Continually traveling from place to place for business purposes, Dr. Woellner maintains that this diversification of activities is the basis of his happiness.

ORGANIZED TO create and encourage student interest in German literature and language, the German Club was founded in 1923. This year's activities included a widely varied program calculated to encourage friendliness and to bring about a greater understanding of the German people. Numerous Kaffee Klatsche during the semester offered such outstanding programs as Dr. Launer speaking on Europe, Dr. Schomaker speaking on "Aus Niederdeutsch Literatur," and a presentation of the play, "Christfeier bei Sankt Peter." Social affairs given in conjunction with the German Club of the Los Angeles Junior College include ice skating parties, a hike and a beach party. Officers for the year are: Louise Peterson, President for first semester; Lucia Lapp, President for second semester; Hans Fuhrmann, Vice President; Vivian Katerndahl, Corresponding Secretary; Fred Youkstetter, Treasurer.

THOUGH KNOWN in other regions merely as the game for tired business men, golf in Southern California draws its devotees from nature-lovers in every walk of life. THE UNIVERSITY AND SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

DERIVING ITS life blood from the steady stream of student activity within the University, the growth of Westwood Village has steadily kept pace with the growth of U.C.L.A. Beautifully planned and artistically constructed, it reflects in every manner the influence of constant contact with youthful minds and progressive ideas. The relationship between collegians and merchants has always been one of cheerful cooperation and mutual support, the student patronizing local enterprises enthusiastically and receiving whole-hearted backing in their activities.

AS ONE of the major universities of the Southland, U.C.L.A. has a definite commercial as well as cultural relation to the people and life of Southern California. From within these walls young men and women go forth to take their places in business activities. Consequently, the academic curriculum is greatly influenced by the community's needs. And lastly the complex life of the University with its many phases provides a widely diversified market for the products of Southern California industry. The University and the region in which it lies are thus mutually dependent.

The Editor and Manager wish to express their sincere appreciation and thanks to the following merchants of Westwood Village for their cooperation in aiding the 1935 SOUTHERN CAMPUS

THE BILTMORE HOTEL

LOS ANGELES

THE BILTMORE BOWL, in the beautiful Biltmore Hotel, is the largest and finest night club in Western America. It is especially popular with collegians. Friday nights it is packed with representatives from the various universities. It presents two sensational floor shows each evening. Music for dancing by a nationally-known orchestra. A de luxe dinner served for $1.50, or a la carte service. On presentation of student's card the cover charge is cut in half every night except Saturday. The Bowl is air-conditioned and is always cool and comfortable. Free parking.

THE RENDEZVOUS, a night club in the afternoon, also presents two floor shows. Luncheon for a dollar. A popular orchestra furnishes the music. Dancing noon to six. This is the only afternoon room in the world presenting such a variety of entertainment.

ROOM RATES at the Biltmore are sensible. $3.50 single, and $5.00 double. The Biltmore is the football headquarters in Los Angeles.

UCLA STUDENTS EMPLOYED IN LOCAL SERVICE STATIONS

BRUINS FREQUENTLY take time off from study and the gay campus whirl to rest and play in the dependable sunshine of Palm Springs. Pictured above are some prominent students rolling through the gardens of the Desert Inn. Graduate managers of the Pacific Coast Conference met at this famous resort hotel this year to discuss coming events to absorb a bit of the much-discussed "desert magic."

May 15, 1935

Dear Fellow Student:

As you have read our publication during the last four years, you have probably discovered that it represents to a large extent the trends in student thought and action.

The news pages are calculated to chronicle as accurately as possible the events which occur during the year, the projects which students are endeavoring to foster, the activities and some of the ideas of the faculty.

The editorial column represents an attempt to analyze some of the campus movements and some of the more or less related and interesting national and international events.

Other columns are devoted, as you know, to sports, features, interviews, women's activities, dramatic events, and student opinion.

In other words, taken by and large, the Daily Bruin tries to present a good cross section of student interest and student life.

Alumni, of which you will soon be one, will be able to find no better way to keep in contact with what is being done and thought on the campus than by subscribing to the student paper.

The new subscription price, three dollars, is little more than the cost of addressing and mailing daily. Three dollars now will mean constant enjoyment and interest for the entire year.

Sincerely,

Chandler Harris

Editor, Daily Bruin.

Dr. Sproul presides at a local debate, and Colver Briggs' Stanford heart-throb smiles coyly.

Lenz, Files, Becheraz, and Geary of yearbook fame seem happy that the book is almost done.

May 15, 1935

Dear Bill:

At last you are dropping the halter and snapping up your sheep skin. The ties are cut, the bond is bust, and no longer are you a student at the great red college on the hill.

For four years you have been reading the Daily Bruin in your eight o'clock classes, and wrapping your next day's lunch up in it. Now that you are out of school with nothing to do, mainly because there aren't any jobs, don't you think it would be a good idea to subscribe to the old daily at three bucks a year?

You'd keep the long loved contacts by reading Off Campus, the sporting columns, and the news of the campus shots who have taken your place, and after you get through with it, you could ball it up for a pillow to use on that hard park bench. Where else could you get a clean, fresh pillow every week day for three dollars?

Sincerely hoping you will take advantage of this great opportunity while you are still flush, I remain,

Tom Rice

A sincere effort has been made to name everyone who has worked on the book in any capacity. However, there have been a few people whose names we were unable to obtain. We wish them to know that their aid is none the less appreciated.

STAFF APPRECIATION

AS THE last vestige of trash and rubbish—the aftermath of the final stages of preparation of the year-book—are cleared from the office, a feeling of exaltation because of the completion of the task is stifled in the realization of the fact that it is but the beginning of a far greater task—that of meeting the grim realities of life. Thus it is with sincere regret that the Editor gracefully takes his exit from the University stage which has had so many happy associations.

NO LESS than six members of the 1935 Southern Campus Staff deserve special commendation for the services which they have rendered. Helen Files, as Associate Editor, is not only to be complimented upon the fine write-ups which she created for the Main division pages, but also for the many tedious hours which she spent in the correction of proof. To Arthur Philip Murphy and Marjorie Alice Lenz belongs the highest commendation. Largely due to the efforts of Art Murphy, a high degree of organization heretofore unobtained on a Southern Campus staff was reached. Creative ability in the field of writing, particularly that for the faculty vignettes, was the outstanding contribution of Marjorie Alice Lenz. It is indeed difficult to express the amount of gratitude due Bob Anderson for his excellent execution of the photography for the book. His work upon the informal pictures found herein is indeed fine, but the campus views taken by Bob Anderson were the last word in the artistry of the photograph. Colver Briggs as head of the newly created Photomounting department was of invaluable assistance in preparing copy for the engraver. The last of these six individuals, but far from the least is Al Sommerfield whose outstanding art work on the colored sections of this book should definitely prove that the services of professional artists need not be sought for student publications.

SECRETARIES TO the editor, Barbara Brower and Carroll Welling, deserve an untold amount of thanks for withstanding the tirades of that person and helping him in a multiplicity of ways including the compilation of term papers.

BOOK EDITORS are also to be congratulated upon the way in which they have cooperated and aided in making the 1935 Southern Campus complete and thorough. Gerry Cornelius did a splendid piece of work in her treatment of the Administration section. Phyllis Edwards as Class editor accomplished the difficult and thankless task of organizing and compiling the Senior Cap and Gown section with remarkable efficiency; while her copy writing added a distinctive note to the class write-ups. University Women was edited by Francine Becheraz who was an apt and willing worker. Bobby Valentine is to be complimented not only upon the fine manner in which she organized the Campus Activities section of the 1935 Southern Campus but also upon her cheerful cooperation with other book editors. Sports Editor Hampton Rounthwaite deserves a great deal of thanks for the many hours that he spent burning the proverbial midnight oil in an effort to complete a successful account of U.C.L.A.'s athletic endeavors during this school year. Last but far from least the highest praise is due Betty Geary for her work as editor of Organizations which is unquestionably the most difficult section of the book to handle. Perhaps the most credit of all should go to those many willing workers who have given cheerfully of their time and effort and a limitation of space here forbids us to mention.

MR. CHARLES ARCHER of the Los Angeles Engraving Co. is deserving of the greatest thanks and appreciation for his untiring efforts to keep the 1935 Southern Campus up to its past standards; while Tom Wood of Hartwell-Warner Corp. was of valuable technical assistance.

BEVERLEY KEIM, Editor.

WITH A final all night session, the Southern Campus is put to bed, leaving the Managerial Staff with nothing to do for a whole week, nothing but much neglected studying, until the time for distribution. Greatly appreciated by the Manager are the cooperation extended and the effort expended by the members of her staff, all of whom have seriously endeavored to reach the highest degree of efficiency obtainable. Realizing the practical training to be derived from publication work, the students have ever sought to fit themselves for future vocations.

IN THE production of this volume of the Southern Campus, there have been four Managerial Staff members whose work has been so outstanding as to warrant the highest praise. To Alice Tilden, Associate Manager, too much appreciation cannot be given for her effective work throughout her four years at the University. Miss Tilden served as director to the Senior Picture and Sales Staffs. Charles Leinbach, Jr., Assistant Manager, has diligently and effectively performed the numerous duties incumbent upon that office. Ella Louise "Poppy" Lyman, Secretary to the Manager, has accurately and faithfully executed her duties in that position as well as in the capacity of official "stooge" to the Student Executive Council. Mary Elizabeth Harris, Senior Picture Co-Manager, gave her sincere and energetic help as general assistant to the Manager, a position requiring diversified ability.

CREDIT MUST be given for the capable manner in which the finances of the Senior section were handled by Alice Tilden, Helene Colesie and Mary Elizabeth Harris, Co-Senior Picture Managers. Organizing a group of approximately fifty girls, they succeeded in securing a large number of reservations which produced a greater income than had been anticipated.

SALES WERE directed by Alice Tilden and Charles Leinbach, Jr. who conducted a well organized sales campaign which resulted in a complete sell-out for this edition. They were ably assisted by Raydene Green, Kathryn Hertzog, Rhea Nathanson, and many others.

THE ORGANIZATION Staff more than met its quota of groups to be represented in the book, making the largest organization section ever to appear in the Southern Campus.

IN SPITE of present economic conditions, the advertising solicitors sold more advertising than has been sold since the depression. Louis Turnoff proved to be the most capable salesman on the staff. Credit must nevertheless be given to Alice Tilden, Charles Leinbach, Jr., Roberta Monks, Raydene Green, and Walter Eton who served as solicitors.

A FINAL WORD of thanks is due Irving Archer, Portrait Photographer, and Charles Archer of the Los Angeles Engraving Company, for their willing cooperation with our staff. Tom Wood, of Hartwell-Warner Corporation, deserves gratitude for his work on our behalf, including the securing of Jack Benny and Johnny Murray's Hi-Jinx for assemblies.

BETSY PEMBROKE, Manager.
